NEW APPEAL TO WILSON

Governor of Colorado Desires Federal Aid in Settling Strike. Denver, May 18.—Federal aid in bringing about a settlement of the Colorado coal miners' strike is desired by Governor Ammons, even if President Wilson carries out his intimation that federal troops soon may be withdrawn from the strike districts, the governor announced.

The governor's announcement followed an interchange of telegrams with President Wilson, in which the president expressed a wish that Colorado should regulate its difficulties without United States troops.

Officials of the United Mine Workers of America said if the federal troops were withdrawn the union would protest to Washington.

OF INTEREST TO SCANDINAVIANS

News Gathered in the Fatherland and Elsewhere.

LAND OF THE MIDNIGHT SUN

Sweden of Peculiar Interest to Tourists From May 15 to Sept. 15—Language Question Uppermost in Norway at Present—George Brandes, Danish Writer, to Lecture in Chicago.

SWEDEN.

A widely prevalent misconception is that on account of the climate only the middle of summer is suitable for travel in Sweden. This is radically wrong, as every one who has spent a year, or the better part of one, in Sweden. In the southern part spring begins as early as May, and the summer lasts almost until October. The Swedish spring time is most delectable, with its balmy breezes and exquisite fragrance of budding flowers and trees. Nor does the "Indian summer" in September lack in attractiveness, displaying the gorgeous autumnal color schemes of the forests and bringing in its wake the revival of social activities in the towns, which are hardly less interesting to observe than the rural life and scenery in the height of the summer season. Travelers may, therefore, with advantage visit the country at any time between the middle of May and the middle of September. This applies to the southern part of Sweden, for, farther north, the summers are comparatively brief. Those who wish to enjoy the wonderful lights must come to Sweden about the middle of June. These so-called "white nights" are a peculiarly interesting feature. As summer advances, it grows lighter the farther north one goes. North of the Arctic circle the sun flames in the heavens the whole day and night. In Southern Sweden the deep twilight, which passes for night at midsummer time, does not last more than four or five hours, and at Stockholm only about two hours. Some distance north of the capital we find it perfectly light all through the twenty-four hours, and at Gallivare, Kiruna and Abisko (all from Stockholm) the sun can be seen in the sky at midnight, i. e., the entire night. The midnight sun is visible at Gallivare from June 5 to July 11.

DENMARK.

George Brandes, who has been called the "greatest man in Danish literature," has accepted the invitation of the Danish-American Association of Chicago to give two lectures in that city on May 23 and 24. Both lectures will be held in Orchestra hall in the afternoon. This is the first and undoubtedly the last time that George Brandes will visit America, as he is already an old man, having attained an age of seventy-two years. In this connection it may be interesting to know that Brandes contemplated a visit to Russia recently, but was informed that he would not be allowed to enter the country owing to the fact that he is of Jewish descent. George Brandes was born Feb. 4, 1842. After his graduation from the University of Copenhagen in 1869 he commenced the practice of law, but it was soon evident that his mind ran only in literary channels and he was forced to give up his law practice, which never really did amount to anything. Brandes has become famous as an author and literary critic and is well known in England, where his name is a household word in all literary circles.

Bech-Olsen took his circus to Sweden, but met with bad luck. At Udevalla the Conservatives had rented all the halls to prevent the Liberals from holding any political meetings. The latter asked Bech-Olsen to rent out his tent to them. But he did not dare to mix up in politics. So the Liberals used his tent anyway, which made him so disgusted that he returned to Denmark double quick.

The Roman Catholic church in Copenhagen, Denmark, has been very active in the last few weeks. A great rally of the temperance people is to be held in Copenhagen this summer to celebrate the founding of these first organizations and to make an impression for governmental prohibition. The persons in charge hope to have a procession of 50,000 persons or more.

MARION S. NORELIUS.

VESUVIUS BECOMES ACTIVE

Ancient Crater Belches Great Volume of Vapor and Flames. Naples, May 17.—Mount Vesuvius again is active. A high column of vapor and tongues of flame are coming out of the crater.

