

C. E. CONVENTION CLOSED SUNDAY.

DR. LANDRITH GAVE OPENING ADDRESS

Extension Secretary Opened Convention Wednesday Evening With Powerful Address

Dr. Ira Landrith, Extension Secretary of the United Society of Christian Endeavor and a man of national reputation opened the 31st state convention of the Christian Endeavor with a powerful address Wednesday evening. The address fairly tingled with rich thoughts and practical suggestions. The respected speaker held his audience fascinated with his eloquence and trite expressions. The present age and generation would do well to take to heart the advice and exhortation of the speaker. Dr. Landrith was the author of the winning slogan, "A Saloonless Nation by 1920."

Here are a number of striking expressions and statements made by Dr. Landrith:

"I believe in right, I don't believe in wrong, whatever is right is right; whatever is wrong is wrong; right is never wrong and wrong is never right."

"I am a preacher, a Presbyterian preacher. A preacher is a man who aims at nothing and then hits it."

"Your greatest peril (young people of today) is that you take advice from people of your own age who do not know much more than you do instead of from people of an older generation."

"I talked with one preacher who said that his Christian Endeavor Society was simply a place for courting but I would rather have the C. E. stand for courting everywhere if it would eliminate courting on the park benches and in moonlight automobile rides."

In speaking of the so-called foreigner to our shores Dr. Landrith told of a Wyoming man who was speaking in a convention and mentioned that his people came over in the Mayflower, when an Indian maiden answered him aptly by saying "and my ancestors were on the shore to meet you."

So we are all foreigners unless we belong to her tribe. All big words are weak, all small words are strong. Think right, speak right, do right, be right. A Sophomore is one who knows more than he will know any more."

Did you ever thank God for the ability to mislead a person; you ought to because the same ability gives you the ability to lead them aright. I am not prejudiced against any nationality. Up here in Minnesota I have met many Johnsons, Swensons, Andersons and Olsons and we need not sneer at them because they are Scandinavians for I want to tell you that the Brewer's Organization could never buy a Scandinavian paper for booze.

"A Saloonless Nation in 1919 that is the greatest miracle my Master has ever wrought. You shall not deny me the right to call that a miracle wrought by my Master. This is the Golden Age, including the accomplishment of three great events: The granting of freedom in 1918, a Saloonless Nation in 1919 and the granting of the vote to women."

"Train people to be fit to live and to live with. That is the significance of this convention."

"To be a Christian there are three things that one must believe in: Believe in yourself, believe in your neighbor, believe in God the Father and Jesus Christ the Savior."

Quoting from Theodore Roosevelt, Dr. Landrith said: "When I see a thing is true, I will go to work and put it through."

After the speaker sat down, in response to the deafening applause, Dr. Landrith said: "Will you let me utter the only selfish sentiment I have tried to utter. Oh, how I wish I could stay with you."

Dr. Landrith arrived in Willmar from the Christian Endeavor Convention of Michigan and was leaving for Wisconsin, State C. E. Convention, from which place he expected to leave for Los Angeles and then back across the continent to New York for the International C. E. Convention in July.

JOTTINGS ON THE 31ST CONVENTION

Items of Interest About Conference in City Taken From Day to Day

Ladies of the Presbyterian church were recipients of cheers at practically every meal. Delegates pronounced their feeds the best ever.

Hancock intermediates have been particularly prominent during the convention. Their society is one of the newest in the state.

Minnetonka Mills celebrated after the Friday night session with a weller roast at the chautauqua grounds. They have eighteen members at the convention.

A young man, a delegate to the convention, is reported to have visited his hostess as she was in the act of preparing a batch of doughnuts. Some were finished. She offered him one but he declined, "I'm going swimming."

Prayer has been playing a big part in the convention sessions and great results have been coming therefrom.

Eleven Pelican Rapids Endeavorers are at the convention under the chaperonage of Mrs. L. E. Williams. The trip was made by auto.

