One night a little five year old girl named Marie Osborne went to bed. She was unknown except to a privileged few. In the next twenty-four hours she had become famous.

The Pathé Gold Rooster play, "Little Mary Sunshine," in which she was the star had been shown that day in all the big cities of the country. Soon the vast world wide organization of Pathé began to send her in round tin boxes to the ends of the earth, and the entire civilized globe took her to its collective heart.

Her latest vehicle is entitled "Tears and Smiles," and will be shown at the Majestic theatre on Saturday, Sept. 29.

There will be a triple wedding at the Majestic on Monday and Tuesday, October 1 and 2. This will be in the Marguerite Clark picture "The Amazons," and is one of the prettiest affairs of its kind ever filmed.

Three hoydenish sisters who have been raised as boys, on account of their parents' disappointment at their not being sons, suddenly discover that they have grown to womanhood and are much in love with three valiant English lads.

A triple altar had to be especially built for the wedding, for the ordinary altar would not have been wide enough for the three couples.

Don't miss Marguerite Clark in "The Amazons" a screamingly funny picture with all the humor of "Miss George Washington," and the charm of "Snow White."

Dorothy Dalton, star of "The Flame of the Yukon" will appear in the role of Neva Blaine in "Ten of Diamonds," the latest Triangle play which is to be shown at the Majestic on Wednesday, Oct. 3.

"White" a Misnomer. The fallacy of the average Englishman who regards black as white has been noted by G. K. Chesterton, the English writer. "People," he writes, "never ask whether the current color language is always correct. Ordinary sensible phraseology sometimes calls black white; it certainly calls yellow white and green white and reddish brown white. We call wine 'white wine' which is as yellow as a Bluecoat boy's legs. We call grapes 'white grapes' which are manifestly pale green. We give to the European, whose complexion is a sort of pink drab, the horrible title of 'white man'—a picture more bloodcurdling than any specter in Poe."

Why is bacon an economical food? Because it is very easily assimilated and is all food value. When the dig-

Look at the tongue, mother! If coated, your little one's stomach, liver and bowels need cleansing at once. When peevish, cross, listless, doesn't sleep, eat or act naturally, or is feverish, stomach sour, breath bad, sore throat, diarrhea, full of cold, give a teaspoonful of "California Syrup of Figs," and in a few hours all the foul, constipated waste, undigested food and sour bile gently moves out of its little bowels without gripping, and you have a well, playful child again. Ask your druggist for a 50-cent bottle of "California Syrup of Figs," which contains full directions for babies, children of all ages and for grown-ups.
