

ORPHANS' HOME HERE

Movement Inaugurated by Lutherans for the Securing of Such an Institution.

If a sufficient amount can be guaranteed, Willmar will have a new institution in the not far distant future in the way of an orphan's home and also an asylum for aged people. The institution is at present located at Lamberton and a movement is on foot to change the location to a more favorable one.

Rev. Johan Mattson, of Madelia, a pastor of the Lutheran Free church, who is also a member of the board of directors of the Lamberton institution and also holds the position of treasurer, was in our city this week interviewing a number of people regarding the removal of the Home to Willmar. Rev. E. E. Gynild of the Lutheran Free church is enlisting the interest of his congregation in the matter and a subscription list will soon be circulated among our people, which it is hoped will result in a large enough guarantee to induce the removal of the Home to Willmar.

The Orphans Home is independent of any denomination in that it admits children of all congregations, but it is controlled by the Norwegian Lutherans. At present 22 children have a home there. There is no established home as yet for aged people, but it is the intention to conduct one in connection with it as soon as the new location can be secured. The Home has been established in its present location for the past six years. Other places which are bidding for the location of the Home are Kenyon and Wamamingo in Goodhue county, Lakewood in Steele county, Madelia, Lake Crystal and Hills. The matter of deciding upon the new location will be settled at a meeting of directors to be held in January.

Rev. Mattson during his stay here visited in the country in the vicinity of Willmar, and among the farms which he looked upon as most favorable for the institution was the old Patchell place north of the city, now known as the Ole Peterson farm. In the event of the Home being established here this will in all probability be the site chosen, as the place can be secured for a reasonable sum from its owner. There is now an opportunity for Willmar people to show their interest in the matter.

Collections aggregating to the amount of $350 were secured this week among the three Lutheran Free congregations in Willmar and vicinity, which will go towards the Orphans' Home.

In Hymen's Bonds. Yesterday morning, at St. Mary's Catholic church, occurred the wedding of Miss Anna Gallagher, eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Patrick Gallagher, of this city, to Mr. Hugh J. Manley, of Coon Creek, Anoka county. The ceremony was performed at nine o'clock, Rev. Father Malloy officiating, and was witnessed by only the near relatives of the bride. Miss Anna Gallagher, of St. Cloud, a cousin of the bride, attended her as bridesmaid, while the groomsmen was Mr. Michael Haley, of Coon Creek. The bride was crowned in white mousseline de soie and carried bride's roses. The bridesmaid's gown was of Persian lawn.

After the short but impressive wedding service at the church the bridal party repaired to the home of the bride's parents at the Manor residence, where a wedding dinner was served, and where the bridal pair received the congratulations of their friends. They departed on the afternoon train for a ten days' wedding trip to the twin cities and Chicago, after which they leave for their new home at Coon Creek, where the groom is engaged in farming. Mr. and Mrs. Manley will start on life's voyage together with the best wishes of a host of friends.

"Let there Be Light." Residents of Sperryville are no longer obliged to walk in darkness and therefore have cause to rejoice. Electric lights now lighten the path of the wayfarer at night. Four lights have been installed in that addition to the city, which includes the one on the railway bridge. The work of installing the fifty additional lights in the city was completed last week and now with the necessary power from the electric light plant Willmar ought to be pretty well lighted on dark nights.

Thanksgiving at Tripolis. Thanksgiving day there will be service in the Lutheran church at Tripolis, beginning at 10:30 a. m. After service dinner will be served by the young ladies in the school room. In the afternoon the young ladies' society will sell as public auction innumerable fine and useful articles, which they have made and prepared during the year. At the service an offering will be made for the Orphans' Home at Vasa, Minn. All are welcome.

Two Couples United.

A double wedding in the town of Lake Andrew last Saturday was the big event last week in social circles north of Willmar, when Miss Nellie Larson and Henry Swenson, Miss Clara Larson and Mikkal Engen pledged their troth. The brides are the two daughters of Mr. and Mrs. Lars E. Larson, well known and highly respected residents of that community.

