

BIG BOOM IN OUR WHOLESALE DISTRICT

Excavating Nearly Completed for Stacy Building—Gamble Robinson Will Build.

The articles of incorporation for the Gamble Robinson Willmar Company are published this week in another column of this paper. Ross Gamble, president; Harry Robinson, vice president; David Gamble, treasurer and J. E. Fisk, formerly of this city, but now of Minneapolis are the officers and with George E. Freeman, they are the incorporators. The capital stock of the company is $50,000. Mr. Fisk, who will have charge of the Willmar house told a representative of the Tribune this morning that so far as he knew, no contracts have as yet been let for the construction of the plant. It is the plan to give the work to local contractors as far as possible.

A second salesman was started from this headquarters last week, opening up a new route, with very gratifying results to the local house.

Ground has been leased from the Great Northern railroad company just east of where the Stacy house is being constructed. The building will be one story, with full basement, and all modern equipment will be installed. As soon as the contracts are

CHAS. MILLS WILL ENTERTAIN CROWDS

All in Readiness for Dare Devil Aviator Who Will Thrill Fair Crowds.

We mounted our trusty bicycle on Tuesday afternoon and headed for the Kandiyohi county fair grounds, bent on interviewing Charles T. (better known as "Dare Devil") Mills. When we arrived he was busily engaged in the preliminary process of "building up" the hydroplane with which he expects to thrill the thousands of fair visitors the last three days of the week.

Being a little timid as to whether the bird man cared to talk about himself, or not, we approached rather cautiously, but were soon put at ease by the manner in which Mills answered the host's queries.

"How long does it take you to put that thing together each time you do it?" was the first question asked.

"O, there's about six hours' work to it," he replied, as he sat on the ground, smearing water proof glue over a square piece of canvas, preparatory to putting a patch on the top plane.

"Down at Albert Lea last week," he continued, "I stopped under some trees, and the branches tore thru the cloth."

"What kind of cloth do you use on the planes, canvas?" we next asked him.

"We started out to use Irish linen," replied the D. D., "but when the war broke out, it was impossible to get that, so now we use unbleached muslin."

"Some motor on that machine isn't it," he was asked.

"Well rather," was the reply. "I wouldn't sell that motor for love or money. Seventy horse power, and she'll pull it."

"You must see a lot of the world traveling around the way you do," some one asked him.

"Oyes, I see my share of it all right," was the answer. "I had intended to run a school of instruction in aviation this year, but started out the tenth day of June, to fly at various fairs and exhibitions, and have been at it ever since. The only day I have missed a flight that I was scheduled for this summer, was last week at Albert Lea. The day was nasty, and the crowd was small, so I called it off. Since I started I have traveled thru ten states."

Continuing the aviator told that this was his last flight in the hydro-plane this year. After leaving here on Saturday night, the remainder of the flights are to be made from an aeroplane. He carries wheels right with him on his travels from place to place and it is an easy matter to take the plane from the pontoon base and place it on the wheels.

Flying a hydro-plane is a lot harder work, a lot more risky business than aviating in an aeroplane. The former is heavier and there is more chance for an accident than with the lighter "land flyer."

Mills finished setting the machine up this afternoon, and everything is in readiness for his first flight Thursday afternoon.

INTERESTING NEWS FROM HIGH SCHOOL

News Notes of Interest Gathered By Our Correspondent at the Local School.

The high school will not have a booth at the fair this season but the Grades will have a bird exhibit. A new and good idea.

On Wednesday and Thursday only one session will be held from 8 a. m. to 12:40 p. m., in order that the pupils may attend the fair.

Next Saturday the football team will play their first game of this season. It will be played with the Litchfield team on their field. Let the Willmar boys return with all honors won.

Four new members have been added to the faculty, namely: Miss Hull (Science); Miss Randall, (English); Mr. Melby, (Norse and History); and Mr. Youngquist, (Swedish and History).

