

A Man to Man Policy that Wins

THE Standard Oil Company was a pioneer in the petroleum industry. From the day of its organization to the present moment the Company has put forth every effort to make and sell goods of the highest quality and always has been satisfied to work on a small profit. It has made money for its 4711 stockholders by reason of the volume of business done.

In its dealings with the men and women who make up its working organization, the Standard Oil Company (Indiana) has maintained a policy of fairness and liberality which has held its men and inspired them with the high ideals of service which have been the key to its prosperity.

Today the 22,000 employees are working as one man to increase production and decrease the cost of manufacture and distribution, for they know that their every effort is appreciated in terms which are substantial.

The working and living conditions of the men and women employed by the Company always have been matters of major interest to those in authority. Under the plan now in process of organization, the employees will be given an ever-increasing voice in the management of their affairs.

The spirit of fairness which animates both the Company and its employees, in their relations with one another, has again proved that all that is needed to increase production and insure industrial peace is to make it possible for the employer and employee to sit down and discuss all phases of their problems man to man.

DRAMATIC CLUB
—SCORES SUCCESS
Opera House Filled at First Appearance of W. D. C., in "Down in Dixie."

The Willmar Dramatic Art Club did itself proud last Wednesday evening in presenting the play "Down in Dixie." The opera house was filled to the doors, and the audience was kept in tense interest from beginning to end. The play was a four act military comedy, grand in its conception, with the scene laid in Virginia.
The hero was a colonel in the Federal army. The heroine was ably taken by Joseph Lonien. The heroine was a southern heiress with whom the colonel was desperately in love, but whose ways must part on account of their sympathies during the war. Miss Mary Tew played her part with ease. The villain, a man in a Confederate Army was the colonel's rival. This difficult role was taken with perfection by D. W. McLaughlin. Carl Wallin was member of company and played "Virginia," and the part of his wife a business woman, was played by Mrs. D. W. McLaughlin. Both did credit to themselves in the rendition of their difficult parts.

Russell Curran, as a young newspaper reporter appeared at all times when the situation was most ridiculous. He was very well fitted for the part he took. The role of Uncle Mostley, a faithful slave, was played by Allen Wallin and Mrs. Dave Johnson. These characters together with that of the reporter made up the comedy part of the play, which was greatly enjoyed by all.
Dan Burns, a "true blue" vet—Peter Fljnek, the Major's henchman; Mayne Beese, a friend of the heroine, and Arthur W. Swenson, a degenerate Yankee, were the other players, and the parts they took. Their acting was also very good. In fact all the players did honor to themselves in their respective roles. Much credit is due the director, Joseph Lonien, for the success of the performance.

The climaxes of each act were grand, especially the second and third, where quick and dramatic action was required. The manner in which this was carried out was not far from professional. The waltz between the acts were short and the specialties very good. Ethel and Sue Daugherty sang several songs very effectively, in keeping with the St. Patrick's day. A ladies octette rendered two selections in an easy, pleasing manner. Walter Hackett, leader, Miss Lillie Noreen, Hazel Nelson, Myrtle Johnson, Minnie Fridlund, Edna Nelson and Ida Sanderson. Russell Curran and Peter Fljnek sang and acted several comedies. The local orchestra played before the curtain was raised at between acts.
The first appearance of the Willmar Dramatic Club was a decided success. Their next appearance is looked forward to with interest.

ANNA AUSTIN
Miss Anna Austin, daughter of Carl Austin, died at 8 o'clock a. m. last Monday morning after a week's illness. The young lady having undergone an operation a week previous. Age 21 years.

The deceased was born in Colfax Twp., Kandiyohi County, where the young lady spent all her life.
She leaves to mourn her father, Carl Austin, one sister, Mrs. Clara Larson and one brother, Elmer Austin.

Funeral services were held today from the home at 12:30 and at 2 o'clock from Crow River church, Rev. H. O. Svare will read the last sad rites.

No one can explain why a girl, such as Miss Austin, should be called just when she entered upon the threshold of life. She was of a cheerful and sunny disposition; she had not a thought that was not a gentle one, not one that did not hold all the world in the arms of its kindness.

The sincerest sympathy of the community goes forth to the stricken father, sister and brother in this hour of sorrow and grief.—Belgrade Tribune.

JUST GOT OVER A COLD?
Look out for kidney troubles and backache. Colds overtax the kidneys and often leave them weak. For weak kidneys—well, read what a Willmar man says:

Preston Honeycutt, locomotive fireman, 122 Benson Ave., says: "I took a bad cold a year ago last February when firing a locomotive and it settled in my kidneys, putting them out of order. I had a dull-ache through the small of my back and when I got up mornings, I would be worse. My kidneys acted too frequently, annoying me and when I stooped over, I could see black specks before my eyes. I would be as dizzy as could be. As Doan's Kidney Pills had been used with benefit in my home, I thought I would try them and got a box at Carlson Bros' Drug Store. I used Doan's until the trouble left me entirely and I am pleased to recommend them."

CUTWORM MOTH MAKES BIDDY LOOK LIKE PIK
Entomologists at University Pa have been studying the problem the cutworm at intervals throughout winter. The performance of a sin female cutworm moth goes to show that the problem cannot be ignored. This moth, pampered and coddled her snug winter home in the factory, has laid 2,349 eggs, practices asites and fange as enemies, so entomologists are experimenting with poison bait and working on method of control. The cutworm has its asites and fange as enemies, so entomologists are not standing at in this fight to the death.
