THE PROGRESSIVE BANQUET.

Senator Ole O. Sageng Announces His Allegiance to the Progressive Wing of the G. O. P.

The St. Paul Dispatch of last Friday gives the following report of the Progressive banquet at the West Hotel, Minneapolis, last Thursday evening:

"Minnesota progressives have captured the whole Populist party in the state. The People's party surrendered last night at the progressive banquet in Minnesota. It came over, bag and baggage, bringing with it its orator, its office-holder, its executive committee and its entire membership.

For Ole Sageng, who for twenty years has been "the lone Populist of the state Senate"—in fact, the whole of the People's party in Minnesota has capitulated. He is no longer the People's party of Minnesota, but is now a working member in the Republican ranks.

"I want it distinctly understood however," said the "lone Populist," "that I am not re-entering the party I left because it allowed the money changers in the temple and defiled its altars. I am enlisting in the progressive wing, which is the lump that willaven the whole."

"When Senator Sageng declared for La Follette and his allegiance to the progressive principles, enthusiasm waxed intense. Cheers followed and the progressives gave the Chautauqua salute. Many of them worked with Senator Sageng during the last session of the Legislature and they know his ability as a leader.

"Senator Sageng told how he left the Republican party twenty years ago. He likened it to a sacred cathedral which he had revered in boyhood on the shores of Norway. This building, he declared, had fallen into unholy hands and those who sought to defile it used it for quartering horses. Today, he declared, the building was being restored to its pristine glory and purity. This, he declared, was the process being worked out in the Republican party. He left it, he said, because money changers had defiled it, but he was going to identify himself with the movement to purify it from within.

"Senator Sageng resides in Ottertail county, in the heart of Senator Nelson's stronghold and rumor has it that the Progressives will bring him out as their candidate for the United States Senate. Congressman Davis lauded the former Populist in his address and declared that if it had not been for his geographical position he would have been a co-worker with him in Congress many years ago.

"Second to the significance of Sageng's declaration was the apparent harmony in La Follette's candidacy. Directly after Congressman Lenroot's address, a set of resolutions was introduced. This was done to quiet the talk in some centers that the executive committee of the Progressive league originally railroaded through the resolutions.

W. I. Nolan, secretary of the Progressive league, declared that a chapter of the league would be formed in every county in the state and that an attempt would be made to control the next Republican convention.

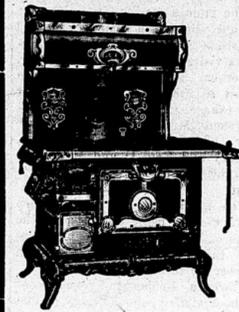

"That the progressive movement has gained some prominent recruits is evidenced by the list of those attending. Every congressional district was represented and those who came were prominent workers in those districts. The progressives in the last Legislature sent a good delegation and there were also many from the rank and file who have never been identified actively with any party."

Among the names of those present we find the names of Atlys, Elias Raehie and Martin E. Tew of Willmar, Henry Feig of Atwater, N. J. Holmberg of Renville, Knute Knut-Croup—all Throat and Lung troubles, 50c and $1.00. Trial bottle free at Carlson Bros.

Miss Julia Hannah of Litchfield, was the guest of Miss Zylphia Larsen on Thursday and will leave Friday for North Dakota where she will teach.

OLIVIA MAN'S POCKETS PICKED

Stranger Arrested While Going Through Fred Vickstrom's Coat Pocket.

Fred L. Vickstrom, the genial night clerk at the Grand Central Hotel, had a little experience at the state fair this week, which may prove profitable to him. According to an article in yesterday's Pioneer Press, Fred would have lost his pocket book and money had it not been for the timely intervention of a police officer.

The article states that Mr. Vickstrom went to see a ball game and took a seat on the grand stand near a stranger from New York, with whom he became chummy. The stranger proved a charming companion and became very intimate. During their friendly chat he began to help himself to the contents of Fred's inside coat pocket, but it happened that a policeman sat behind them and saw it. The New Yorker was arrested and Fred was saved much embarrassment.—Olivia Times.

Former Lake Lillian Resident Dead.

John Erickson, one of the pioneers in this great Bowbell country, having come here and settled on a claim near Coteau something like 12 years ago, took suddenly ill on a train Saturday night in Canada and died a short time before reaching Saskatoon. Mr. Erickson left Bowbells on August 4th and went to Big River, Sask., where he was for two weeks employed in a sawmill. While at Big River he made up his mind to go farther west and file on some land and while he was taking the trip to look the country over where land could be filed on, he passed away. The Tribune has been unable to learn the cause of his death, but it presumably was heart disease.

Mr. Erickson was born in Sweden almost 51 years ago and immigrated to United States in 1886, and settled down near Bird Island, Minn. While there he married a few years later. About twelve years ago when there was a general rush of settlers into this great Bowbell country Mr. Erickson came out here and filed on a very choice piece of land near Coteau, and has resided thereon up to the time of his death.

Besides his wife, deceased leaves ten children to mourn his death namely Fred of Chaplain, Sask., Selma of Moose Jaw, and Axel, Arthur, Helma, Martin, Meynard, Christ, Elsie and Inga at the home farm. The first two named children arrived Monday night to attend the funeral.

Immediately after Mr. Erickson's death the Canadian authorities notified Mrs. Erickson of the fact and she ordered the body prepared for burial and shipped to Bowbells. It was expected to arrive last night and the funeral will be held from the Norwegian Lutheran church at Coteau at ten o'clock. The deceased was well known to everybody in this vicinity and a very large crowd will gather at the church to attend the services.—Bowbells, (N. D.) Tribune.

Thieves Get Busy.

Thieves broke into the hardware and notion store of P. A. Randolph sometime early Saturday morning and took an amount of jewelry and knives and a revolver. They effected their entrance through the front window which was found broken and they made their exit via the back door. No clue has been found as to who the robbers were. The same night H. Hogenson's chicken coop was entered and a number of chickens were stolen.—Renville Star-Farmer.

Loses Foot in Silo Cutter.

Last Thursday afternoon, while in the act of removing some twine and obstruction from the blower shaft in operation to fill a silo, Henry, son of And. Lee, southwest of this city, in some way had one of his feet caught in the knives of the fodder cutter and the toes and part of the foot were severed. He was taken to the Litchfield Hospital for attendance and the patient seems to be getting along well with part of the foot amputated.—Litchfield News-Ledger.

Visiting Nurses.

The last legislature authorized the county commissioners to hire a visiting nurse to give advice and instruction in the homes of consumptives as to treatment and means of preventing the spread of the disease to neighbors and members of the family. Marshall, Stevens, Todd and Kandiyohi counties have already employed nurses. There are cases of tuberculosis in Lac qui Parle county and money appropriated to pay a competent nurse would be well spent.

In fact, it is one of the most essential steps in crushing out the dread disease, which is preventable but incurable. In Dunn county, Wisconsin, a canvass showed that only 47 per cent of consumptives have separate rooms; 15 per cent were sleeping three in a room. It is this condition that is responsible for the spread of tuberculosis and that the visiting nurse could remedy.—Dawson Sentinel.
