HARD COAL SHORTAGE IS VERY THREATENING

McGee Says Dock Companies Cannot Get Laborers In Spite of High Wages Offered.

The following item from the Minneapolis Journal Monday explains reason for failure to deliver coal. "An appeal for immediate Federal action to bring about resumption of coal movements at the Head of the Lakes has been sent by J. F. McGee, fuel administrator for Minnesota, to senators and representatives of Northwestern states. "Unless immediate action was taken, he said, this section of the nation would face a shortage of more than half a million tons of anthracite coal when lake traffic is closed for the winter.

The farmers elevators of Penock and Kandiyohi have been informed that their patrons must prepare to burn soft coal or wood. The patrons of the Kandiyohi company have 133 houses where self-feeding stoves are used, and the notification was very disturbing, for if adhered to it means buying new stoves. Representatives of the county board yesterday, but could get little satisfaction. They were shown letters that on top of the labor troubles, fires have broken out in the coal stock piles at Superior.

HUN SURRENDER RECEIVED WITH JOY

Willmar Indulged in Two Celebrations—The Genuine with Increased "Pop."

When the report came over the wires last Thursday forenoon that truce had been signed and that the war was over there was a suppressed excitement to be seen in the eye of those who received the news. Many were inclined to discredit the report at first, but when an hour later the siren at the city plant and the scores of whistles in the railroad yards started to blow, everyone believed that a confirmation of the report had been received and their enthusiasm became intense. Especially was joy supreme among the women and "Old Glory" was soon seen waving at many homes. Many folks with sons and brothers "over there" fairly danced with gladness. The church bells pealed the glad tidings and the noise from the many whistles was heard as far as New London.

The fine spirits were dampened later in the afternoon, however, when it was learned that the report was a false one. Yet everyone seemed to feel that the end was but a question of a few days, and when on Monday morning the whistles again announced the news of victory everyone knew that this time it was true. The celebration began in the early morning and there was no sleep after five o'clock. Celebration continued through the day. The afternoon was proclaimed as a holiday by the city mayor, after the exercises at the court house park for the boys who were supposed to leave. All the banks, stores and shops closed up for the day. Fronts were decorated with the national colors. The band came out and the Home Guards marched and fired salutes. The new fire truck raced back and forth with its gong a-going. The anvils were brought out but only a quarter pound of powder was to be found in town so little cannon music was possible. In the evening the crowds became even more enthusiastic. At eight o'clock a parade formed again out side of the city hall, headed by the fire truck and the Home Guards, and the celebration lasted far into the night.

Paraders Run Down. One unfortunate incident marred Monday night's celebration when a reckless auto driver ran down three girls at the Library corner. The girls were walking in the street following the parade, when a Ford raced around the corner and ran into them. The girls were the Misses Rena Berknes, Bessie Norling and Edna Gunderson. The first named was picked up in an unconscious state and was taken to Davison's Hospital. The other two were taken to their homes on Fifth street. All were cut and bruised but are getting along fairly well. They had a close call. Witnesses to the accident claim that the car was speeding at the rate of 25 miles an hour.

No Services Sunday. After a consultation with the Health Officer today members of the city concluded that they would not attempt to hold services next Sunday although it was not positively forbidden under certain restrictions. The situation is very much improved in the city, but crowding inside of doors is still dangerous. The Seminary and Business College were permitted to open Monday, but under conditions where there is no crowding. It is not likely that the public schools will open as yet.

Touched Off at Five O'clock. Emma Nelson, who was at Minneapolis when the peace news pandemonium broke loose, got out of bed at two o'clock and called up Mayor Welin at Willmar. The Mayor decided to give the folks rest until five o'clock when the news was touched off here with the fire whistle which was joined immediately by the railroad engines. There was some continuous noise for better than an hour. Later in the day the whistles again broke loose.
