WILLING TO FACE CLEVELAND CHARGES

MRS. CHADWICK DECIDES TO WAIVE EXAMINATION AND RETURN TO OHIO.

SPENDS A RESTLESS NIGHT IN PRISON

Warden Denies Her Use of Knife or Fork Fearing Attempted Suicide—Beckwith Makes New Confession—Grand Jury Investigating.

New York, Dec. 10.—After a sleepless night in the Tombs prison and a breakfast in which she was not allowed to use either knife or fork, for fear she would try to end her life, Mrs. C. L. Chadwick Friday announced she desired to waive examination and go to Cleveland to answer the charges against her.

The news was taken to her lawyer while he was still seeking among security companies for the $15,000 bonds required to free his client. He had been unable to find any friend of the woman who claims she has millions, willing to go surety for that amount.

Mrs. Chadwick set for her son Emil and told him of her determination. He went before the United States commissioner to arrange for the necessary formalities for his mother's return to Cleveland. She will be taken there on a boat before the federal grand jury.

Mrs. Chadwick's action ends the prospect of a prolonged fight, such as was encountered by the federal authorities in the Beavers case.

Sleepless During Night. Mrs. Chadwick's imprisonment in the Tombs has not tended to her recovery from her nervous attack. Friday she was in a high nervous state, having passed a night of watchfulness. She was wide awake until nearly four a. m., when she slept a little. With frequent intervals of waking she slept until shortly after seven o'clock, when the noise of other prisoners preparing for breakfast aroused her.

According to Warden Flynn, Mrs. Chadwick appears to be in a semi-comatose condition. She acts like a person dazed. Mrs. Chadwick has been allowed the use of the corridor in front of her cell between seven a. m. and four p. m., and was permitted to see her nurse.

Indicted in Ohio. Mrs. Chadwick is now under indictment voted by the grand jury of Elyria county, Ohio, for obtaining money on false pretenses, and it is expected an indictment for forgery will be voted by the grand jury in Cleveland. It is expected that Receiver Lyon, of the Citizens' national bank, of Oberlin, O., will return to Cleveland, and that his arrival there will be followed by the issue of additional indictments.

Still Hopes to Pay. In an interview Mrs. Chadwick denied that Mrs. York, of San Francisco, was her sister. She also denied that she was Mrs. Devere, and declared that she would pay off her debts and make a public statement clearing up all the mystery of her case.

Beckwith Details Story. President Beckwith, of the Citizens' national bank, Oberlin, O., has made a detailed confession to United States District Attorney Sullivan concerning his transactions with Mrs. Chadwick. "At the last moment of our negotiations, when the first suspicion haunted my mind, I was tricked into making the loan by Mrs. Chadwick, who brought to me a young man, whom she introduced as the son of a Pittsburgh millionaire," Beckwith said.

"His words of reassurance made me fail, and wrecked my life. I have since been a broken man, an actor employed by the woman I tried to love."

Another Banker Blamed. "A certain banker, who was himself overladen with her worthless securities, was as much responsible for the crash of the Oberlin bank as anyone else. He knew in his heart that Mrs. Chadwick was a fake, and he wanted her to raise enough from me to pay him some of the money she owed him. She showed me that she had on deposit in banks at New York and Ohio nearly $1,000,000 in cash. She showed me my inquiries have shown that she really did not possess this cash, but she had drawn it all. She even now has it cashed somewhere, unless she has given it to some one close to her to save it."

Borrows $2,000,000. "In the past three years Mrs. Chadwick has raised over $2,000,000 from different banks, and the fact that she gave me of how she was for her convinced me that her credit was the best in the world. If those notes were forged, it is my conviction that some one of her agents will be ultimately found as guilty of forgery as she is. One of the biggest corporation lawyers in Pennsylvania was either in the game with her, or he was duped as completely as I was. She issued checks broadcast for hundreds of thousands on banks where she had no deposits. One of these checks was for $11,000, and was drawn on the Knickerbocker Trust company, of New York. If these banks will come to the front, Mrs. Chadwick will have so many accusers that they won't all be able to get into the courtroom. Even when the blow of learning all this struck me, I still had hopes that she would take up the Carnegie notes and save my bank."

Creditors Lose Hope. Mrs. Chadwick's creditors are much depressed. Counsel for Herbert L. Newton, of Brookline, Mass., also seem to have completely lost their confidence that his $100,000 claim will be settled. "There is no hope of settlement now," said Attorney Carr, before departing for Cleveland. "I do not think that any of Mrs. Chadwick's creditors will receive one cent."

Before leaving the city Attorney Andrew Squire, of Cleveland, said: "None of us have ever seen the securities about which Mrs. Chadwick talked so much. The best anyone got was a promise that she would pay. It was promises and promises, and then more promises. It was the way in which she delayed matters."

FOR UNCLE SAM'S STOCKING.

ONE HUNDRED MEN CAUGHT IN BURNING SHAFT AT SOUTH BARTONVILLE, ILL.

FINALLY ESCAPE BY ANOTHER OPENING

Later Report Says Twenty of Diggers Are Unaccounted For—Eight Mules Overcome by Smoke—Blaze Causes Great Excitement.

Chicago, Dec. 10.—Killed three Chinese in a mine, the Japanese-American war; traveled all over the world; came to Chicago; worked respectfully by day, went into the hold-up business by night—that's my career. This is the confession of Edward S. Clark, self-styled "gentleman of fortune," a prisoner at the Cottage Grove avenue police station. Leaving his job as foreman in a printing office at five p. m., Clark, according to his confession, during periods extending over six months, would go to his home, and there, equipped with a black velvet mask, a revolver, ammunition and other weapons, would start on a hold-up tour.

Clark's arrest is said to have been brought about by the anger of a woman. The woman was Annie Boyer, wife of Herbert Boyer, a printer, who "worked" with Clark at night. Threats said to have been made that they would kill her if she "squealed" induced Mrs. Boyer, who had been separated from her husband, to secure warrants for the two men. Boyer was also arrested and confessed to having been Clark's pal.

A man, to whom the woman has confessed, said: "I had a room at 45 Van Buren street, 552 secured; saloon at Thirty-ninth street and Indiana avenue, 10; saloon, 3210 Cottage Grove avenue, 33; Frank Leon's saloon, Sacramento avenue and West Madison street, 1510 and two watches taken.

Suspect Foul Play. Paris, Dec. 10.—The political associates of Deputy Syveton, who was found asphyxiated by gas in his house at Neuilly Thursday, assert that he was the victim of foul play for the purpose of suppressing his intended exposures of the spying system. These assertions are not supported by any tangible evidence. The official inquiries tend to show that Mr. Syveton's death was due to an accident or to self-destruction. The autopsy established that his death was the result of asphyxiation.

Must Not Perform on Sunday. Duluth, Minn., Dec. 10.—The announcement by a local theatrical manager that he had booked a well known theatrical troupe for a Sunday performance aroused such a storm of wrath among the religious elements here that Mayor Cullom has forbidden him to present the play, saying that Sunday attractions are plainly not in popular favor and that during his administration the theaters must be kept dark.
