The Old Showman

He Tells How He Invented a New Animal. By M. QUAD. Copyright, 1916, by the McClure Newspaper Syndicate. "Gentlemen," began the old showman...

Two Medical Men. Some time ago during a performance Sir Herbert Tree had the misfortune to slip while going from his dressing room to the stage and injure his shoulder rather badly. He was in great pain, but pluckily determined to go through with his part, and just as he was about to make his entrance on the stage he whispered to some one in the wings: "Send for a doctor!"

When Your Foot is Asleep. After being for a long time in a constrained attitude a peculiar numbness and pricking are often felt in the arm, leg or foot. This is caused by some interruption to the circulation and can usually be removed by rubbing or exercise. The reason of the sensation, which is decidedly uncomfortable while it lasts, is that pressure for a certain length of time deadens the sensibility of a nerve. When this pressure is suddenly removed, as straightening out the leg after sitting with it doubled under the body, sensibility gradually returns to the nerve, and as each nerve fiber composing the trunk regains its normal condition of sensibility a pricking sensation is felt, and these successive prickings from the successive areas not been found in it. The "Brilliant Text Bible" measures 3 3/4 by 2 1/4 inches and is three-quarters of an inch thick and bound weighs less than three ounces.-Exchange.

Big and Little Bibles. There are no fewer than 110 different editions of the Oxford Bible in English, varying from the magnificent folio edition for pulpit purposes to the "brilliant" Bible, the smallest edition of the Scriptures in the world. Of the revised version thirteen editions are published. More than a million copies of the revised New Testament had been ordered before the day of publication in May of 1881, and it is claimed that the workmen of the establishment refused a bribe of some £4,000 to furnish a copy of the book before the day of issue. The largest folio Bible printed in Oxford measures 19 by 12 inches, and no successive award has been found in it. The "Brilliant Text Bible" measures 3 3/4 by 2 1/4 inches and is three-quarters of an inch thick and bound weighs less than three ounces.-Exchange.

Hops as a Vegetable. Of hops for the brewing we hear a good deal, but what of hops as a vegetable? The Romans ate them, and the Germans, at least the Bavarians, eat them with their own old fashioned country folk can relish a dish of "hop tops." Here is the recipe: Take only the very young shoots, which boil serve either with melted butter, and a little gravy or with the plain salad dressing composed of oil, vinegar, pepper and salt. There you have a whole some dish such as was not disdained by the epicures of ancient Rome.-London Chronicle.

Bad Enough. "I think that society editor is a mean, horrid old thing, so there!" exclaimed a wife, looking up from the morning paper. "What's the matter?" asked her husband, with a grin. "Did he take you at your word and leave your name out of the paper?" "No," replied wife; "it isn't quite so bad as that, but he went and gave the description of my gown all wrong!"-St. Louis Post-Dispatch.

It is a great evil as well as a misfortune to be unable to utter a prompt and decided no.-Simmons.

Courtesy In Business Pays. In the American Magazine is a story by Fred C. Kelly to prove that courtesy in business pays. It has to do with George C. Boldt, manager of the Waldorf-Astoria in New York city and former manager of a Philadelphia hotel. "One night when all the hotels in Philadelphia were crowded and it was almost impossible to obtain a room a man and his wife drove up to Boldt's hotel and asked in a tone of despair if he could not give them a place to sleep. 'Yes,' Boldt told them; 'you can take my room. That's all I have.' 'The next morning when the guest told Boldt that a manager with his sense of courtesy would be an assured success in a much larger hotel. "'And,' added the guest, 'I'm willing to provide you with the hotel.' 'Since then that same guest has invested many millions of dollars in hotels under Boldt's direction. The guest was William Waldorf Astor."

The Silver Fox. The silver fox is really a black fox, instead, as some persons suppose, of being almost white or a silver gray. The name is given on account of the presence of glistening white and grayish hairs which appear among the black in the better grades the long, silky brush has a tip of pure white. About a quarter of a century ago the little animal, which weighs when full grown only about twelve pounds, became almost extinct. Because of the beauty of its fur the species was trapped until almost the last of them had disappeared. For a long time the standard price offered by the Hudson Bay company for silver fox pelts was around $1,000, and the efforts of the French Canadians, half breeds and Indian trappers to obtain this sum, to them a fortune, can be better imagined than described.-St. Louis Post-Dispatch.

Curious Recruiting Custom. The Russian army in the early part of the nineteenth century had a curious way of raising troops. A levy of two to four men of every 500 were selected and then medically examined at the army's headquarters, either at Moscow or St. Petersburg (now Petrograd). If the recruit successfully passed he was then turned over to an officer, who saw to it that he was correctly measured and, if the proper height, was sent into another apartment, where the front part of his head was shaved. If rejected as being medically unfit or short of the necessary height the back part of his head was then shorn of its locks to prevent him from appearing again among new levies. They Often Do. "Don't the bonds of matrimony interest you?" "They might if they paid a cash dividend."-Boston Transcript.

Miss Esther Lundquist left on Wednesday for St. Paul to resume her duties at the State U. The latter part of the week she visited at Mound Lake, Lake Minnetonka, where she was the guest at a house party. Last Thursday, a large number of ladies gathered at the home of Mrs. J. V. Holmberg, the occasion being Mrs. Holmberg's birthday anniversary. At five o'clock a delicious lunch was served and the guests departed after having enjoyed a social moon. Many useful and pretty gifts were given Mrs. Holmberg. Last Sunday, the teachers and scholars of the Ebenezer Sunday school held a picnic on the east shore of Big Kandiyohi lake. There were thirteen cars who took the children out, and a most enjoyable afternoon was spent. Ice cream, cake and lunch was served. We are very grateful to Mr. Smith for his hospitality.
