

Gifts Men Appreciate

Men like practical things; therefore useful gifts should be chosen for "him." You'll find at this store many, many suggestions for "Safe and Sane" gift giving.

Practical Indeed— A Suit or Overcoat

He will thank you many, many times during long months of pleasant service if you give him so thoughtful a gift. Many of our best styles are very moderate in price.

$15 to $30

Shirts Will Please Him

More than likely he buys his shirts at this store, so when you choose his "gift shirt" here you are doubly certain of pleasing him.

$1.25, $1.50 and $5.00

Christmas Ties

Bright colors or subdued, in a host of new patterns, sure to be welcomed at Yuletide.

50c, 75c, $1.00

Here are Christmas Caps

Why not give your motorist friend a warm fur cap that will pull down to protect his ears on cold winter drives?

$1.00 to $10

Be Practical; Give Shoes

Don't think that shoes are "too ordinary." The consideration shown by choosing so useful a gift will be sincerely appreciated, and long remembered.

Men's $4 to $10
Women's $4 to $12

Hosiery

—A Wanted Gift

He's an extraordinary man indeed if he has too many hose—chances are, he's hoping someone will give him a few pairs for Christmas.

25c, 35c, 60c and $1.00

Warm Sweater Coats

That man who is out-of-doors a great deal will find much use for one of these splendid all-wool sweater coats. Choose from maroon, navy, or gray—medium or heavy weight.

$4.00 to $10.00

Boys' Clothing

—For Christmas

Any boy will be delighted with a suit or overcoat for Christmas; and at the same time you are giving him a gift that will save you clothes expense later on.

$5.00 to $15.00

For Soldier Boys

—Khaki Handkerchiefs and Army Sweaters.

Handkerchiefs 25 cents

Origin of the Matinee.
Whether or not we have to look back to the fifties for the first matinee, there is at least little doubt that the invention had not attained any general popularity when the Bancroft management was I am reminded that the Bancrofts, who were responsible for many innovations that have since become the vogue, did not institute afternoon performances until 1876, after they had been in management eleven years. The Bancrofts, if not the inventors of the matinee, were certainly the first to pay full salaries to those who took part in them. Not until 1878 did the matinee become a fixed and regular feature of even the Bancroft management. It was a byproduct of "Diplomacy," the success of which made any means of providing additional performances acceptable. Sir Squire Bancroft has put it on record that at the beginning the matinee was a much more costly affair than it is now, as frequent and separate advertisements and announcements were necessary to make it known.—Westminster Gazette.

A Defect in Higher Education.
It must be noted that the higher education of the United States is at present in a condition where it may readily drop backward rather than improve. The college student of today and in some cases even the university student is permitted to sprawl over so large and so varied an area of intellectual interest that he loses the discipline in concentration, in hard work, and in the mastery of some relatively small field that comes from pursuing a better and older method. There is, now, however, a marked tendency among the better colleges to aid and guide the student toward concentrating his interests and his energies upon a small group of subjects that have some common center of interest and some well marked relationship. This movement is a sound and hopeful one and should be encouraged and aided.—President Butler in Youth's Companion.

Salt Means Much to Health.
"If the human race should be deprived of salt even for a period of a few months," said a physician, "we would not only lose a natural health-giving incentive for our food, but disease, with all its attendant misery, would spread with such relentless speed as to defy the efforts of the most skillful doctors of the land. Ailing persons frequently refuse sugar, but they seldom turn up their noses at common salt. That is because there is in the body a deficiency of chloride of sodium, and nature intuitively excites the desire for it. Salt is essential to health and life and is as much a food as bread or flesh. If there is no salt for salt in a person doctors uniformly conclude that disease in some form is lurking unsuspected in the system."
