LETTERS FROM OUR SOLDIER BOYS

From Different Posts and Training Camps Of Uncle Sam.

From Robert B. Johnson.

Fortress Monroe, Va., July 6, 1917. There was a report that a submarine was in the bay yesterday and last night some of the companies stayed up. Battleships and destroyers were parading all around and they had all the searchlights working across the Bay.

Chester Nelson was a visitor here again on the 4th. Edward Pennington, a grain inspector of Willmar was also a visitor here. He was on some business to Washington and came down to see us. Believe me, it sure was fine to see a fellow from home. We tried to get a pass for him into the fort, but the Major General was not in his office on the 4th of July. We spent the evening of the 3rd and the 4th with him and left on the boat for Norfolk from where he was going back to Washington and from there home. He sure is some sport to come down to see us and we were very sorry we could not get a pass for him.

Aeroplane are flying around here every day, as they have some aviation field not far off. The neighbor company is leaving for a fort on Fisherman's Island at the entrance to the Bay, and tomorrow we are going to move into their quarters.

I noticed that the Russians had captured about 10,000 prisoners. Hope it is so and hope they capture that many each week. We may organize a base ball team here, as the other day, the lieutenant asked for the names of all who would partake in any athletics and what kind.

The past week we have been on the range and Joe Holmberg was the only Willmar fellow who made "Marksmanship." He made 155 out of a possible 200. The requirement is 150. Monday, the first day of practice, I took 15 shots from the 300 yard line, 5 kneeling and 5 standing, and out of a possible 75 I made 52. Then I took 10 shots from the 300 yard line and made 34 out of 50. Next time I had 10 shots at 200 and 10 at 300 with battlesight. (This sight shoots straight at 550 yards), so we have to aim more than two feet under at shorter ranges, so it makes it kind of hard. This sight is used at the rapid fire and we had to get used to it, otherwise we have the privilege to use the old sight. Next I made 34 out of 50 both times, making 68 out of 100. We then had rapid fire and I made 34 of 50 at 200, and 41 of 50 at 300, making 75 out of a possible 100. This would have qualified me in all 225 of 325 in practice, and I thought I had a good chance to make 150 out of a possible 200 when we came to shoot for marksman today, but fell down just like a fellow always do on the last shot. Next I made a total of 120 out of 200. However, any one having 120 or over is what they call "a first class shot."

So I made that anyway. In rapid fire a fellow has to fire 10 shots in a minute, (this sight shoots straight at 550 yards), and in one minute and 10 seconds laying at the 300 yard line, but you have to be in a standing position and when the target comes up kneel or lay down as the case may be, and as the rifle holds you have to get it put in one clip also in that time. So a fellow has not much time to aim.

Tomorrow, being Saturday, we have most of the day off. Well, guess I will have to hit the cot for the night, unless we have to get up without fail at 6 o'clock every morning.

ROBERT B. JOHNSON.
Eddie Christopherson.
Fort Monroe, Va., 13th Co., July 12. Letter received by Willford Pfeilman.

Friend Bill: The last time I wrote, we have moved across the bay to Fort Wheeler. Our camp and batteries are located on rocky cliffs and quite a clear view is obtained of the surrounding land and water.

The work over here consists mainly of artillery practice but a few weeks in the mine loading room. Besides this, however, is the guard details every day.

There are no barracks to live in at this place so we sleep in tents and eat out in the open air. As a whole, the fellows seem to like this better than living inside those stone buildings. I am getting fat on this job. Have gained seven pounds in weight since I came out here. Guess that ought to prove that Uncle Sam takes good care of his soldiers.

From what I have heard from good authorities, part of the troops here will be sent away for foreign service before very long. The second company seems to be quite confident they are going. Of course, it is hard for us to get much information along this line. One lieutenant said the third company would be in France in about four months.

I would be well satisfied with going to France and join in with the other American boys who are already there. That's what I enlisted for altho I never expected to see actual service there, but now my views are different.

No, I never hear from Fred. I sent a card to him but don't think I had the complete address as an answer never came. Part of the Cavalry is being transferred into the Infantry so I suppose he'll soon go to France also. I do not regret it at all that I enlisted and don't want to see Willmar again before my part is done. Of course, we boys are missing much but duty comes first.

Joe Feleen.
From a letter to his mother, Mrs. N. N. Feleen, of this city: Fort Grant, C. A. C. 4th Co., C. Z., June 30, 1917.

