PROHIBITIONIST AT COLUMBUS

Hon. W. G. Calderwood Viewed Anti-Saloon Gathering.

FOR NATIONAL PROHIBITION

Leading Minnesota Prohibitionist Declares A. S. League Has Taken Step Forward—No Plans Discussed at Convention—Says League is a Close Corporation, Where Policies are Unresponsive to Will of the People or Churches of Which it is Supposed to be Composed.

(By W. G. Calderwood)

It was, without doubt, the greatest convention ever held by the Anti-saloon league, and it made more really important history in the fight for the total and final overthrow of the liquor traffic in four days than it has made in the preceding twenty years of its history. Nor is that statement intended to suggest that the past twenty years of its activity have been of no historic importance. Now read slowly—The Anti-saloon league held a four day convention, and there was hardly a speaker that did not go on record fairly, squarely, emphatically for immediate and total national prohibition.

The convention was not large—that is when the expectations of the promoters of the great Jubilee convention are considered. In attendance it was but little larger at any time, and no larger most of the time than the Prohibition National Convention held in the same hall in 1908. The hall seats 5,000 people, and was never more than four-fifths full—minimum attendance of 4,000. This is but a fifth of the expected attendance. And this attendance came largely from Ohio. Minnesota had ten representatives at the meeting. This recent meeting raised $30,048, covering a period of five years, $6,000 per year, and over $1,600 cash. The convention was notable for its personal. There were governors, congressmen, senators, bishops, big business men and notables of all walks of life. Its rank and file were the finest of the earth—clean, hopeful, cultured, purposeful. The strength and beauty of character, and the bearing of the aristocracy "common folk" was the character of the crowd. The speeches were delightful but disappointing. Not a man of mean or even mediocre platform ability faced the crowd, and the majority were speakers of the first magnitude, and some were glaring meteors in the forensic sky. David said "Thou comest to me with a sword, and with a spear, and with a shield; but I come to thee in the name of the Lord of hosts, the God of the armies of Israel whom thou hast defied. This day will the Lord deliver thee into mine hand; and I will smite thee, and I will take thee and thy kinsmen, and I will give thee to the carcasses of the hosts of the Philistines this day unto the fowls of the air, and the beasts of the earth; that all the earth may know that there is a God in Israel"—AND THEN HE SLUNG!

The orators of this occasion uncorked the vials of their vitriolic wrath and unlimbered the thunderbolt of their ponderous anathemas against the vile and slimy monster who, even as they sat there was bathing his greedy teeth in the blood and glutting its capacious maw on the hearts of the Sons of Man. Mostly they vied with each other making faces at him.

Let us, the Prohibition party profited. While I think we have not so grievously erred, mayhap we have. The purposes of our conventions would cover the failure, which in this gathering stood forth naked and repulsive. Our conventions transact business, elect committees, nominate tickets, discuss and adopt platforms, and at least make the motions of a working program that sends each individual home with some use for the enthusiast with which he has been entrusted. This convention was called to make a dictionary defining the liquor traffic. They made it. It is the best of its kind ever compiled. But like the stutterer who was taught to say "Peter Pan picks pecks of prickly pears" without a single stut found the sentence "h-h-har-t-t-o-f-f-t-t-t-t-o c-c-c-o-n-v-e-r-s-e-a-t-i-o-n" so this dictionary was not made to fit into the vernacular of practical politics. The determination to fight for constitutional prohibition is too general to be of the slightest use in teaching the "How" to the man or woman who wants to do something that will COUNT.

And probably the fundamental error of the internal government of the League itself is largely responsible for this. In stricter sense this was no "convention." The "delegates" are only spectators. The government is not democratic, of the people; it is not even republican, or representa-

How to Use Peruna for Coughs and Colds

If Peruna were used at the beginning of every cold, coughs would generally be prevented. After the cough begins Peruna will generally stop it just as quickly as it ought to be stopped. To stop a cough before all of the excitement has been removed is to do great injury. After the expectation has been properly removed the cough will stop itself. That is the only proper way to stop a cough.

Occasionally a cough depends upon an irritable condition of the larynx or bronchial tubes, in which there is little or no expectoration. The problem of stopping such a cough is a slightly different one. Even in those cases Peruna ought to be taken, but sometimes it is necessary that local treatment be added. Every one who has a troublesome cough or a lingering cold should write the Peruna Company, Columbus, Ohio, for a free copy of the "I'lls of Life." There is no free pamphlet distributed—day of more real value to the sick and afflicted than the new "I'lls of Life." It is filled from cover to cover with actual cases of coughs, colds and other climatic diseases in all stages of their progress. You could scarcely fail to find your case exactly described in this book.

