Dec. 30.—A happy and prosperous New Year to the TRIBUNE, its readers, and every body who may chance to read these lines, is the wish of the undersigned. Enfred Faulk of the Northwestern Business College is spending his Christmas vacation with his folks here. He speaks very highly of that institute. Sam and Amanda Finstrom of Kerkhoven visited here last week. Mr. and Mrs. P. N. Olson entertained a large number of Willmar people last Thursday. The Christmas festival last Thursday evening was very successful. The children performed their part splendidly. The chief feature of the program was a speech by Albert Hegstrom of G. A. College. Mr. Hegstrom is an excellent speaker, and will no doubt mark the profession he has chosen. Rev. P. Crane, a strong temperance advocate, delivered a splendid lecture in the church last Friday evening. The attendance was large, but not so large as it deserved. Rev. Crane has done a lot of traveling throughout the United States, and spoke mostly about incidents of which he had been a personal witness. He not only proved that the saloon was the cause of the murder of the late President McKinley, but that it was a mighty school for educating its students in gambling, anarchy and all kinds of vices and crimes. Another year is now behind our backs, and will surely come no more. How swiftly time doth fly! But do we appreciate, value, and take advantage of it the way we ought to? It is a question we can best answer for ourselves. The adage "Lost time is never found again; and what we call time enough always proves little enough" is the truest that ever came from the pen of a writer. If we have not yet heeded the warning therein, let us now at the beginning of the new year do so; and begin as Longfellow says: "To act that each tomorrow may find us further than today." Miss Caroline Hallquist is back from Minneapolis and is at present visiting with her sister, Mrs. Otto Lindquist. Neils Anderson of Willmar is visiting friends and relatives in this vicinity. A social gathering was held at P. P. Johnson's last Saturday evening. A good time is reported. Miss Freda Litman is home from Willmar to spend Christmas with her folks. The Baptist congregation had a Xmas tree and festival in their church Thursday evening. Victor Knutson is rapidly recovering, and is now able to be around again, which his many friends are pleased to see.

Elling Selfors of Council Bluffs, Iowa, and Miss Selma Fredrickson of town of Kerkhoven, were married last Sunday morning by Rev. N. Frykman. and they need to be kept in motion until healthy and natural, when pain will cease, and if not kept in exercise, the muscles will become rigid and death will be the result.
Another, inquiring after the health of his parents and especially if they were subject to similar ailments and being answered in the affirmative, shakes his head wisely and says that I am wholly to blame for being neglectful in selecting my accessories, and after giving it as his opinion that there was no cure for me, left with the hope that my suffering would not last long.
Another, who knew me when I was young, says that it was rheumatism and the cause of it was my roaming through sloughs and marshes in all kinds of weather hunting for game, and that the rheumatism will increase in frequency and intensity as I get older and some day it will take me off.
Another prescribed the following mixture as an infallible remedy for my ailment: One half cup turpentine, one cup vinegar and the yolks of two eggs, mix and well rubbed in where the pain is felt.
Another says that an electric belt would surely cure me if used according to directions.
Another says that if oil of dog's-tail shadow, which he had for sale, was used I would be well within 24 hours.
Another says, that (I forgot the name) plaster was an infallible cure for ailments similar to mine.
Another sent word that extraction of the bad blood where the pain is, was the only thing that was worth trying as he had tried it several times and it had always cured him.
Another says that rubbing with very warm water would surely relieve me.
All of the above opinions, advices and prescriptions were given freely and voluntarily and, without any doubt, with the best of intentions, but the patient is following the instructions and using the medicine given by the doctor, and if I do not get well it will be just as bad for the doctor as it has been for me when we meet.

The Trials of a Sufferer.
EDITOR WILLMAR TRIBUNE.—Having been confined to my room for a week by severe pains in the back and being desirous of giving to my fellow sufferers advice what to do in such case, I for their benefit record some of the advice given me by my friends: One says, perfect quiet is necessary because as you feel pain, there must be a sore, and irritating the same will make it worse and may result in your death.
Another says exercise is necessary. The muscles are kind of stiff
