"BIG TIM" SULLIVAN.

Body of Congressman Lies in Morgue for Thirteen Days.

BODY OF "BIG TIM" FOUND IN MORGUE

Congressman Sullivan Killed by a Train.

New York, Sept. 14.—"Big Tim" Sullivan, the New York politician, who rose from newsboy to congressman, is dead.

His mangled body was identified by his stepbrother, Larry Mulligan, after it had lain for thirteen days in a local morgue.

Sullivan, who was ill, eluded his nurses in the early morning of Aug. 31 and a few hours after was struck and killed by a train at Pelham Parkway.

Sullivan's body was on its way to the potter's field when the chance observation of Policeman Purfield led to its identification.

Timothy Sullivan was fifty years of age and a native of New York's East Side. About as soon as he was old enough to toddle he helped his widowed mother support herself and her five children. He grew up without schooling, "a perfect product of New York's streets, shrewd, two-fisted, blue-eyed and canny."

He kept his power because he never drank, never smoked and was always on the job. Next to Charles F. Murphy he was probably the most powerful man politically in New York and was supreme in the district south of Fourteenth street.

Sullivan was reputed to be worth $1,000,000 or more. His string of theaters was said to bring him $200,000 a year and he had large real estate

DIES ON BOARD ATLANTIC LINER

Mayor Gaynor of New York Expires in Deck Chair.

"AS CANDLE FLICKERS OUT"

Son Sends Brief but Picturesque Account of the Passing of Noted Gotham Executive.

New York, Sept. 12.—How Mayor William J. Gaynor of New York met his death on board the steamer Baltic, on which he was bound for England, was wired here by his son, Rufus W. Gaynor, who was his only traveling companion.

The picturesque head of the New York municipality succumbed to heart failure, brought on by fatigue as a result of his anxieties in the mayor's chair and the wound which he received three years ago at the hand of a discharged employe, according to the dispatches from the younger Gaynor.

The end came suddenly while the mayor sat in his deck chair on the deck of the liner. In the picturesque words of the son, "he seemed to go as a candle flickers out." Rufus W. Gaynor's message said:

"Father died at 1:07 p. m., on Wednesday, the 10th. His death was due to heart failure. He was seated in his deck chair at the time. I and the nurse and the ship's doctor were with him. I discovered him unconscious in his chair, though still alive. He died about three minutes later without recognizing any of us. Everything possible was done, but he seemed to go as a candle flickers out."

That the mayor's death had been in a weakened condition for years was the statement of physicians who treated him at the time he was shot in the neck and almost done to death by an insane discharged employe of the city in August, 1910.

Wound Hastened His Death.

They would not declare their belief that the wound inflicted by the assassin's bullet had led directly to the end, but did affirm that his general resistance had been lessened thereby to a great extent.

Plans for a public funeral, to be held probably on Monday, Sept. 22, will be made by the board of estimate. Late advices from abroad say the body will be transferred from the Baltic to the steamer Cedric, sailing from Queenstown; or, if that arrangement cannot be effected, to the Lusitania, sailing from Liverpool on Saturday, and should arrive in New York Friday or Saturday of next week.

The death of Mayor Gaynor automatically transferred the office of mayor to Colonel Archibald L. Kline, a Republican, president of the board of aldermen. Colonel Kline took the oath of office and his first official act was to call the board of estimate together to lay plans for the public funeral services of his predecessor. Mayor Kline then declared that during his short term of office, which will terminate on Jan. 1, 1914, he would carry out the policies of Mayor Gaynor, so far as he knew them.

RETURNING TO UNITED STATES

Body of Mayor Gaynor Placed on Board Liner Bound for New York.

Liverpool, Sept. 14.—The body of the late Mayor Gaynor of New York was removed from the Liverpool town hall, where it had been accorded unprecedented honors by Great Britain, and taken to the Cunard line steamer Lusitania. It was placed in the special mortuary chapel on the forward deck of the steamship. The Lusitania is due to arrive at New York on Friday, Sept. 19.

A special guard of six policemen watched over the body in the town hall throughout the night.

Later the body was re-embalmed. A death mask of the features of the mayor also was taken in accordance with instructions received from Mrs. Gaynor. The Liverpool clergy, headed by the bishop of Liverpool, persuaded Rufus Gaynor to consent to the holding of a religious service.

In the dim light of candles and in the great fog which enshrouded the hall, Rev. Theodore A. Howard, vicar of St. Mathews, conducted an impressive Church of England funeral rights over the remains.

HABEAS CORPUS FOR THAW

Federal Judge at Concord, N. H., Issues Writ.