To neglect to do everything possible to get rid of a stubborn cold or chronic cough is very unwise indeed. Every one who has a cough or cold should use Peruna as a remedy in such cases for thirty or forty years. As a rule, a person who uses one bottle of it is always afterwards a permanent advocate of Peruna. Peruna itself is a means of selling more Peruna than all advertisements put together.

Those who object to liquid medicines can now obtain Peruna Tablets. Paid Advertisement.

The trustees are the sole legislative, judicial, and executive arm of the government of the organization, and they are a close corporation, with no possibility of the people or churches of which the League states it is composed reaching them. So far as determining the objects of or shaping the policies of the League are concerned the delegates, and superintendents of the League (except those of the trustees) might as well be in Egypt. It is true that a certain few resolutions were voted upon by the delegates, just as a general meeting of the League in Ohio. Minnesota had ten representatives at the meeting. This recent meeting raised $30,048, covering a period of five years, $6,000 per year, and over $1,600 cash. The convention was notable for its personal. There were governors, congressmen, senators, bishops, big business men and notables of all walks of life. Its rank and file were the finest of the earth—clean, hopeful, cultured, purposeful. The strength and beauty of character, and the bearing of the aristocracy "common folk" was the character of the crowd. The speeches were delightful but disappointing. Not a man of mean or even mediocre platform ability faced the crowd, and the majority were speakers of the first magnitude, and some were glaring meteors in the forensic sky. David said "Thou comest to me with a sword, and with a spear, and with a shield; but I come to thee in the name of the Lord of hosts, the God of the armies of Israel whom thou hast defied. This day will the Lord deliver thee into mine hand; and I will smite thee, and I will take thee and thy kinsmen, and I will give thee to the carcasses of the hosts of the Philistines this day unto the fowls of the air, and the beasts of the earth; that all the earth may know that there is a God in Israel"—AND THEN HE SLUNG!

OBITUARY

BERTHA BRUSKE.
We regret that through some oversight we failed to publish this obituary in the last week's issue of the Tribune. Miss Bruske came to the Willmar hospital from her home at Hazel Run about two weeks ago and was operated upon for gall stones on the morning of Nov. 12. The shock of the operation proved to be too much for her and she passed away the following night. The body was taken to Hazel Run the next day where a funeral was held. Mrs. D. A. Ottefahl of this city is a sister of the deceased.

West Central Minnesota Development Meeting.

All persons interested in the development of Kandiyohi county should meet at the Willmar Commercial Club Rooms, Tuesday, Dec. 2, 1:30 p. m. This meeting will be held for the purpose of organizing a county farm bureau. Mr. F. E. Balmer of Morris, supervisor of the county agents, will address the meeting. Every progressive farmer or business man should make it a point to be present and boost.

NEW LONDON TIMES

Miss Inga Lund returned last Saturday from a week's visit with friends at Willmar.

Wm. Rose left last Saturday for the northern part of the state to spend a few days deer hunting. Later: He arrived home with his deer last evening.

The Pete Lindahl family arrived here from Willmar Wednesday, and will spend the winter in Lake Andrew township where Mr. Lindahl will assist the Thompson Bros. sawing lumber.

A ten and a half pound girl came to gladden the home of Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Thonvold of Kerkhoven on Nov. 17, and both mother and little one are doing very well. We have since noticed J. M. Monson strutting around town holding his head a trifle higher than usual, and wearing the happy smile of a new grandpa.

A HEROIC RESOLUTION

Full Text of Dr. Dominguez' Resolution Which Cost Him His Life in Mexico.

By law the Mexican Congress is in session half the year, from April 1 to June 30, and from September 15 to December 15. The Congress has two houses, the Senate and the Deputies, modeled after ours, except that the Senate is elected for four years instead of six. At present there are, for a full Congress, 52 Senators and about 250 Deputies.

The Congress that elected Huerta was that of the prolonged autumnal session of last year; and its three groups had different motives for consenting to his usurpation. The Clerical, or reactionary members, voted for him because of their hate for democracy; the Moderates voted for him because of his promise to pacify the country in two months; while the Radicals were terrorized into acquiescence by Huerta's soldiers. In a few days after Huerta's installation the Congress adjourned its session.