Two hundred fifty-seven pupils are now enrolled for the regular high school course. Of these thirteen are taking the Normal course and have the east room of the Third floor of the Central building.

Because of State regulations, this is the last year a pupil can take the Normal Course instead of the fourth year high school work. Hereafter the department will be open to high school graduates and a more advanced course will be given.

Second day of school in History class.

Mr. Foster (noticing two pupils had dropped History): Ah, where are the others? This must be the cream of the class.

On Tuesday of this week Miss Jenness assigned the pupils their regular seats. It became necessary to have some of the Freshmen and Sophomores sit two in a seat. Room 6 is also seated with Freshmen. Anyone can realize the inconveniences of having two pupils sitting in one seat. They are crowded and there is scarcely enough room for their books in the desk and these become mixed up in the course of the day's work. It makes it harder for the Principal to take care of the pupils under these conditions than if she could have them all in one room and all in each their own place.

GERMAN—The First Year German Class have a reading of text, studying Ben's New German Grammar, which contains some reading matter as well as the German work. It also uses conversational German more than the texts used in previous years, thus making the work more interesting and profitable for the pupils. The enrollment in this class has reached 32. There are 46 pupils in the German II classes, studying "Hoher als die Kircke, a story of young lives in a medieval German city. The composition and grammar work are taken up. This work is based on Allen's First German Composition and on grammar references.—Miss Rademacher.

FAHLUN.

Fahlun, Sept. 11—Mr. and Mrs. A. B. Stevens of Minneapolis arrived here Saturday evening for a visit at the A. Lundeen home.

Mrs. Al R. Smith of Minneapolis visited a few days with her sister, Mrs. Edger Erickson of Rosellian last week.

Birthday Surprise.

Mrs. E. J. Stadin was pleasantly surprised last Friday by thirty-five of her friends, the day being her birthday anniversary. The afternoon was spent in a social way after which refreshments were served.

Mrs. Stadin was given the sum of twelve dollars as a remembrance of the occasion.

—Alexander Sand left Sunday evening for Grand Forks, N. D., where he has a position as window trimmer in one of the leading clothing firms of that city.

We will give 7 1/2 per cent discount on all heaters and ranges sold during County Fair week. Chaberg, Selvig & Co., Willmar, Minn.

—Ben Benson was at Raymond on business the first of the week.

You cannot make a mistake if you buy a "Sound Oak" from August Hoglund.

COUNTY FAIR BOARD ACQUIRES LAND

Three Additional Acres Purchased and is Available for Use At this Year's Fair.

The Fair Board has made a deal for the Frost property west of the fairgrounds, which contains three and a half acres. It has perhaps the finest beach on Foot Lake and is well wooded and has a grass sward. This piece of ground was a natural part of the fairgrounds and its purchase gives the Kandiyohi County Fair park the entire peninsula in Foot Lake. It will give the fair this year the additional room needed for parking automobiles. The work of moving the fairground fence was begun at once and will be completed this morning.

New London has posters out announcing that Saturday will be New London Day at the fair. The New London Concert Band will furnish the music on that day and it is expected that a tour of cars will leave New London at nine o'clock to accompany the band. A special pennant will be given each car which participates. New London never does anything by halves and you may be sure they will make some showing at the fair on Saturday.

The farm club booths are given the place of honor in the center of the exposition hall this year. The clubs represented are Green Lake, Sunnyside, Svea, Goldenrod and South Edwards.

Carey's Giant Amusement Company arrived here from Hopkins, where they had played at the Hennepin County Fair. They will furnish the carnival features of the fair.

The race track was never in as good condition as this year. The horsemen are delighted with it, and promise some fine speed events.

SUNBURG.

Sunburg, Sept. 18—The finishing touches are now being put on the new implement building of Mickelson & Severide. It is a fine structure in the western part of our town.

The threshing hands are enjoying many hours of leisure these rainy days.

A temperance lecture was held in the West Norway Lake church last