Concord, N. H., Sept. 14.—In the United States district court in this city Judge Edgar Aldrich granted the petition of counsel for Harry K. Thaw for a writ of habeas corpus, returnable at Littleton in a few days.

Nathaniel E. Martin of this city and Merrill Shurtleff of Lancaster appeared as counsel for Thaw. The state of New York was not represented at the hearing.

Thaw conferred with counsel regarding the hearing with Governor Felker at Concord, in opposition to his extradition to the state of New York. This hearing, according to the understanding of the Thaw lawyers, will be held on Wednesday. Thaw probably will be removed to the capital Monday without further court procedure there.

OLD PHILADELPHIA.

A book printed in England at the end of the seventeenth century says that Philadelphia contained many stately houses of brick and several fine squares and courts. Between the principal towns the "watermen constantly ply their wherries." There are no beggars to be seen, nor, indeed, have any the least temptation to take up that scandalous life.

ADmits MURDER OF GIRL

Priest Taken into Custody by New York Police.

New York, Sept. 15.—With the arrest of Rev. Hans Schmidt, assistant pastor of St. Joseph's Roman Catholic church, charged with the murder of Anna Ammiller, a domestic, the mystery surrounding the finding twelve days ago of parts of the dismembered body of a girl in the Hudson river was solved.

Schmidt, according to the police, has confessed and at the time of his arrest attempted to commit suicide.

"I killed her because I loved her so much," Schmidt is alleged to have told his captors, but the police version of the motive for the crime is that the young woman was about to become a mother.

ROME, Sept. 14.—Post Wheeler of Rome, first secretary of the United States embassy here, has been summoned to Washington by the state department to explain charges on file against him there. Wheeler and Ambassador O'Brien refused to make statements.

For several weeks a rumor has been current in Rome that an American, whose name is withheld, made a complaint to the state department at Washington, accusing Wheeler of abusing his diplomatic privileges in the matters of receiving imports duty free.

WAS NOTED STRIKEBREAKER

Plattsburg, N. Y., Sept. 12.—James Farley, the noted strikebreaker and at one time the only man who ever made a profession of breaking up industrial strikes with strong arm methods, is dead. He ran away with a circus at the age of fifteen and later became a hotel manager. He started in street railway work as a coal passer. His first work at strikebreaking was on the great Brooklyn strike in 1895. Later he went all over the country breaking strikes. Since he was stricken with tuberculosis Farley has feared an attempt on his life and had an armed guard of ten men.

SULZER IS DENIED POWER TO PARDON

Jurist Decides Governor Is Regularly Impeached.

Kingston, N. Y., Sept. 12.—Justice Hasbrouck of the supreme court of the state decided that Governor Sulzer was regularly impeached and while awaiting impeachment trial was divested of the right to exercise his executive functions, including the power to pardon.

The question of the legality of Sulzer's impeachment came before Justice Hasbrouck in connection with habeas corpus proceedings brought to compel the New York city authorities to honor Governor Sulzer's pardon of Joseph G. Robin, the banker convict. He decided that Robin's pardon was invalid, quashed the writ, and sent Robin back to prison at Blackwells Island.

HOUSE ACCEPTS FREE CATTLE

Conferees Dispose of Several Schedules of Tariff Bill.

Washington, Sept. 13.—Democratic conferees of the senate and house made rapid progress on the tariff bill, approving the earthenware and glass schedules, with slight changes, the sugar schedule with its free sugar provision and the date for the new rates extended to March 1, 1914, the tobacco schedules, the lumber schedule and all agricultural schedules, with the exception of the proposed banana tax and the countervailing duty on wheat.

In the metal schedule the conferees struck the first snag and after several hours' discussion the entire matter was passed over to be taken up later.

Contrary to the general expectation little difficulty was encountered in the agricultural schedule, the house conferees agreeing to free cattle.

However, the dispute on the countervailing duty on wheat is yet to be settled.

WOMEN ARE RIDDEN DOWN

Troopers Attack Wives of Strikers, Who Make Demonstration.

Calumet, Mich., Sept. 14.—State troopers with drawn sabers rode down a mob of copper strikers. Many persons, a goodly portion of them women, were knocked down and trampled upon by the horses and several were injured, none seriously. The rioting started early in the morning when strikers and women sympathizers from all over the copper country gathered in Calumet for a big demonstration.

GIRL OF TWELVE ENDS LIFE

Mildred Rommel of St. Paul Dies After Quarrel With Sister.

Following a quarrel with an older sister, Mildred Rommel, twelve years old, of St. Paul made a successful attempt on her own life by taking carbolic acid. She died in a hospital twelve hours later.

