SWEDISH MILITARY BAND COMING TO WILLMAR

Arrangements Made For Appearance of Royal Vendes Art. Reg. Band April 30.

The Royal Crown Prince Hussar Regiment Band, the crack cavalry music corps of Sweden, will visit Willmar and appear in concert at Willmar on Friday, April 30. This assurance was received by local Swedish Americans yesterday. On Friday of last week a conference of local people was held, at which the guarantee necessary to secure a visit of this musical organization was subscribed. Redwing and Willmar were rivals for the one open date left for the Northwest. The band is on a furlough of two months and its engagements here are necessarily limited. Willmar is the farthest western point that this organization will visit. The only points in Minnesota are the Twin Cities, Willmar, St. Peter and Duluth.

The organization consists of twenty-five members, all graduate musicians and under the strictest military discipline. They will be accompanied by Miss Hilma Mattson, a gifted soloist of note in Sweden, who has appeared with great success at the Royal Opera House at Stockholm. The director of the band is John Ekblad, who enjoys the rank of a lieutenant.

The band is the regimental music corps of the Royal Vendes Artillery Regiment of Sweden, and has maintained a continuous existence since the war in Germany, in which the regiment took part. It is noted for its skill in regular concert work outside of its military duties. The instruments used are owned by the Swedish crown and are of the finest make, their beauty of tone, volume and sonority are said to be remarkable.

The coming to Willmar of this organization will be the greatest musical event in the history of the city. It is expected that visitors will come from all surrounding cities and towns to attend the concert. A committee of ten citizens is now working out the plan of the disposition of the tickets and making the general arrangements and another committee of five has been appointed to arrange for a reception for the foreign guests at the Carlson hall after the concert. In later issues the Tribune will give further information regarding this coming event.

Raymond News Will Continue.

The Raymond News suspended publication last Friday. It was established in November, 1900, and has been the property of Frank E. Smith since June 6, 1902. In his farewell editorial Editor Smith expresses regrets that he found it necessary to leave.

A telephone message from Raymond this morning stated that Mr. Smith has just sold out to two of Raymond's prominent business men, and that the News will continue as before. Mr. Smith will leave next week for Calloway, Becker county, a new town on the Soo road on the line between Greenwood and Thief River Falls, where he will continue in the newspaper business.

Celebrates Anniversary.

A jolly company of fourteen people invaded the home of Mr. and Mrs. W. L. Geer Saturday evening to remind Mr. Geer that it was his birthday anniversary. As Mr. Geer is still on the far sunny side of the term of years allotted to man, he did not object much to being reminded, either, and it took him only a very short time to surrender the house to the self-invited guests. The evening was pleasantly spent in various diversions, after which the ladies present served a tempting lunch. Before departing, the callers left a number of presents with Mr. Geer as mementos of the occasion.

Goes to Salt Lake City.

Chas. Branham has been visiting with friends and relatives here and in Litchfield the past week. The Fargo Morning Call, on which Mr. Branham lately has been working as advertising manager, has been sold to the Fargo Daily News, and he has now accepted a position as reporter on the Salt Lake City (Utah) Herald, the paper owned by the well known senator-millionaire mine owner, W. A. Clark. Charley will leave the latter part of the week for his new field of labor, and he will take with him the well wishes of a host of friends in Willmar and vicinity. He will not get into any trouble out there either, he says, for although he believes in more-mormonism he disapproves most strongly of Mormonism.

Monson's New Egg Scheme.

Jonas Monson enjoyed a visit between trains Saturday from I. F. Flaten of Granite Falls, C. B. Anderson of Waconia, and A. O. Void of Maynard. Mr. Monson and the Tribune reporter also enjoyed a "true" story told by Mr. Flaten. He said that one day as he was busy in the barn he caught an impudent hen trying to roost in a manger. Whereupon he shoved her away with his cap. As she flew past him he thought he heard something drop, but the most diligent search revealed nothing, until he stuck his hand in his pocket, when, to his surprise he found a nice fresh egg in it, laid there by the irate fowl. Mr. Flaten said he had tried several times to repeat the experiment but without any success. He insisted that this was the only case he had ever heard of where anybody had ever gotten ahead of the "shell game." He has not given up experimenting yet, and hopes to discover just what conditions are necessary to get a hen to repeat the performance ad infinitum, when he will go into the business on an extensive scale. The scheme will be for Mr. Flaten to stand on one side of a basket and shoo a hen over the basket, while the hired man stands on the other side and shooes her back, the performance being kept up till the hen has become exhausted. If the plan succeeds Mr. Flaten will undoubtedly in a few years be known as the egg king of the northwest.

Ditch Cases Decided.