Ever since Norway was conquered by the Danes it has been a bilingual, or two-language, nation, but now the people wish to be free from the language imposed upon them by their conquerors and to adopt in its stead the "Landmaal, or modified native speech," says the Pathfinder. Landmaal is not a mere revision of the existing language—Danish—but it is an entirely different language. In it are embodied much of the ancient Norse of the sagas, and some of the dialects which have survived among the peasantry from the days of the Vikings. It was invented by the eminent Norwegian philologist, Ivar Aasen, about the year 1850. Aasen succeeded so well in producing a musical, poetic language that it has found much favor with the people, who have adopted it in the schools, churches, songs, plays and vernacular. It also appeals to the patriotic side of their nature. On the other hand, the corrupted Danish, which for more than 400 years has been the official language of the country, recalls to the minds of the people the days of Danish oppression when Norway was subject to the rule of an alien monarch who had robbed her of independence. For the reason it is extremely distasteful to them. Indeed, his Danish birth is said to be the only ground for the unpopularity of King Haakon's rule, wise and considerate though it is. King Haakon, it will be recalled, was a Danish prince. He was put on the Norwegian throne when Norway cut loose from Sweden. The centennial anniversary of Norway's independence as a nation is now being celebrated and it is hoped by many of the most patriotic people that Landmaal will be adopted as the official language of the country and thus signalize the national rejoicing in honor of the occasion. The plan is heartily favored by the press and by the majority of the storting, or parliament, and of the people. Numerous instances in which governments have forced a language upon a people have been recorded, but this, it is said, will be the first time in history when the people have compelled their rulers to abandon a language and adopt a new one.

The celebration this month of the centennial of the independence of Norway from Denmark will also commemorate 100 years of peace on the Scandinavian peninsula. An expedition to show Norway's progress in the last century was opened by King Haakon last Friday. In a pavilion called "Norway Abroad" Norwegians are showing their countrymen the life they lead in their adopted country. There will be a great homecoming gathering of Norwegian-Americans and preparations are being made to entertain at least 50,000 people.

A society of Swedish composers was formed the other day in Stockholm. The charter members of the organization are Hugo Alfvén, Kurt Atterberg, Nat. Berg, Ruben Liljefors, Oscar Lindberg, Tur Rangstrom and Wilhelm Stenhammar. Conspicuous by their absence were Andersson, Halen, Otto Sjogren, Ole Morales, August, Sven and Felix Koerling, Alfred Berg, Otto Olson, Wilhelm Peterson-Berger and others quite prominent. The object of the society will be to further common practical and artistic interests, without regard to individual difference of schools or style.

A seaman's mission church was dedicated in Rotterdam on March 1. The dedicatory act was performed by Bishop Dannel of Sweden. He was assisted by the legation pastors of London and Paris, Lindskog and Renstrom. Rotterdam is the largest and most important Swedish port in foreign lands. This Swedish seaman's church is centrally located and has a large and commodious library and reading room. During the last year over 4,000 Swedish seamen landed at Rotterdam and remained for different periods.

The number of telephones in use in Sweden is about 170,000. In Stockholm there is one apparatus for every 100 inhabitants. In regard to the cities of the world, in respect to developing its telephone service to the highest possible degree of perfection Sweden has always taken a leading part among the progressive nations and its system has often been used as a model by foreign governments and public service corporations.

The clergy of the state church of Sweden have selected three candidates for the archbishopric lately made vacant by the death of Archbishop Ekman. They are Bishop Dannel, who received the greatest number of votes; Bishop Eklund and Professor Nathan Sodeblom of Upsala. Of these three one is to be elected.

Crown Prince Gustave Adolphus of Sweden may attend the Panama-Pacific exposition at San Francisco. The prince is anxious to go to the United States and will do so unless the health of his father or the political situation in Sweden should interfere with his project.

There are mighty few illiterates in Sweden. The latest census showed 785,000 children in the primary school taught by 19,400 teachers at an annual expense of $14.05 per child.
