

The Standard Oil Company (Indiana) and Industry

The phases of usefulness the Standard Oil Company (Indiana) renders as a public servant are varied.

One of the services not generally known, which the Company must render, is to assist industrial institutions in keeping down their manufacturing costs.

The Company maintains a staff of highly trained lubricating engineers, whose business it is to go into industrial plants, make a careful and thorough study of their mechanical equipment, and determine what lubricants are best suited to each machine under the prevailing conditions.

Their constant effort is to keep down manufacturing costs by specifying the particular oils and greases that will enable the machinery to deliver a maximum of service at a minimum of cost.

The work of the lubricating engineers is a part of the comprehensive service the Standard Oil Company (Indiana) renders.

This is another phase of the usefulness of the Standard Oil Company (Indiana) as a public servant, showing the constant effort being made by the Company to discharge its obligation in a complete and satisfactory manner.

Kavanaugh Purchased Barber Shop.

A deal was made last week where by A. M. Olson disposed of his barber shop in the village to James Kavanaugh, of Murdock, who is to take possession of same next Monday, July 7. For some time past Mr. Kavanaugh has been running the barber shop at Murdock and comes to us highly recommended by the people of that locality, as an excellent tonorial artist. Mr. Olson's plans for the future have not as yet been definitely settled on but he intends looking over the west with a view of locating there. He is both a good barber and a good fellow and during the years he conducted the shop here gave the best satisfaction and made many friends who regret his decision to leave. He has requested us to extend his thanks to the people of the community for the very liberal patronage they have accorded him.

St. Paul Rector Marries.
Cards announcing the marriage of Rev. Philip Broberg, and Miss Anna Eugenia Peterson, at St. Paul, June 24, have been received by friends at Willmar. Rev. Broberg is rector of St. Sigfrid's Episcopal church at St. Paul, and was formerly of this county, having spent his boyhood at New London. Congratulations!

Railway Mail Examination.
A civil service examination for railway mail clerk will be held at the Willmar postoffice, Saturday, August 23, 1919. Anyone interested may apply to the local secretary, Mr. L. H. Landberg.

THRIFT and HAPPINESS

If you are a thrifty person you are happy. When you are earning more than you spend, when you produce more than you consume, your life is a success, and you are filled with courage, animation, ambition and goodwill. The habit of thrift proves your power to rule yourself.

Combine labor and thrift go hand in hand, and if you have no surplus saved up, you are a plaything of chance, a leaf in a storm. The surplus gives you the power to dictate terms.

Cultivate the habit of thrift, and the earlier you begin the better. And no matter how old you are, or how long you have lived, begin this day to save something by starting a savings account, at this Bank, no matter how little. We pay 5 per cent on savings accounts.

APPROVE CO-OPERATIVE MARKETING OF WOOL

Grounds for forming of co-operative wool marketing organizations such as that of the American Society of Equity, the Equity Co-operative Exchange, and others, were recognized recently by the "More Sheep-More Wool Association" of the United States when it met in annual session in the Philadelphia Chamber of Commerce Building. The resolutions which show that these big woolen interests are awake to the fact that conditions have brought about a new method of marketing, are as follows:

"We affirm that the production of wool in the farm state largely depends upon the attitude of the wool trade in the observance of business methods that will insure to each grower a fair return for the value of his clip.

"We recommend that wool handling houses should afford fullest facilities and encouragement for handling wool marketed through co-operative associations."

Wool producers in the past have not been assured the full value of their wool as they would have been had the marketing been done by their own co-operative associations; and the effort of wool interests to hamper the growth of co-operative marketing have not succeeded in killing the movement, but on the other hand have caused one of the big wool manufacturers' organizations to recognize the peril of combating the farmers' efforts at marketing, and have induced them to wish to make peace with the farmers.

Co-operative marketing of wool made rapid strides in Canada last year, especially among the French districts of Quebec, while the entrance of the Equity Co-operative Exchange on the American side of the line has opened a co-operative wool outlet to the growers of Washington, Idaho, Montana, Wisconsin, and Minnesota and Iowa, from all of which states consignments are now moving to the St. Paul market.

Wedding in Canada.

A wedding of interest to friends in Painesville and Irving of the contracting parties, is that of Miss Estelle Wilhelmina, daughter of Mrs. Axel Nelson and Ole E. Haagenon, son of Mr. and Mrs. Peter Haagenon of Painesville, Minn., which took place at the home of the bride's mother at Pennant, Sask., Canada, Sunday, June 22nd. To the strains of Lohengrin's wedding march, played by Mr. Otto Olson, the bride, who was given in marriage by her mother, entered the living room and was met by the groom at an improvised altar of flowers and ferns, where the marriage vows were spoken by Rev. A. M. Wick.

The bride was prettily dressed in a gown of fashion, the georgette over duchess satin and trimmed with seed pearls. She wore a veil in cap effect held in place with orange blossoms and carried a shower bouquet of bride's roses and ferns. Her sister, Alma, was in honor and wore white voile and tulle. The bride's cousin, Miss Ruby Sather, of Willmar, Minn., was bridesmaid, and she wore pink satin finished with georgette. Hogan Haagenon, brother-in-law of the groom, was best man and Harry Nelson, brother of the bride, was groomsmen.

Immediately after the ceremony, the bride and groom, the bridesmaid, "Believe Me If All Those Endearing Young Charms,"

Promptly at three o'clock a four course dinner was served to about 200 guests and relatives.

The decorations throughout the room were pink, white and yellow, with cut flowers and ferns.

Those from a distance attending the wedding were the groom's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Peter Haagenon and Conrad Johnson from Painesville, and an aunt of the bride, Mrs. Herman J. Moberg, from Swift Current, Sask.

The bridal couple were the recipients of many beautiful gifts among them being a piano from the bride's brothers.

OBITUARY

ROY C. STRONG.

Roy C. Strong, of whose death mention was made in our last issue, was born at Atwater on December 16th, 1883, and at the time of his death had thus attained the age of thirty-five years. He was the son of Mr. and Mrs. James H. Strong, the former passed away when Roy was but seven years of age. Roy received his only education in the public schools of Atwater but never attended the high school. He was a well known figure in the county postal service and for the long period of fifteen years held the position of mail carrier on Atwater Route Four. The deceased was through his life a resident of Atwater, where on August 15th, 1906, he wedded Christine Rudeen. Their children were born to them, Carmine Grace, Leora Pauline, and a son who died in infancy. Besides his grief stricken wife and children the deceased is mourned by his father, James H. Strong, two sisters, Mrs. F. B. Dean, of Spokane, Wash., and Mrs. P. L. Ralph, of Seattle, Wash., two brothers, Chas. H. and Raymond A. Strong, both of Minneapolis, also one half-sister, Miss Stella Strong and two half-brothers, Sidney and Donald, Strong of Atwater.

Funeral services were held June 28, at 4 p.m. at the residence with Rev. McLeod of Litchfield as the officiating pastor. The services were impressive. The choir rendered a number of selections of special music while Doctor I. L. Porter sang a vocal solo. Interment took place at Atwater Union cemetery where the remains were laid to rest. The pall bearers were, Arnold Anderson, Franklin Glader, Sumner Glader, Ned Larson, Sumner Peterson and Herman Swenson. Roy was always of a bright and cheerful disposition, a willing worker and was well thought of by a host of friends.

Rev. Wenstrand Goes to California.

THE EXPLANATION

Nature placed the growth-promoting "vitamins" in the oil of the cod-fish—this explains why is so definite in its help to a child of any age. Latter-day science reveals that the "vitamins" are essential for normal growth.

Scott's Emulsion will help any child grow.