Last Thursday Judge Qvale filed with Clerk of Court Ramsett the following decision in the cases of Ditch No. 27, town of Arcetander: In the case of Ole O. Boe the appellant recovers $465 damages to lands in section 14, instead of $125 as awarded by the viewers. The assessment for benefit was reduced from $220 to $125. The assessment on section 11 was canceled and with this change the judgment of the assessment was confirmed. In the case of Martin Hanson Engen, the appellant recovers $372 for damages, instead of $75 as awarded by the viewers, in section 12. The assessment for benefits assessed by the viewers at $165 was canceled and annulled. In the case of H. E. Ekren, the appellant recovers $410 damages to lands in Sec. 12, instead of $141 awarded by the viewers. Assessment of benefits of $88 canceled and annulled.

ELEMA, THE MISSIONARY, HAS LEFT CITY

Willmar has been abandoned as a field of special religious activity by the Upper Room Gospel brethren who for the past nine weeks have been conducting special services in the Fixen building on Third street. Sunday night was farewell night, and after a few explanatory remarks by Brother Elema of Chicago, who was the "moving spirit" of the meetings, all the rest of the brethren and sisters, including sister Lizzie who played the organ, prepared to depart for Browns Valley, whither they had been instructed by revelation to go, as they had been moved nine weeks ago to come to Willmar. Their course here was not smooth. There was a good deal of disturbance at times, and toward the last the city authorities and the sheriff were obliged to attend the meetings regularly.

On Tuesday evening of last week the gathering developed into a general debate between Elema and the authorities, and it was at the conclusion of this that Elema decided to move.

Incidentally, Brother Elema and Sister Elema stated that Willmar was not perfect by several notches. They had come to help improve it, but somehow they had been misunderstood and consequently they had not succeeded in their mission. Departing from the usual custom of rebuking the Irish and the Swedes, the Elemas inveighed heavily against the character, conduct, customs and morals of the Norwegians, setting aside every Wednesday night for this particular purpose. The fact that Wednesday or Norwegian nights were the most quiet of the week did not seem to effect any change in their opinions, either. The Norwegians were IT and they got IT.

Seriously speaking, the Elema and his brethren might have been sincere in their efforts to do good by preaching, they employed means that were to say the least very unwise. Trying to convert men by heaping upon them vile names and personal abuse ought to be a thing of the past. It is a travesty on true religion, and must fail, because it has no virtue in it.

Mr. and Mrs. O. B. Glarum went to St. Paul yesterday for a few days' visit.

CO-OPERATIVE STORE ORGANIZED AT SVEA

The Svea Co-operative Mercantile company was organized at Svea last Thursday, with a capital of $25,000. Helge Nelson was elected president; Martin Swenson, vice president; James Mattson, secretary, and John E. Johnson, treasurer, and these gentlemen, together with Joseph Feifarek, constitute the board of directors. The company will build a store of its own or buy out Nelson Bros. of Svea.

The movement for the establishment of a co-operative store at Svea was started about a month ago by a number of farmers in Whitefield, Roseland and Lake Lillian. They communicated with the Minnesota Right Relationship League, which during its three years existence assisted in the launching of 85 co-operative enterprises, and receiving favorable reports regarding the store already established, they decided to go ahead and organize. The League was represented at the meeting Thursday by J. F. Jacobson and W. H. Van Horn of Minneapolis. They explained the object and aim of the league and as a result the stockholders have decided to affiliate with it, they will elect their own manager. Thru a board of auditors composed of P. O. Nelson and R. Rasmussen the stockholders will receive reports from time to time regarding the condition of the company.

The organizing capital is $25,000, so far only $10,000 has been offered for sale, in shares of $100 each. Of this number 84 have already been subscribed.

C. C. Clayton enjoyed a visit over Sunday from his parents, Mr. and Mrs. L. J. Clayton; a sister, Miss Effie, and a brother, F. A. Clayton; also Miss Sena Sorenson of Hancock. The Claytons were on their way from Hatfield to Rush City, where they will make their future home.

Mrs. P. W. Hegman returned home Saturday morning from an extended visit in Spokane, Seattle and Tacoma. She was accompanied by her son, E. J. Hedman, formerly cashier here but now working for the company at Spokane. He will spend a week visiting with relatives and friends here.

Wiggins Block Completed.

By the first of April the J. H. Wiggins company expect to have their new building on Fifth street completed. The company will use the basement and the first story for their plumbing business and will rent out the second story, which consists of one 6-room and two 4-room flats.

The basement, which is cemented, and protected from ground waters by a special system of tiling, will be used for the machinery and for the storage of piping, and it also contains two Gurney's furnaces that will supply the hot water and heat needed. The ground floor is devoted to the show room, with an encased office in the center and a workshop in the rear. The show room is attractively furnished with all necessary store accessories, and two large plate glass windows admit an abundance of daylight.

The flats are thoroughly modern in every respect. They are conveniently arranged, and well lighted. Each bedroom is equipped with lavatory, and each flat has a bath equipped with tub, foot bath, toilet and a medicine cabinet. The dining rooms are large and airy, light being admitted thru well planned skylights, and the pantries are so inviting that it would tempt even the most confirmed bachelor to get busy.

The kitchens are supplied with laundry tub, sink, gas stove and built-in refrigerator, and everything is arranged with a view of having everything ready at hand. The building will have its own gas plant, and gas will also be available for lighting as the fixtures will be of the combination kind. The east flat has a large bay window, and the other two flats each have a balcony. The colors used in the fresco work are different in each flat, harmonizing with green, blue and red respectively.

