DIRECTOR GENERAL MCADOO CAUTIONS RAIL EMPLOYEES

Courtesy to the Public is Required As Well as Loyalty to Government Administration.

General Order No. 40, Washington, D. C., August 18, 1918.

To all employees in the railroad service of the United States: Complaints have reached me from time to time that employees are not treating the public with such consideration and courtesy under Government control of the railroads as under private control. I do not know how much courtesy was accorded the public under private control, but I have no basis, therefore, for accurate comparison. I hope, however, that the reports of discourtesy under Government administration of the railroads are incorrect, or that they are at least confined to a relatively few cases. Whatever may be the merits of these complaints, they draw attention to a question which is of the utmost importance in the management of the railroads.

For many years it was popularly believed that "the public be damned" policy was the policy of the railroads under private control. Such a policy is indefensible either under private control or Government control. It would be particularly indefensible under public control when railroad employees are the direct servants of the public. "The public be damned" policy will in no circumstances be tolerated on the railroads under Government control. Every employee of the railroads should be efficient in serving the public courteously and efficiently. Courtesy costs nothing and when it is dispensed, it makes friends of the public and adds to the self-respect of the employee.

My attention has also been called to the fact that employees have sometimes offered as an excuse for their own shortcomings or as a justification for delayed train or other difficulties the statement that "Uncle Sam is running the railroads now," or "These are McAdoo's orders," etc. Nothing could be more reprehensible than statements of this character, and nothing could be more hurtful to the success of the Railroad Administration or to the welfare of railroad employees themselves. No doubt, those who made them so thought, and are in most instances, but the harm is just as great if a thing of this sort is done thoughtlessly as if it is done deliberately.

For many people who for partisan or selfish purposes wish Government operation of the railroads to be a failure. Every employee who is discourteous to the public or makes excuses or statements of the kind I have described, is helping these partisan or selfish interests to discredit Government control of railroads.

Recently wages of railroad employees were largely increased, involving an addition to railroad operating expenses of more than $475,000,000 per annum. In order to meet this increase, the public has been called upon to pay largely increased passenger and freight rates. The people have accepted this new burden cheerfully and patriotically. The least that every employee can do for the public is to serve the public courteously, faithfully and efficiently.

A great responsibility and duty rest upon the railroad employees of the United States. Upon their loyalty, efficiency and patriotism depends in