Dear Mother: Don't worry about me, as I am feeling fine. We left Fort Monroe on a Tuesday and went to Newport News and lived on a transport for four days before we started. We started on a Saturday afternoon and reached Porto Rico on Thursday morning. Stayed in Porto Rico for two days, then left for Panama. We took on about 1300 Porto Ricans so the boat was so crowded one couldn't find a place to sit down. We came into Panama on Wednesday morning and took a train to Fort Grant.

The pineapples in Porto Rico were sold two for five cents and the bananas, three for a cent and I think that was cheap. The day before we came in to Panama, the men sat up watching for a sight of land and when we did see it, some of them acted like kids. Suppose I did also. They sure give us good grub around here, at least they have so far. We are in quarantine at present as some of the boys contracted the measles on the boat but we hope to be out soon. Then we will be put into the barracks and it will seem more like home.

We went out to the batteries yesterday. They are located on three islands and the train brings us out over a bridge. The islands are about three hundred feet high and have tunnels running all around and they sure are swell.

I asked an old soldier how hot it would get down here but he answered that it gets about 80 degrees in the wet season and stays that, but it gets pretty hot in the winter which commences about Thanksgiving and continues until April.

There are all kinds of wild animals across the canal, lions, tigers, wild cats, etc. I am going over there for a hunt the first opportunity I get, believe me.

JOE FELEEN.
Harold Severinson.
From a letter to Gov. A. E. Rice: Recreation Tent, Coast Artillery Corps, Fort Monroe, Va., July 12, 1917.

Dear Mr. Rice: I have been neglecting my correspondence the last few days, there's been too many rumors of our going away. But now that the spell is broken, I am going to try to catch up again.

Rumors the last few days have had us in France, three or four times as well as all over the U. S. In the meantime there certainly has been some heated discussions too. Everybody had a different opinion about it. Today, we got the official "dope" name.

The 11th and 12th companies from this post and the 13th is only a supernumerary for them. There's about 30 from our company that will go with the remainder of the 13th and the majority of the remainder of the 11th and 12th. This will break our company all up so now we will either be transferred to some other outfit or will take in enough recruits to fill all vacancies.

In the Army one never knows just what's coming. Everything is so uncertain. I agree perfectly with our Company Commander when he said we were no longer individuals when we had a shot at the service. "Like some jerg wll, men some don't care, just as much "policing" to do. Ha, ha.

Everytime the company goes on guard some of us have to do "Fatigue Duty", shovel coal, cut grass, etc. I've had a shot at all of it. "Well the Army and learn a trade." Ha, ha.

There's a summer resort about two miles from camp. They have a pavilion, bath house, and a carnival there. There are a few soldiers there all the time. The rest of the soldiers had a scrap with a civilian up there, not very serious. The next night I was detailed to preserve order up there with a 45 colt automatic on my hip. Everything was very peaceable. Can you blame me?

The down-bearded Willmar beauties you spoke of in your letter is pretty much "soft soap," it was very well versed, but no such luck. Give my regards to the boys. Must close now.

Very respectfully yours,
HAROLD SEVERINSON.
Henry Abrahamson.
Fort Riley, Kansas, July 14, 1917.

Editor Tribune: I have often seen the location and shape, and I even memorized the name of the capital city (Topeka) of the state of Kansas in my school days, but I didn't have any idea that that state would be my camping ground when I enlisted in "Uncle Sam's" army.

After a three weeks' pleasant stay at Jefferson Barracks, during which time I took my physical exercises regularly in the mornings, rain or shine, and I also had an opportunity to demonstrate my abilities as pan-washer and waiter.

The boys who have gone thru the "mill" at Jefferson Barracks, well know with what gloomy forebodings they had about the 24 hour shift on duty in the mess hall if it was not in reality hard work, the worst part was to be told about a hundred times by other boys who had been there before, how difficult it was and how the mess sergeant would "hawl" you out.

At any rate, I could not suppress my delight when ordered to move and the rest of the company showed that they appreciated a change of scenery, even if it was from "good" to "poor" as far as accommodations are concerned.

Of course we did not know anything about accommodations at Riley and most of the bunch seemed to care less. We knew we had 350 miles ahead of us. We passed thru Kansas City, also Jefferson City, the capital of Missouri and Topeka, the capital of Kansas. That the whole company enjoyed the trip is putting it mildly.

Harvesting seems to be done here and in some places, they are threshing. I noticed that the corn is just about as late here as in Minnesota.

Fort Riley is supposed to be located at about the geographical center of the U. S. The reservation contains thousands of acres of wild land, parts of it are almost as rough as the bad lands of North Dakota. At present, there are in the neighborhood of 15,000 men here, most of them belong to the Medical Department and the Cavalry. Thousands of carpenters are at work here now putting up the buildings for the army cantonment. It is said this will be the largest army camp in the country, being capable of accommodating about 75,000 men.

