VON SCHENK TO COLLECT FORTUNE

Henry Von Schenk Contemplating A Trip to Germany to Look After An Inheritance.

Henry Von Schenk came down from Bobbels, N. Dak., recently to visit his old home in this county, for a short time, and to consult regarding the immense fortune which he believes he has inherited in Hesse, Germany. His father, Adolphus A. Schenk, an early settler of Irving and Green Lake, was a baronet's son who left home account of some family difficulty. Henry claims that his brother, William, who lives at Eagle Bend has some papers which will establish their claims to the estate. Henry does not anticipate any trouble in reaching Germany should he decide to make a trip there before the war ends, as his rights as a native born American citizen would protect him from the British. It is a big contract that Von Schenk undertakes if he goes to rush the British lines, collect his fortune in the Kaiser's domain and return with his treasures to the Land of the Free.

Cream, Butter and Yellow. Scientific experiments have demonstrated that, contrary to the general belief, the yellow color of cream and butter is not necessarily an indication of their richness. It was discovered long ago that most vegetable matter contains a yellow substance called "carrotin" because it exists abundantly in carrots. It is this substance contained in the cow's feed that gives rise to the color of milk and butter. Carrotin is most abundant in the green forage available in spring and summer, so that milk and butter produced then are more yellow than in the winter, although the percentage of fat in winter milk often is higher than in the rich looking product obtained in summer.

Battleship Masts. There is a most excellent reason for the peculiar construction of open work masts in the United States battleships. The reason is found in the fact of their superior efficiency. They can be shot away to the tune of about three-fourths of their original material and still hold, whereas the solid mast is liable to be completely shot away, and that in short order.—New York American.

A WASTED LIFE. In every conceivable set of circumstances on earth a beautiful life can be lived. Epictetus was a crippled slave, yet so noble was his soul that he had an emperor as his disciple. Circumstances do not produce a wasted life. The wasting must be done by the man himself. "No life is wasted," said Huxley, "unless it ends in sloth, dishonesty or cowardice."

IT PAYS TO ADVERTISE

Finnish Respect For the Law. In Finland there is a deep and prevailing respect for law.

"Can I have a shot at an elk?" asked a stranger of a peasant who lived on the fringe of a forest well stocked with this noble game.

"No, sir. It's against the law."

"What is the penalty?"

"Two hundred Finnish marks."

"All right. Will you come along with me if I agree to pay the fine?"

"No, I won't. It's against the law, and I'm not going to break it."—Russian Characteristics.

Persuasive. Far from concealing anything of pertinency to the issue, the old serpent freely confessed that if Eve should eat the apple it meant clothes from that time forward.

"But," he argued and never more cogently, "clothes will be something to talk about when you are tired of the weather and don't happen to be particularly brany."

And the first mother, bethinking her how many of her daughters were destined to find themselves in such circumstances, thereupon yielded the point, with what result is only too well known to the present generation of mankind.—Boston Journal.

Unique Tablecloth. When a southeast wind is blowing the visitor to Cape Town is treated to a peculiar and interesting natural phenomenon, for under such conditions Table mountain, in the language of the natives, "puts on a tablecloth."

In other words, the thin line of fecy cloud forming above it descends until it rests flat upon the mountain top, with its edges drooping gracefully over its sides. It is really not unlike the article of household use which gives it its name.

Parchment. The parchment used for drumheads is prepared from the skins of donkeys, calves, goats and wolves, and that for writing purposes from the skins of sheep. The polishing is done with pumice stone.

An Artist. "Your son, sir, has a very effective touch." "So's he's been borrowing from you too!"—Baltimore American.

Making Fur. The first step in tanning a skin with the hair on is to stretch it tight and smooth, flesh side up, on a board and tack it by the edges to its place. Scrape off the loose flesh and fat with a blunt knife and work in chalk freely with plenty of hard rubbing. When the chalk begins to powder and fall off remove the skin from the board, rub in plenty of alum, wrap up close and keep in a dry place for a few days. By this means it will be made pliable and will retain the hair.—Philadelphia Press.

People Say To Us "I cannot eat this or that food, it does not agree with me." Our advice to all of them is to take a Rexall Dyspepsia Tablet before and after each meal. 25c box. Carlson Bros.

THICK, GLOSSY HAIR FREE FROM DANDRUFF

Girl! Try It! Her hair gets soft, fluffy and beautiful—Get a 25 cent bottle of Danderine.

If you care for heavy hair that glitters with beauty and is radiant with life; has an incomparable softness and is fluffy and lustrous, try Danderine. Just one application doubles the beauty of your hair, besides it immediately dissolves every particle of dandruff. You can not have nice healthy, heavy hair if you have dandruff. This destructive scourge robs the hair of its lustre, its strength and its very life, and if not overcome it produces a feverishness and itching of the scalp; the hair roots famish, loosen and die; then the hair falls out fast. Surely get a 25-cent bottle of Knowlton's Danderine from any drug store and just try it.