Also the building is fireproof, all floors, walls and ceilings being lined with asbestos paper, the company has installed an up-to-date fire hose on each floor. As a further protection, all the windows on the north side, next to the opera house, are equipped with metal shutters.

The new structure will cost, when completed, about $15,000. It was built for the company by Andrew Bjorsell. The Wiggins company is to be congratulated upon the enterprise which made this building possible. It stands as another proof of progressiveness of Willmar's business people.

Shot the Kaiser.

The civil action brought by William Kemp, freight conductor, against Peter Freeberg was heard yesterday afternoon in justice court before Judge Forsberg, a change of venue having been taken from Judge Cramer's court, where the action was first brought. Freeberg was accused of having shot the Kaiser—not the real one across the sea but the 8 months old bull terrier bearing that name and the property of Kemp. The shooting was admitted, but testimony was produced showing that Freeberg was acting under orders from the Mayor and the Chief of Police, and that the dog was not as well behaved as he ought to have been. In fact, he had bitten some other animals, and had made several intimidating rushes against prominent Willmarites. The jury which sat in the case deliberated only a very short time before returning a verdict for the defendant, and the owner of the departed canine pays for the costs and disbursements of the action.

LOCAL BREVITIES

Mrs. Henry Hanscom went to Minneapolis yesterday for a visit at her parental home.

Last Sunday Rev. Crawford Grays welcomed seven persons into church membership at the English M. E. church.

An important meeting of the M. B. A. will be held tomorrow (Thursday) evening at the Carlson hall, and all members are requested to be present.

August Norman is now working as special agent for the Central Life Assurance company, with territory in the northern part of the state. He will make his headquarters here.

Conductor L. J. Bouette had his right hand quite badly injured last Wednesday while unloading baggage at Raymond, but he is able to be around and expects to have his injured member in commission again soon.

Miss Helen Hoglund was tendered a birthday surprise last Saturday afternoon by about thirty of her friends. It was Miss Helen's ninth birthday, and the callers left with her a fine necklace and a large doll as mementos of the occasion.

R. E. Jones of Kandiyohi was in Willmar on business Saturday. He lately returned from Esterville, Iowa, after an absence of three months, and he is now busy preparing to take care of all the cement and tiling work entrusted to him.

The Ladies Guild of St. Luke's church will give their first Lenten coffee for next week on Monday at the home of Mrs. W. J. Pinney. The second coffee will be on Thursday at the home of Mrs. W. F. Gratz, under the auspices of Mesdames Gratz and A. Crosby.

Willmar was defeated in her basket ball game with Olivia last Friday evening. Superior team work gained the victory for the visitors. The score was 21 to 8. The game was well attended, and although the "other side" won, everybody went away well satisfied.

W. D. Scott, general superintendent Great Northern railway, passed thru here Friday in his private car, on his general tour of inspection. While some improvements are planned for the local station during the coming year, Mr. Scott would not state their exact nature.

Arrangements have been made to have M. T. Paulson, who travels in the interest of the Minnesota Total Abstinence society, speak in Willmar at the Lutheran Free church on the evening of Friday, April 2. The address will be in the Norwegian language. There will be no admission fee, but a free-will offering will be taken up to defray incidental expenses.

P. H. Peterson and John A. Johnson, painters, have formed a partnership and will be known under the firm name of Peterson & Johnson. They are both well known citizens of Willmar, and as they have had a good deal of experience in their line of work, they will no doubt get a liberal share of the paint business here.

Now is the time to examine your seed corn. The best is none too good. Good seed ought to germinate from 95 to 100 per cent. Corn that germinates from 80 to 90 per cent is sure to have a greater percentage that is weakened in vitality. Test your corn early, and remember that good seed is the first and most important thing to consider in planning for a good crop.

A carload of Maxwell touring cars and roadsters arrived here the first of the week for Lars Halvorson, the local agent. Mr. Halvorson went to Minneapolis Saturday morning to transact business at the head office of the Maxwell company. He stated that the demand for the Maxwell cars is so brisk in this part of the country that he will probably have a second carload shipped in a short time.

Miss Delia Sorenson enjoyed a visit a couple of days last week from her mother, Mrs. O. C. F. Sorenson, of Kasson. While on her way to the depot Thursday from the P. C. Williams residence on Third street, Mrs. Sorenson had the misfortune of losing her gold watch, and up to the time of going to press it had not been returned. If found, it may be left at the Tribune office for a reward.

D. J. Ostlund returned to Radium Thursday after a few days' visit with relatives and friends in Penock and vicinity. Mr. Ostlund is Radium's buttermaker, and he feels very well satisfied with his position—the old admitted he would be better off if he could make radium instead of butter, as butter at its strongest runs only about 30 cents per pound, while radium is listed at about a quarter of a million dollars an ounce. While in town, Mr. Ostlund took time to pay the Tribune a pleasant call.