Mildred was one of five children and was playing with the three younger than herself. During the play trouble arose and she was heard by her older sister, Ruth, sixteen years old, scolding the younger ones. Ruth immediately upbraided Mildred for her impatience with her little sisters and brothers, whereupon Mildred went into the house, picked up a dime and hurried to a drug store, where she bought the acid without being questioned.

Returning home she drained the contents of the bottle and dropped on the lawn. Dr. Edward Olander was called by Ruth, who was the first to find her sister. He took her to the hospital in his automobile, but it was too late to save her life.

Ranked at the Very Top

DAVID RANKIN was a big farmer and he knew his business. He owned the largest corn farm in the world, about 35,000 acres down in Missouri. He devoted his life to the pleasant study and practice of right farming, and he succeeded mightily, for he made $4,000,000 in the business of farming. David Rankin said: "The manure spreader is the most efficient money-maker on the place."

It's warm praise to be ranked above all other farm machines, but the spreader deserves it. Soils rebel when crop after crop is taken from them, without return of fertilizer. Return every bit of manure to the soil. The I H C manure spreader will save you much disagreeable hard labor, will spread evenly, and will make one ton go as far as two tons spread by hand.

I H C Manure Spreaders

are built to suit you, to do best work for the buyer in every case, to convince him that he has made the wisest purchase. Every detail in the construction has a purpose, for which it was made after thorough tests and experiment. They have the maximum of strength and endurance.

You will find all styles and sizes in the I H C spreader line. They will cover the ground with a light or heavy coat, as you choose, but always evenly, up hill or down. There are high and low machines, with steel frames, endless or reverse aprons, but always giving best possible service. Tractive power is assured by position of the rear wheels well under the box, carrying nearly three-fourths of the load.

SUBSISTS FOUR DAYS ON GRASS AND DIRT

Missing Tot Found in Brush by Bloodhounds.

Under a pile of brush, where she had subsisted for four days and nights by eating grass and dirt, little Beulah Ganzhorn, two and one-half years old, daughter of William Ganzhorn, was found, the searchers being led to her by bloodhounds from the St. Cloud reformatory, which traced the path taken by the child at the time she disappeared from the Ganzhorn home, eight miles west of Erskine.

Still conscious despite the four days' hardship the little child's appeal to searchers who found her for her mother. "I want to go to mamma," cried the child piteously, her face and clothing covered with dirt and lying almost helpless on the ground.

Her face a mass of scratches, her little arms sore and her whole body bearing evidence of the frightful experience through which she had been the long exposure is declared by physicians to be one of the most remarkable on record. To reach the place where she was found, traversed at least a mile of thickest kind of underbrush.

JAMES MARSHALL IS DEAD

Well Known as Father of the Grain Trade.

James Marshall, former president of the Minneapolis chamber of commerce and survivor of the battle of Acton in the Indian uprising of 1862, who came into the territory of Minnesota in 1855 in an oxcart and was identified through an active lifetime with the development of the grain trade in the Northwest, died after an illness of four months at his home at Deephaven, Lake Minnetonka. He passed his seventy-eighth birthday March 4.

It was as the father of the grain trade that he was more widely known commercially, for he was identified with the grain business in days when there were no railroads and no places of exchange and when the farmers brought their grain many miles in ox-carts to the Mississippi river banks for transportation to market on the steamers of early days.

MINNESOTAN RESIGNS PLACE

Representative Anderson Quits Ways and Means Committee.

As a climax of the vigorous Republican condemnation of Democratic legislative methods which has marked the currency debate Representative Sydney Anderson of Minnesota, on the floor of the house, resigned as a member of the powerful ways and means committee.

In a speech bitterly assailing legislation by caucus action through the partisan consideration of the Underwood tariff bill and the Glass currency bill in committees Representative Anderson declared that the "system of legislation established here" made his efforts on the committee a "farce and a fraud."

BOY SHOT WHILE HUNTING.

Companion Carried Him Two Miles Futile Attempt to Save Life.

Accidentally shot while out hunting birds with several companions, Theodore Maki, ten years of age, was carried nearly two miles by Dewey Knutson, seventeen, to the Ely hospital, where he died.

The boys, in company with two other lads, set out armed with .22-caliber rifles. The youngster's gun caught on a bush and as he turned to dislodge it it was discharged, the bullet passing through his left side near the heart.

Young Knutson was the only one of the companions who stayed. The others were too frightened to offer the victim any assistance. Picking up the wounded boy he carried him to the hospital.