When the spring session opened in April few radicals (Maderistas) were in attendance, since most had fled abroad or north to join Carranza. The remaining Maderistas, aside from a few who felt obliged to stay in Congress in order to support their families, were Gustavistas, or the more selfish radicals, who had followed the mercenary Gustav Madero rather than the altruistic Francisco Madero during the Madero regime. The main body of Deputies was divided into clericals and Moderates or Felicistas, the followers of Felix Diaz. The Senate was almost solidly clerical and supported Huerta, in whatever he chose to do.

After the adjournment of Congress in July, Huerta began to throw off all restraint and to develop the white terror which has since prevailed. About July 15, sixteen political prisoners were shipped to the more secluded Cuernavaca, from the penitentiary of Mexico City, and there shot by a firing squad, commanded by Major Abasco. The dead included five Federal Deputies, a Liberal priest, and Castanon y Campo Verde, a distinguished lawyer from Morelos. At the time the muzzled press gave no hint of this official crime; but when Castanon was missed, they told of his having been accidentally shot by a band of bandits.

The plight of the Liberal Deputies when they reconvened on September 16 resembled that of the sheep that had admitted a wolf to the fold to be their leader. On counting heads eleven Deputies were found to have been slain by wolf Huerta during the summer. They all began to ask each other, Who next? Huerta now found the Deputies intractable to his whims. They refused to allow Deputy Tamayo to become Minister of Public Instruction (because he was a Clerical) and they balked at the whitewashing of Limanour, finance minister of the Diaz regime.

The interdiction of Tamariz especially irritated Huerta, not only as a Clerical, but as a monomaniac for kaleidoscopic changes in his official entourage. As an example, the recent governor of the Federal district, who had retired one night in apparent high favor, was surprised on reading his morning newspaper next day to discover that his resignation from office had just "been accepted."

About October 1, Dr. Bellisario Dominguez, senator from Chihuahua, introduced in the Senate a remarkable resolution, whose translation in full is as follows: "An affair, most urgent for the public well impels me to dispense with the usual formalities, and urge it at once on the Senate. "Senior Senators: You have all read with deep interest the message of Sr. Huerta to Congress on September 16. Doubtless the heap of falsehoods this document contained has made you as indignant as myself. Was Congress thereby deceived? Assuredly not. For we are not all of us well educated in political and current events. The attempt was made to deceive the nation, which, confiding in our honor, has entrusted us with its dearest interests. What must we do to deserve such confidence and not fall into the abyss opening before us?"

"During Sr. Huerta's government not only has nothing been done for peace, but the situation is now worse than ever. The revolution has extended nearly everywhere; many nations, formerly friendly, now call our government illegal; our currency is depreciated; our credit is demoralized; the entire national press is either terrorized or accepting cowardly subsidies to hide the truth; our fields are deserted; our towns are demolished, and finally hunger and misery threaten to rapidly overwhelm the whole fatherland. What causes this sad situation?"

cannot be reconciled to have Huerta as President. The soldier who first acted on his accession, and whose first act was the murder of the President and Vice-President, both legally elected by popular vote. And this, after Huerta had vowed undying loyalty to Madero in return for the promotions and distinctions heaped upon him.

"Second, because Huerta has adopted death and butchery as his sole means of pacification. Peace will be made, whatever the cost," said Huerta, "we have since experienced the ferocious significance of this statement. Huerta will shed rivers of Mexican blood and heap our land with corpses rather than abate one tittle of his wicked personal ambition and illegal hold on the Presidency."

"In his insane attempt to retain his usurpation, Huerta is committing another infamy by quarreling with the United States. If this results in war it will mean the total death of any Mexicans surviving the Huerta butcheries. All will give their lives except Huerta and General Blanquet, for these miscreants are so stained with treason that both people and army will repudiate them in this event."

"To timid minds our ruin seems inevitable, for Huerta is so wedded to power that to assure the triumph of his official candidates in the coming parody of an election (on October 26) he has violated the sovereignty of nearly every state by ousting the constitutional governors and substituting his military creatures."

"But a supreme effort can yet save all. If Congress will do its duty the country will be rescued for a grand, united and respected future. Huerta must be deposed, for against him are our brothers fighting, and peace cannot pass over his body. They tell me, Senators, that my resolution is dangerous, because Huerta is a bloody and ferocious soldier, who murders at once and without scruple all those who oppose his will. But should the risk or even the certainty of death prevent us from doing our duty?"

"In your anxiety to see peace prevail once more in Mexico you made the mistake of believing Huerta's promise to pacify the country in two months, and chose him President. Today, since he has proved himself an impostor, incompetent and vile, who is rushing the country to ruin, you should cease to fear death and work to depose him."

