IVERSON IN THE RACE

Announces His Candidacy For Governor

ON THE REPUBLICAN TICKET

Issues Statement Giving His Ideas of How State Government Ought to Be Run--Urges Economy and Law Enforcement, Extension of Civil Service, Publicity of Public Business, Woman's Suffrage and Industrial Development.

Samuel G. Iverson, State Auditor, has entered the race for the Republican nomination for Governor against Gov. Eberhart's aspirations for a third elective term. The Willmar Tribune received Iverson's announcement yesterday, from which we make the following extracts:

"To the People of Minnesota: I am a candidate for the Republican nomination for Governor. I fully appreciate the responsibilities of that great office, and its manifold duties as defined in the Constitution and laws. To be of value to the State a man must personally devote his entire time and energy to the work of the State, be fully informed as to its laws, and the actual business of the different institutions, departments and commissions, and see that the State's interest shall be economically administered and the laws of the State enforced.

"I have been in the service of the public continuously since I was twenty-one years old: in 1881 Postmaster of Rushford, Minnesota, my native city; member of the 1887 Legislature, State Auditor's Accountant, Deputy State Treasurer, Deputy State Auditor, and State Auditor since January 1904.

ECONOMY AND LAW ENFORCEMENT.

"Economy and Law Enforcement, are, in my opinion, among the paramount issues demanded by the people of Minnesota at this time. We need to call a halt in all public expenditures, give due consideration to the institutions we now have and apply common sense business principles to their management. We need to become acquainted with the laws now on our statute books and see that they are rigidly enforced. In recent years we have established many new governmental functions, with new buildings, new boards and commissions. They are all for meritorious purposes and demanded by the people, but many of them were created without any thought of harmonizing with other departments performing a similar service. A multiplicity of such bureaus tends to both inefficiency and waste. There should be a thorough reorganization and co-ordination of all departments with the certain result of greater efficiency and economy. Since the State was formed we had expended, up to July 31st, 1912, for new buildings alone, the sum of $22,454,024.46. Of that sum $12,521,333.37, or fifty-five per cent was expended during the last ten years. In the fiscal year of 1900 the state expenditures paid from the Revenue Fund were $2,924,785.89, or a per capita cost of $1.67 on 1,751,000, the population in that year. In the year 1910 the expenditures were $6,868,836.61, or a per capita cost of $3.21 on 2,075,000, the population of that year. From 1900 to 1910 the State's population increased eighteen and one-half per cent while the expenditures increased one hundred thirty-four per cent. Our people do not want parsimony, but it is time to pause in the erection of new buildings, and provide only for the actual needs of the unfortunate wards of the State, and reduce department expenses wherever it is possible.

"We need fewer boards and commissions, not more. Intelligent Economy means: Cut out every needless public expense; reduce taxation; protect public health; develop water resources and promote manufacturing and shipping; conserve and restore natural resources; to build up agriculture and farm life; to defend wage workers and salaried men, women and children, from the greed and avarice of soulless employers; to aid in reclaiming and settling uncultivated lands; to foster such transportation laws as will give every community, large or small, an equal chance for existence, and in general to inculcate the doctrine of the Golden Rule among our citizens in all vocations.

"Minnesota has an enlightened citizenship. We have enacted many progressive laws, designed for the welfare and protection of our people. But these laws are not self-enforcing. The people select servants or officers and employ courts to enforce the laws. Neglect of duty by a public officer, under our laws, comes under the heading of 'Crime against the integrity of the State' (Sec. 4796, R. L. 1905). The Governor is charged in the Constitution (Sec. 4, Art. 5) with the enforcement of the laws in the following words: 'He shall take care that the laws be faithfully executed.' A vigorous exercise of such laws by the proper officers will prove very wholesome. Public officers who willfully neglect or refuse to enforce the laws within their jurisdiction should be promptly suspended and, if found guilty, removed from office. Wanton disregard for law, whether of a village, city, state or nation, is an attack upon the very foundation of self-government. Law enforcement is of supreme importance at this time. The liquor traffic should be compelled to observe every law for its regulation. This can be done in every village or city in the State, if proper means are employed. Laws to permit trusts and combinations in restraint of trade should be rigidly

ILLINOISANS LOOK TOWARDS MINNESOTA

Minnesota Exhibit at Illinois State Fair Attracts Much Interest.

Fred D. Sherman, Commissioner of Immigration for Minnesota, sends the Willmar Tribune the following interesting item: "Minnesota is attracting thousands of home-seekers this year. The bulk of these come from the states of Iowa, Illinois and Indiana. The Minnesota exhibit at the state fairs of Illinois and Indiana were particularly attractive to the farmers of those states and daily people are visiting Minnesota in search of moderate priced lands who received their first inspiration to seek a home in the North Star State, by visiting the Minnesota exhibits during their state fairs. At Illinois last week thousands of names of prospective Minnesota home-seekers were registered by the men in charge of the Springfield exhibit and literature setting forth Minnesota's great advantages as a place in which to acquire a home at moderate cost, will be mailed to them from the State Board of Immigration office of St. Paul. The people living in the territory of high priced $175 and $225 an acre land in the states above mentioned, are looking for an opportunity to secure a home where it does not require so much cash to make a start, and within a short time there will be a large increase in the movement towards Minnesota and the moderate priced lands. In Illinois last week at the State Fair, hundreds of farm renters and factory men visited the Minnesota exhibit booth and stated freely that they were going to make a trip to Minnesota in the near future, with a view of taking advantage of the great opportunities offered here for homebuilding. All of them have some means but not enough to start a home within the states of high priced lands. The interest shown in favor of Minnesota at the Illinois State Fair far exceeded any and all expectations."