The ceremony took place at 10:30 a. m. at the East N. way Lake church, Rev. D. C. Jordahl reading the beautiful Lutheran wedding service in the presence of a large number of relatives and friends. The nuptial music was furnished by Mrs. Jordahl, who presided at the organ. Mr. Swenson and tride were attended by Misses Clara Swenson and Sarah Larson, Messrs. Bennie Larson and George Swenson. The attendants of Mr. Engen and his bride were Misses Alma Halvorson and Oline Engen, Messrs. James Skallerud and Lawrence Larson. The church was very nicely decorated for the occasion and the affair was one of the prettiest nuptial events of the season.

About three hundred guests were present at the reception which followed at the bride's home, among them being a number from Willmar. The bridal couples were the recipients of a large number of wedding gifts, among them being goodly sums of cash, and will begin life in their new relation under the most happy circumstances. Mr. and Mrs. Engen will make their home on the Engen farm in the town of Norway, Lake, while Mr. and Mrs. Swenson plan to reside in Willmar. The TRIBUNE joins the many friends of the happy couples in wishing them a long life of marital bliss.

Former Willmarite Dead.

The news has reached this city of the death at Puyallup, Wash., of Nils Truedson, who will be remembered as a resident of Willmar about fifteen years ago. Intelligence of the young man's death was received here by the N. L. Winblad family, who are distant relatives of the deceased. The following obituary is taken from the Puyallup Valley Tribune of Nov. 12: Nils Truedson, whose death in this city caused sorrow to such a large circle of friends, was born at Hestad, Skane, Sweden, in 1856. When only seventeen years of age he crossed the ocean and for six years lived at Willmar, Minn. In 1888 he came to Tacoma and resided there until 1892 when he came to Puyallup, which place he made his home until his death. He leaves two brothers here, Eric P., with whom he was associated in business, and Bron, who has only recently arrived from Sweden. Across the ocean in the home country father, mother and two sisters mourn his untimely taking away.

Mr. Truedson was a young man of quiet unassuming manner, loyal to his friends, and friendly with all with whom he came in contact. He gave strict attention to his business and his honesty and integrity were unquestioned. His illness was not of long duration and many of his friends did not realize the critical nature until it was too late. His death was a great loss to the sorrowing relatives. The funeral was held Friday afternoon, November 11th, at the home of his brother, E. P. Truedson. The beautiful ritual of the Episcopal church was used, Rev. Edward Davis officiating. Bure and beautiful floral offerings bore mute testimony of the esteem in which he was held and of the sympathy which he had won. The services were held in the Episcopal church, where the Independent Order of Red Men, of which deceased had long been a member, conducted the services at Woodbine cemetery, where the interment was made.

HIGH SCHOOL NOTES

Miss Miller leaves tonight for a visit in Minneapolis over Thanksgiving. A literary program will be given this afternoon, by the 2nd division. The next program will be given two weeks from next Friday.

There will be no school Friday after Thanksgiving, and consequently some of the students will make a visit at their respective homes. The "marshmallow roast" tendered the Seniors by the teachers last Friday night proved to be a delightful event as reported by individual attendants.

The immigration question will again be discussed next week. Victor Knutson, Henry Lacey and Chas. McDonald will present the affirmative and Wallace Martin, Harrison Sherwood and Russell Peterson will uphold the negative. This will be the last debate in the school on the question before it is debated in the league.

Last Wednesday night, a supposed effigy of a Junior was strung on the telephone wire outside the postoffice. The people who saw it in the evening could not determine who it was to represent however, but morning revealed the fact that its general appearance was that of a Senior, its costume that of a Junior, its position in the atmosphere was that of a Sophomore and its facial expression conveyed the physiognomy of a Freshman.

This evening at 7:45 the Woman's Missionary society of the First Presbyterian church will hold its annual praise service. There will be singing by the church quartette and also by Miss Florence Porter. An offering for missionary work will be taken.

DAY OF THANKSGIVING

Willmar Churches Present Opportunities for Expressing Appreciation of Prosperity.

That this day is earnestly requested that all people of our state cease from their regular vocations, and gather in their various places of worship, there to devoutly thank the Giver of all good for His mercies and the manifold blessings conferred upon us as a nation, as a state and as individuals. -Gov. Van Sant.

