The Electric Short Line.

J. N. Gilbert, the engineer for the Luce railway, who was here about three weeks ago looking over the old D. H. & D. grade from Benson to where it crosses the Soo, has made a favorable report and the company is seriously considering taking over and making use of the old grade if the people along this line display the proper interest in the matter of right of way, etc. Knute Knutson, of Swift Falls, who was with Mr. Gilbert at the time of the preliminary inspecting, has volunteered to spend some time and ascertain the feeling of the people as to what they are disposed to do in the way of right of way. As matters stand, if the people show the proper encouragement, work on this line might be begun this fall or by next spring, and this cross line between Benson and Broton might be the first built in this locality. It appears this company is working in harmony with the Soo and when this line was completed they would have a means to ship in their ties and rails when they built east by way of Sunburg and Norway Lake to meet their present construction work out of Minneapolis.—Swift County Review.

Messrs. A. L. Preston and C. W. McWane of the A. L. Professor R. I. Smith, entomologist, North Carolina agricultural station, says: "Formalin is a very successful poison for flies in spite of many reports to the contrary. I have recently used it extensively with excellent results. The method that I have found most successful is the use of formalin in milk with the following proportions: 'One ounce (two tablespoonfuls) of formalin; sixteen ounces (one pint) of equal parts milk and water. 'In this proportion the mixture seems to attract the flies much better than when used in sweetened water. The mixture should be exposed in shallow plates. A piece of bread in the middle of the plate furnishes more space for the flies to alight and feed and in this way serves to attract a greater number of them. 'I first used this poison in a milk room where the flies were very numerous and poisoned over 5,000 flies in less than twenty-four hours on several occasions. Over a pint of flies were swept up in this room each time the poison was used. 'Another experiment was used in a large calf barn where the flies were numerous. I exposed six ordinary sized plates of the formalin poison mixture and killed about 40,000 (four quarts of flies) between 12 o'clock noon and 8 the next morning. This is only an illustration of what can be done with formalin around stables where flies are breeding. I could cite a number of cases where the formalin poison mixture has been used in uncleaned kitchens and dining rooms and resulted in killing practically all the flies. 'A good place to use this formalin is on the front and back porches, where flies are frequently numerous and waiting to enter whenever the doors are opened.'"
