

We Have A Silo You Have Always Wanted IT IS THE KEYSTONE SILO

We have the exclusive right to manufacture and sell this Silo for the coming season in this vicinity.

THE KEYSTONE

P. L. Peterson, of New London, will have charge of the manufacturing and erection department for us. He needs no introduction to the people of this community as he has had long experience in concrete construction.

Do you know what a Keystone Silo is? We will tell you. It is made of concrete blocks, the most enduring building material known, reinforced with steel rods every seven inches, each Silo having over half a mile of rods imbedded in the blocks.

Never Swells
Never Shrinks
Never Blows Down

Never Burns Up
Never Warps
Never Decays

A fire or wind may destroy your house or barn but it will not destroy your Keystone Silo.

It is a perfect Silo; the best Silo and the most satisfactory Silo in the world.

This Silo is as permanent as the Pyramids of Egypt because made of the same material.

The Twelve Story McKnight Building of Minneapolis, the new bridge over the Mississippi River in that city and a great portion of the great ships recently constructed for use by the United States Government are all made of the same material and reinforced in the same way as the Keystone Silo, which we are ready to erect on your farm.

Call and see us and let us explain more fully the many excellent features of this Silo.

United States Keystone Silo Co.,
628 McKnight Bldg., Minneapolis, Minn.

Gentlemen:

You ask how I like my Keystone Silo. Will say if I had bought a Keystone Silo 25 years ago that it would have paid for itself 25 times.

My only regret is that I have lost the price many times by not owning a Keystone Silo before. I have visited six other makes of silos in the past three weeks including double wall or air space silos made of wood and brick both and I find them all froze more than my Keystone Silo.

The most of them are using a pick axe to chop the silage from the wall where I am keeping my walls clean with a common pitchfork. It only sticks on the wooden doors. If you could make a light enough door out of concrete it would be a great thing.

I will be glad to recommend the Keystone Silo or show it to any one that will come to see it.

Yours very truly, C. A. HALVERSON

Willmar, Minn., Feb. 11, 1918.

EDUCATED BY THEIR SURROUNDINGS

The pioneers of Kandiyohi and surrounding Counties were educated by nature; they grew grand as the prairies upon which they settled. The beautiful rivers, the wide plains, the splendid lakes, the lonely forests, stole into and became a part of their being, and they grew to be splendid, practical men and women.

For forty-one years this Bank has enjoyed the pleasure of doing business with the honest, sturdy, progressive, practical and patriotic people of this community, and it is the aim of Bank of Willmar to continue to keep in touch with its clients, and invite them to consult with its officers regarding financial and other business matters.