Tomorrow is Thanksgiving Day, the day having been duly proclaimed a day of Thanksgiving by the president and the governor. Services will be held in nearly all of our churches and there will be no lack of opportunity for our citizens to observe the holiday in a worshipful manner.

A time-honored custom, established by our forefathers whose thanksgiving was really from the heart, has developed into a day more or less conventionalized and yet in a certain sense the day has lost none of its genuine spirit of thanksgiving, and heart-strings gatherings. The day is the harbinger of the winter season of festivities and it is most appropriate that it is a day of thanks, if many thousands of people really do forget to give thanks, and pay tribute to an abnormal appetite instead. There are many thousands all over the broad land who are perpetuating the sacred spirit of the day and generation after generation will continue the custom observed by our forefathers.

The piece de resistance is the great American bird—the turkey. Ducks and geese may come and go, but the turkey, it will be with us ever. Around the festive board will gather the family groups, some the same as last year, with perhaps the addition of a prattling babe in its high chair looking for a home. At many gatherings there will be faces missed, there will be a vacant chair, to tell of a broken chain. There will be happy reunions and the presence of those who have been absent many long years, and the sum total of bliss and real pleasure will be great enough to call the angels to witness.

We wish to say that we were misinformed in regard to Adolph Felner, whose case we mentioned some weeks ago. Dr. Frost informs us that all possible care had been taken of him by Dr. Tietin, who only saw him once preceding the day of his leaving Clara City. He came to Willmar in good time; earlier would have been too soon for the operation, and considering the gravity of the case he is doing exceedingly well.

Miss Ida Torkelson, teacher in the Fifth grade of the Central building, was obliged to give up her school work here last Monday on account of a threatened attack of typhoid fever. She was able to leave the same evening for her home at Black River Falls, Wis., where she will remain until her health will permit her to return to resume her work. The Epworth League of the M. E. church did not receive as liberal a patronage last Thursday evening as its oyster supper as had been hoped for. After defraying all expenses the society found that it had the enormous sum of two cents above the amount expended. The lack of patronage was largely due to counter attractions the same evening. A nice musical program was rendered the latter part of the evening, consisting of selections by Treat's orchestra, a cornet solo by Lewis Hanscom, piano solo by Miss Vaughn Crawford, vocal solo by Prof. Powers, and a violin solo by Mr. Treat.

Prof. Emil Hegstrom, late of Olivia, has opened a music studio on the second floor of the Ruble block, where he is now ready for patrons. Mr. Hegstrom, during his residence at Olivia, was the popular instructor of the band there, and in addition to this was busily engaged in giving instruction to a large number of pupils on other musical instruments. He is of the opinion, however, that Willmar offers better advantages for his profession and our city will gladly welcome him to its musical circles. Mr. Hegstrom will endeavor to organize a first-class band here and thru his efforts we may again have the pleasure of seeing a good organization of band boys.

COMMITTS SUICIDE

Olga Lindfors of Lake Lillian Ends Her Life With Father's Pistol.

With a large bullet wound in her left breast and still clutching an immense pistol in her right hand, Olga Lindfors, the 18-year-old daughter of Jonas Lindfors, of the town of East Lake Lillian, was found late Tuesday night of last week in a grove near her father's home. When found life was extinct and the circumstances were such as to indicate that the girl had met instant death as the result of her own deed.

Mr. Lindfors had been at a sale on a neighboring farm all day, not coming home till after dark. He found his daughter, his only companion, absent and supposing her to be at some neighbor's house, went to bed. He was awakened by his dog which ran about the house whining and barking. He at length got up and opened the door and followed the dog to the grove, where he found the dead body of his daughter with a bullet thru her heart.

She had taken her father's pistol with her and held the pistol against her left breast and pulled the trigger. Death had apparently followed instantly. No one knows the cause of the young woman's rash act. The neighbors speak well of Jonas Lindfors and say he was a kind man. Olga Lindfors had often told a neighbor's daughter that she wished she might die, but never complained of having received any ill-treatment.

