Discussed Babcock Plan. Willmar, Dec. 20, 1919.

The Willmar Tribune: The Golden Rod Farmers Club met last evening having been postponed from the previous Friday on account of the storm. A very nice program was given by the school children.

A discussion took place on the Babcock road system in which some County officials and others higher up received some strong criticism. The idea of building a system of highways and then having the people vote on whether they want the system or not does not seem to appeal very strong to the rustic mind. "With the consent of the governed" is a phrase from the American Constitution that apparently is forgotten by public servants of the present day. The Club serves a useful purpose in the community when public questions are discussed by the farmers.
