PROHIBITION WINS IN MINNEAPOLIS

E. E. Lobeck Tells of Fight in Twelfth Ward.

One of the most novel elections ever conducted in the state was held Tuesday in the twelfth ward Minneapolis. There is no state law whereby the people of a city the size of Minneapolis are permitted to vote on the license question. Attempts have been made to secure such laws but in vain while the present element has control of the legislative machinery. But the people of Minneapolis have been able to elect a few aldermen who dare to take more advanced stand on public questions of this kind and therefore adopted a resolution providing for an election in the twelfth ward where there are twelve saloons to which conditions a large number of those people object. All the legal voters who voted at the last election and the women who voted at the last election for members of the school board were permitted to vote. A strenuous campaign was waged. Several of the prominent business men of the city took an active part in the campaign against license condemning the saloon traffic in no unmistakable terms. Mr. Lobeck of Douglas county was secured as one of the leading spokesmen. The Minneapolis Tribune gives him a very extended notice which we reprint.

The saloon element as usual conducted a quiet campaign, simply doing "personal work." They had several automobiles in their service and every saloon was closed. All the saloonkeepers and bartenders were busy bringing in the voters for their side.

Among the speakers selected by the "dry" element of the twelfth ward to discuss the merits of the exclusion of the saloons from the district, none possesses more of the reformer's zeal than E. E. Lobeck of Alexandria former member of the legislature, called the "untamed lion," form the undaunted manner in which he has assaulted the liquor business.

Mr. Lobeck addressed a large gathering of Twelfth ward people Monday night in the Bethany Norw. Lutheran church on the merits of the election held Tuesday. The remarkable arrangement of the average man's mind by which he is able to see no harm in the action of the saloonkeeper which would be a terrible thing in any one else was the basis of the argument of the speaker. He told of the high ideal held by modern people regarding the education of their children and the conduct of their churches while they were willing to excuse in the liquor merchant actions which would not be tolerated in any one else.

The economic side of the saloon question was given some attention by the speaker. He ridiculed the contention of the saloon element that a large part of the money spent in saloons went back to the common man as payment for labor and declared that out of every dollar spent over the bar only 2 cents represented the labor cost of the liquor, while in a grocery store, meat or shoe shop the percentage would be at least 16 cents.

Mr. Lobeck cited the example set by many modern saloonkeepers who refuse to employ bartenders who touch the merchandise they sell and said if their goods were too dangerous for the men who sell them to use, they were also too dangerous for the residents and especially the growing generation of the south end of the city.

"Go to the polls tomorrow and end for all time the curse of the liquor abomination in your section of the city," said Mr. Lobeck. "Your opportunity is at hand and if you fail to grasp it you are setting a load of sorrow and trouble on the heads of your children which you will never be able to atone for. The liquor traffic is a curse. It saps the brains, physical vigor and economic substance of every man who allows it to control him and no man can play with it without running a terrible risk of eventually succumbing to the evil."

The election was vigorously contested by both sides. The liquor people seemed from the start to be the best organized but some of their workers were walking signs of the traffic's handiwork and now it is generally conceded the result might have been more favorable to them if these specimens had been stored away somewhere. The "dry" won with a majority of 128. Only one precinct went "wet." This election is a clear and convincing sign that the people of the large cities ought to be given the right to vote on this issue as well as people in the smaller towns. —E. E. Lobeck in Park Region Echo.

ONE WEAK SPOT

Most Willmar People Have a Weak Part and Too Often It's the Back.

Everyone has a weak spot. Too often it's a bad back. Twinges follow every sudden twist.

Dull aching keeps up, day and night. Tells you the kidneys need help—For backache is really kidney-ache.

A kidney cure is what you need. Doan's Kidney Pills cure sick kidneys. Cure backache and urinary ills. Good proof in the following statement.

Mrs. Charles Peterson, Benson, Minn., says: "I willingly confirm the public statement I gave in 1907 regarding my experience with Doan's Kidney Pills. My back was weak and lame and pained me whenever I made a quick movement. I lost much sleep, and I always felt tired and worn out. I heard so much about Doan's Kidney Pills that I finally procured a supply and began their use. They lived up to representation and restored me to good health."

For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, New York, sole agents for the United States.

Swat The Fly.

Don't leave rubbish around for the breeding of flies. A generation of flies is produced in a day. Flies carry all manner of disease especially typhoid fever. They breed in filth, feed in filth, and bedeck with filth everything they touch. Burn all kitchen refuse. Remove all kitchen refuse. Remove all garbage and refuse from your premises.

Garbage piles are the breeding places of flies, clean up, exterminate the garbage piles and they destroy the fly. Pick up waste paper, clean the alleys and make Willmar as sanitary as it is pretty and homelike.

Nature is unfolding a magnificent panorama before us each day of this most glorious of the seasons. Enjoy it and from nature learn to look up to nature's God.

Stickney Gasoline Engines ARE THE BEST

Certainly a Charmer!

The Gasoline Engine I bought several months ago is certainly a charmer. I have given it some good tests on my well drill and it never shirked once. I could not recommend it too highly, for I have all the praises for the Stickney as a power of satisfaction.