Dr. E. S. Frost, county coroner, was summoned the next morning and held a post mortem examination in the afternoon. He pronounced that death had been caused by a bullet wound thru the heart. At the coroner's examination the following facts were revealed: Mr. Lindfors got home after dark from an auction sale held on the Asa Bomsta farm. He found the door locked and supposed his daughter was visiting at a neighbor's. He gained entrance and went to bed, thinking that she might still come home. The dog had been acting strangely and was wildly running back and forth from the door to the grove, which was only about 150 feet away. He finally got up and followed the dog, which kept ringing around and at last stopped at the body. After recovering from the horrible shock of seeing the lifeless form of his daughter outstretched on the ground he went and got the assistance of neighbors, who returned to the grove with him. The girl was found lying on her face with the clothing undisturbed, as if she had lain down and was in that position when she pulled the trigger. The pistol was in her right hand and the face was resting on her left hand. She had held the weapon so close to her breast that part of her clothing was burned.

The bullet had passed through the inner margin of the left breast. It was early in the morning when the lifeless body was removed to the house, and as soon as possible a message was sent to Willmar calling the coroner. Why the girl should commit such a rash act is a mystery to the father. She was always of a quiet disposition and was at home a great part of the time. The father and daughter were the sole occupants of the home and her actions had never been such as to arouse any suspicion that she was brooding over any trouble.

Death of Mrs. Sanders. The sad intelligence of the death of Mrs. Nathan Sanders, one of the oldest residents of Harrison, reached this city yesterday, and came as a surprise to many who had not learned of her serious illness. Mrs. Sanders passed away at St. Luke's hospital in St. Paul yesterday morning at four o'clock, as the result of an operation performed upon her for the removal of a cancer about a week ago. The remains were brought to Harrison the same day, where the funeral will take place from the family residence tomorrow (Thursday) afternoon at 2:30 o'clock. Rev. Dr. Adams of the Presbyterian church, Minneapolis, will preach the funeral sermon and the interment will be in Oakside cemetery. Deceased was 64 years and 8 days of age. In her death the community loses a true Christian woman and one who was held in high esteem by all who knew her. The family is among the earliest settlers in Harrison, having resided there for the past forty years. The deceased leaves a husband and three children to mourn the loss of a devoted wife and mother. A son, Wesley Sanders, resides in Harrison, and a son and daughter, H. W. Jones and Mrs. Nellie Hull, are residents of Atwater.

DEATH UNDER WHEELS

Switchman Powell Instantly Killed in Wisconsin Central Railway Yards in Minneapolis.

John J. Powell, at one time employed as a switchman in Willmar, met instant death last Wednesday afternoon under the freight cars while at work as foreman of the switching crew in the Wisconsin Central railway yards in Minneapolis.

"Powell was superintending the 'setting out' of a train of freight cars," says the Minneapolis Times, "when it became necessary to make a coupling between two cars upon one of which the chain connecting the link pin with the lever operating the automatic coupler was found to be broken. Powell stepped between the moving cars to make the coupling by hand. He stumbled on a switch frog and fell prostrate to the ground. The car, moving forward, passed over his body. Before the train could be stopped several other cars had passed over the now lifeless form. When the mangled remains were finally extricated from under the wheels it was found that Powell was dead. Death had probably come almost instantaneously. Powell was 34 years of age and was a married man. His body was removed to an East Side undertaking room."

Powell's home was at 301 University avenue N.E. He removed from Willmar about three years ago. For the past ten years he had been a member of the Willmar lodge of Workmen. At this writing no other information than that contained above has been received in this city. Later—The news confirming the death of Mr. Powell was received here this week by the A. O. U. W. lodge. The deceased carried an insurance policy of $2,000 in that order, and his wife and two children will not be left without financial support.

On account of a delay in getting the windows for the new Synod church building, it is most probable that no services will be held there before Christmas. It was expected that the building would be in readiness so that it could be occupied next Sunday. On that date confirmation services will be held in the old building at 10:30 a. m. A class of twelve will be confirmed. In the evening at 7:30 services will be held at Seminary Hall.