"Consider, Senators, and answer me this question. What would be said of the crew of a great ship if, in the midst of a violent tempest, they should choose for pilot a butcher, who, quite ignorant of navigation, had as sole recommendation his betrayal and murder of the ship's captain?"

"Your duty, Senators, is clear, and our country hopes you will fulfill it. If you remove the President, the rebel leaders will consent to suspend hostilities and help you to choose a provisional President, by whom the elections will be conducted in a legal manner. The world and our country await your action, Senators! Will you have longer as first magistrate, a traitor and assassin?"

"Though the reactionary Senate refused to adopt Dr. Dominguez' resolution, its introduction soon became known and thousands of typewritten copies were secretly circulated throughout the city. Before another week had passed, Dr. Dominguez was arrested in his home at midnight by the secret police, and it seems certain that he now fills a martyr's grave."

On October 9 the Chicago Deputies introduced in the Federal chamber a motion for the appointment of a committee to investigate the disappearance of Dr. Dominguez, which was adopted. The next day the Deputies in session were surrounded by soldiers and, on their refusal to recall the Clericals were arrested and marched between files of soldiers to the penitentiary.

Only one Senator, Salvador Gomez of Jalisco, was imprisoned with the Deputies. Huerta asked the Senate to continue its sessions; but as a single chamber had no constitutional status, this request was not granted. By the destruction of Congress, the Dictator also destroyed his only title to his own office.

The order of arrest included 110 Deputies, but only 84 are believed to have been captured. The present plight of the jailed Deputies is desperate, as any or all may be murdered at ease whenever the drunk demon aarouses in Huerta the lust for blood. A prolonged debauch, undertaken to drown the disgrace of the fall of Torreon, is believed to have made Huerta reckless as to perpetrate the coup d'etat.

The resolution of Dr. Dominguez surpasses even Zola's "J'accuse" in heroism. Before its publication, Dr. Dominguez prepared for death, by making his will and taking leave of his family and friends. Such a patriot would do honor to any country, and he appears in "Barbarous Mexico." In him we had the reincarnation of that glorious spirit of ancient Rome, whose motto was "Dulce est pro patria mori."—From a Resident Observer, in The Public.

TYPEWRITER SUPPLIES

Ready for Delivery at Willmar

THE WEBSTER MULTI-KOPY CARBON PAPERS

It is no longer necessary to depend upon outside houses for various kinds of typewriter supplies. The Tribune Printing Company started a year ago to keep a full assortment of typewriter ribbons, carbon paper, typewriting paper, etc., and the success we have met has encouraged us to gradually increase our stock. We handle first-class articles which will give good service, and our prices are right. We keep our stock assorted so you depend on getting what you want when you want it. Remember that cheap ribbons and carbons are dear at any price.

RIBBONS.
For all makes of typewriter and adding machines. We carry blue, black, purple and 2-color ribbons, both record and copying. Our ribbons are made from specially imported tape and colored with vegetable dyes which will not smut finger nor destroy the wearing qualities of the fabric as acid dyes will. Every ribbon is numbered and accompanied by guarantee.

CARBON PAPERS.
Blue, purple or black, medium or very light. Also pencil carbons, one or two sides or in large sheets for tracing purposes.

CARBON BINDERS AND ECONOMIZERS.
Usually one never gets the full value of carbon papers because they wrinkle and are thus spoiled for manifold long before copies get out. A new patent binder is now made which keeps the carbon sheet flat and holds the sheets in place when manifolded. We have them for one, two, three, four, five and six copies. Our carbons will not smut your fingers. With these binders one inserts letter-head or original blank sheet under flap on top of binder, and sheet for copy under the carbon. The binder with sheets inserted can then be handled as a single sheet. A special advantage in using these binders is that forms for the day's work can be laid up ahead when convenient, thus saving time in the busiest part of the day. Carbon paper used in this way lasts 50 per cent longer than when used in loose sheets.

BERKSHIRE TYPEWRITER PAPER.
We have a stock of the Berkshire brand of typewriter paper. These papers are manufactured expressly for typewriter work. They combine all the qualities of strength, durability and fineness of texture most essential to good work on the various writing machines.

MANUSCRIPT COVERS.
Stationery Printed to Order. Any kind you want.

TYPEWRITER OIL.
Guaranteed non-gumming.

ART DEPARTMENT.
We have an art department for all kinds of commercial designing. Let us get up something neat and distinctive for your office.

BLANK BOOKS AND BINDING.
We have made connections with a first-class independent bindery to do our work in this line. We can meet all competition in this line of work, both in quality and price.