Lands Opened in South Dakota.

Belle Fourche, S. Dak., May 18, 1911.

Unless unfavorable weather interferes the contractors will complete the Belle Fourche dam early in June. This structure is one of the most spectacular engineering work of the Reclamation Service, and its construction has attracted widespread interest on the part of engineers from all parts of the world.

In order to provide a storage reservoir which will control the flood and normal flow of a whole river, the Government has built an enormous embankment to close the depression between two hills. This wall of earth is 6,200 feet long, with a maximum height of 115 feet. It is 20 feet wide on top, and 500 feet thick at base. It contains 1,600,000 cubic yards of material.

After the dam was in place the water slope was covered with a layer of carefully screened gravel, on which was laid a paving of concrete blocks, each weighing from 2,000 to 3,000 pounds. The nearest gravel pit was 12 miles away, so the contractors set up a plant at the pit, and built a railroad to the dam on which were conveyed the heavy concrete blocks.

A concrete dam across the river turns the entire stream into a canal with a capacity of 1,600 cubic feet per second, which conveys the water to the reservoir. The reservoir when filled is the largest lake in South Dakota. From it the principal canals carry the water to the irrigable lands in the beautiful Belle Fourche Valley, and 100,000 acres ultimately will be supplied.

Settlement has been rapid here since construction began. Once the land of the cow boy the valley has now become a thrifty agricultural community. The opportunities it offers for the settler the merchant and professional man, are numerous and varied. A large acreage will be ready for the homemaker in the near future. Three new towns have risen as if by magic within the past few years affording openings for town people. A branch railroad has been extended to the limits of the project, furnishing excellent transportation facilities. Full information will be supplied upon request to the Statistician, Reclamation Service, Washington, D. C.

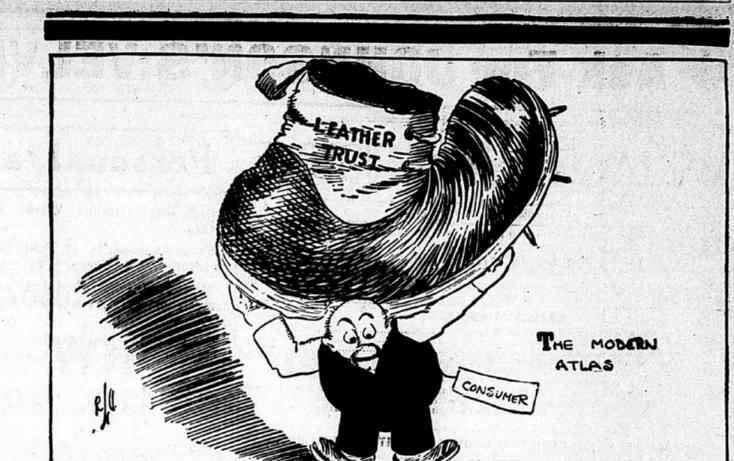

PETERSON-BORN.

George F. Peterson, son of Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Peterson of Fahlun, who is located at Russell, N. D., as cashier of the First State Bank, was united in marriage May 10 to Miss Rae Bohn of that place. The wedding took place at Towner and was solemnized by Rev. Hall of the Presbyterian church. After a couple of weeks spent on a wedding trip to the twin cities and other points they will return to Russell, where they have a host of friends who will extend hearty congratulations to this popular young couple. George's many old friends in this locality will join in wishing him and the lad of his choice a life full of happiness.—Atwater Rep. Press.

On June 21st Litchfield will celebrate the twenty-fifth anniversary of Rev. P. J. Boland's pastorate of St. Phillip's church. Father Boland is not only popular with his congregation but equally so with the people of the city and all will take pleasure in seeking to do him honor.

The nomination of W. D. Joubert for postmaster at Litchfield went to the senate last week.

Do You Love the Trusts Enough to Pay Four Profits on Your Shoes?

Every year the American people pay Millions of Dollars more than they need to for their shoes. They pay Four Excess Profits—the Hide Trust's profit, the Leather Trust's profit, profits to the Leather Jobber and the Shoe Jobber.

Endicott-Johnson shoes are the only shoes in this country that are free from these four profits. Endicott, Johnson & Co. buy their hides in the open market of the world. No profits to the Hide Trust. They tan—in their own tanneries—every foot and every pound of leather they put into their shoes. No profits to the Leather Trust and the Leather Jobber.

They sell direct from the factory to your home shoe dealer. No profits to the Shoe Jobber. Endicott-Johnson shoes reach your feet 50 cents to $1.00 cheaper than any other shoes of the same appearance and style.

And what is better—you'll get more service out of Endicott-Johnson shoes than you ever bought for the same money—because the leather is there, and that means everything in a shoe.

For dress and business wear, ask for the ENDWELL (Goodyear Welt) line—retailing at $3.00, $3.50 and $4.00. ENDWELL shoes give you all the little niceties of the latest shoe modes—your choice of two hundred styles—Shoes and Oxfords—lace and button—full variety of lasts and widths of toe—all the colors of leather.