I do not know how long I will stay here. Was told that I would stay here until September and then go across to France, but every day rumors travel thru a camp like this and there is no way to verify them until official orders are given. The latest rumor has it that the whole medical camp is going to be moved to Fort Sheridan, Illinois.

I wish to thank you for sending the Tribune, it surely is appreciated. Yours truly,
HENRY ABRAHAMSON,
Med. Of. Training Camp.

H. J. Wilson.
U. S. Naval Hospital, Portsmouth, Va., July 10, 1917.

This letter is to inform you that I, Henry James Wilson, a resident of Willmar the past three years or more working with the Northwestern Telephone Exchange Company in and around the surrounding state, have joined the United States Army and am now on duty at Portsmouth, Va. My rate is seaman, 1st class and I have enlisted for the second time. I was reading in the Minneapolis papers where the City of Willmar, Minnesota responded faithfully to the call for men and I joined at the Minneapolis Recruiting Station. I have lived in Minnesota for five years and I sure did like the people of the city of Willmar. Having no real home and the comforts of one, I will say that Minnesota is one of the best states to live in and I am very sorry to leave it but it is my duty to serve my time during the war and try and do my share of the duties which I am asked to go to carry out faithfully to an ever ending cause for Liberty.

I wish my name to be added to those who responded without being drafted and enlisted at Minneapolis, May 5th, 1917, one month after the war was declared. I wish to send my very best regards to all and everyone who has acted kind towards me while in Willmar, Minnesota. I will be very well pleased to hear from you at an early date, I remain,
A former resident,
H. J. WILSON.

Robert B. Johnson.
July 14.
This week I have been doing a little of everything. Monday our company was on guard. When a company goes on guard, it goes on at noon one day and comes off at noon the next day. As there are not enough posts all can not do guard duty at the rest are put on some work about the barracks and at the quartermaster's. Well, Enoch Hoglund and I, and a few others had to unload a car of coal Tuesday, I was detailed to go on patrol and was out until Wednesday noon. Tuesday morning, I had to fill a trench with sand. After a fellow comes off from patrol, he gets the rest of the day off, and I spent this in washing clothes. Thursday we had our usual drill. On Thursday, we learned that the 10th, 11th and 12th Companies are to go to France, and volunteers from our Company (No. 13) were called for to fill up these companies, and about thirty volunteered, but they did not choose as well as the rest of the company. I am some more later on and now we have only half, if not less, of a company left. I thought if they would take the whole company, I would be willing to go.

If the 12th goes, the Willmar boys belonging to that company will go. We do not know when they are to leave. Being that our company is split up, they have put us on special duty jobs. I am doing public exercises, washing tables, scrubbing floors and all kinds of kitchen work at the Reserve Officers' Training quarters. I happened to get in with Elmond Nelson and now five of us have a table, and I would like to tell you we have it fixed up pretty nice. We get plenty to eat, but we do not know how long this work will last. We get extra pay for this work. Am feeling fine and hope everything is OK at home.

ROBERT B. JOHNSON.
W. C. T. U. WILL ELECT OFFICERS
Local Union Meets With Mrs. M. T. Sandbo Tuesday Afternoon.

The Willmar Woman's Christian Temperance Union will hold its next meeting Tuesday afternoon, July 24, at 7:30 p. m. at the home of Mrs. M. T. Sandbo on 5th St. north. This meeting was postponed from the 17th to the 24th, on account of chautauqua. There will be election of officers. All members are requested to be present and a cordial invitation is extended to all who wish to come. Lunch will be served at 10c. All will be welcome.

Mrs. Russell Spicer, Willmar, Minn.
Dear Mrs. Spicer: At the close of the wonderfully successful campaign for the Red Cross War Fund I intended, in behalf of the War Council, to send you and your associates, a telegram of thanks and congratulation for your splendidly effective work. On reflection, however, I decided in view of the nation wide extent of our organization that it would be more economical and generally satisfactory, to write to you instead of telegraphing.

We of the War Council are deeply grateful to you, to your colleagues, to the devoted men and women of local Red Cross Chapters and Auxiliaries, and to every element and individual in your community who aided by service and contribution.

There is no method by which we can reach the legion of individuals, organizations, churches, newspapers, societies, banks, companies and firms whose united effort has provided this great fund for humanity, and if thru your press and by other means you can make public expression of our gratitude we shall deeply appreciate the courtesy. Their joint accomplishment has stirred the pride of every American.

I wish to add my personal thanks to you, and thru you, to all who contributed to the splendid result. Very sincerely yours,
H. P. DAVISON,
Chairman, Red Cross War Council.
