The Sensible Six

Sensible Because of Its Bigness and beauty—its power and comfortable roominess.

Note the width and depth of the seats, the size of the doors, the leg room in both tonneau and driving compartments. Every measurement means comfort and service and has a part in making the Oakland Six one of the handsomest, as well as most sensible, cars ever built.

HURRAH FOR FIRST MINNESOTA

Coming Back in the Best Possible Condition with Commendation of Its Superior Officers.

Col. E. S. Luce sends the Willmar Tribune the following with request that we publish same:
HQ. 12TH PROVISIONAL DIVISION OFFICE OF DIVISION SURGEON
Camp Wilson, Texas
January 23, 1917.

From: The Division Surgeon, Hq. 12th Provisional Division,
To: The Commanding Officer, 1st Minnesota Infantry, (Thru Commanding General, 12th Provisional Division.)
Subject: Health and Physical Condition of Regiment.

1. In view of the fact that your regiment has been ordered home for muster out, it is a pleasure to bring the following facts to your attention.
2. While your regiment has been in camp, only some three weeks, its record here and its past statistical charts forwarded from Llano Grande, show that its health conditions have been very gratifying. It has not had a case of typhoid fever, and this of course is in the face of the fact that death from either disease or injury, the sick rate has not been high, and the admissions to sick report have largely been due to disabilities of a trivial nature or surgical character.

3. It is now that seven months since the militia troops were called out, during which time they have been continuously exposed to field conditions. Comparison of such health conditions as yours with those of the average organization during the first seven months of the declaration of war against Spain in 1898 is invited.
4. In my opinion, your men, individually and collectively, have enjoyed far better health during their military service than if they had remained in civil life at home. They are returning to their State in far better physical condition than when they left it. The border service has apparently not injured any of them. It has undoubtedly done much to prolong the lives and promote the efficiency of your men after they return home. Many of the lessons of self care learned here will not be forgotten.

5. Good health in the military service is the result of co-operation by all concerned. You and your regimental surgeon are especially entitled to a full share in the credit of taking conditions as yours with those of the average organization during the first seven months of the declaration of war against Spain in 1898 is invited.

6. It is suggested that you give these facts all publicity through your home papers and the Associated Press. The public is entitled to have any of its remaining apprehensions about the unhealthfulness of camp life allayed. You, your officers and your regiment are also entitled to have its excellent health made a matter of public information and record.

(Signed) E. L. MUNSON,
Lt. Colonel, Medical Corps,
U. S. Army, Division Surgeon.

Hq. 12th Provisional Division, Camp Wilson, Fort Sam Houston, Texas, January 24, 1917.

To: Commanding Officer, 1st Minnesota Infantry.

The Commanding General concurs heartily in these well deserved congratulations to the 1st Minnesota Infantry, on the fact that it has made in the matter of health conditions, as well as in the recommendations herein contained. To the officers of the regiment particularly the medical officers, much of the credit for the unhealthfulness of camp life is due. Efforts would have been useless if the enlisted men had not done their part in the way of careful obedience to all sanitary regulations. This indicates a gratifying condition of discipline, of which the regiment has just cause to be proud.

By Command of Brigadier General Greene: CAMPBELL KING,
Captain, 7th Infantry, Adjutant.