When Frank P. Vroman, a member of the convention committee visited Willmar last winter he made off with a hat, a soft felt hat, belonging to F. H. Peterson of Willmar. Early reports were that Peterson expected to meet Vroman with a gun. It seems that Vroman "had something" on F. H. for there was nothing but peace.

Did you hear Rev. McCullough say that if any song books were taken that he would not be able to pay for those "ice cream" trousers? What he really meant was NOT that he was going to pay for the trousers out of song book sales but—oh, well you know.

River district of the state union has a district president who says that "the River district has a mighty fine secretary." Have you seen them together? His name is Martinson.

NEWSY NOTES ON THE INTERMEDIATES

Intermediates Full of Pep and Enthusiasm. Uplifting Talks Given Them

By Ethel H. Boxell,
State Intermediate Superintendent,
St. Paul.

The Minnesota Intermediate Christian Endeavorers gathered at Willmar for the 31st annual convention in greater numbers than ever before.

The special program for these teenaged Endeavorers included pre-prayer services, conferences, the I. C. E. banquet and Sunday evening prayer meeting.

Miss Margaret Garner of Hancock in responding for the intermediates to Mr. Hoaglund's warm welcome, the opening evening assured Willmar that they were glad to be here.

Each morning and evening preceding the convention sessions special intermediate pre-prayer services were held, led by Margaret McCaslin, Edward Conover and William Boyer of Minneapolis, Gloria Marks, St. Paul and Muriel McArthur of Hancock.

On Thursday and Friday mornings, Ernest Ligon of Texas led the conferences for the intermediates. Mrs. Trafford Jayne of Minneapolis, executive secretary of the Congregational church, was the conference leader on Thursday afternoon and Ethel Boxell, state I. C. E. superintendent, was in charge on Friday.

Thursday noon intermediate pep and enthusiasm ran wild at the annual I. C. E. banquet at which Edward Conover of Minneapolis was the toastmaster. Short toasts were given by Bernice Maibu, Betty Heeter and Marsden Lucas of Minneapolis, Jessie Benn of Hancock and Norman Terwilliger of Minnetonka Mills. Clarence C. Hamilton of Boston was the main speaker.

On Friday the intermediates had their part in the General Rally in the afternoon. At 6:30 P. M., Margaret M. Bradt, state field secretary, will lead the I. C. E. in a prayer meeting.

Intermediates and workers have united with the main convention when not in their special sessions.

JUNIORS ACTIVE IN OWN SESSIONS

Juniors Declare That Their Convention Here Has Been the Best in Years

By Edna M. Fellows,
State Junior Superintendent
Worthington

"This has truly been the best Junior Convention in years. Sixty Juniors and half as many Superintendents attended the conferences. The prayer services, a new feature this year, will not be wanting after this. They have proved their worth by the interest the Juniors manifested in them."

Mr. Strate of Mora won a lasting place in the Junior ranks by his peppy song leading. Anoka, district is very fortunate in having him as their Junior Superintendent.

The discussions by the Juniors were well given, and note books and heads are full of new plans, new games and inspirations to take back to the home societies.

In the superintendents conferences, problems were worked out, new plans suggested, and old ones exchanged. Special emphasis was placed on the missionary work. Mrs. Voris of Mankato presented many things that the Juniors could take up as hand work. Attendance plans, contests, and the devotional life of the Juniors were stressed, and helps for all lines of Junior work given by the speakers.

Perhaps the Juniors enjoyed most the Junior hour at the close of each session. It was noticed that no one left before the meetings were over for no one was willing to miss the story.

But the big event was the Junior Banquet. Over eighty Juniors, Junior workers and friends spent a very noisy, very peppy and profitable hour together. Ernest Ligon showed he could be a Junior as well as an I. C. E. even though he insisted on singing for the intermediates part of the time. The Juniors will eagerly listen and watch for his reports and welcome him heartily when he visits their societies.

At the State Junior Supts. Business meetings the work of the coming year was discussed and planned. Gladys Pike was again elected Expert Superintendent, and in addition to this, she is to be general assistant for the coming year relieving Miss Fellows of much of the routine office work connected with the Junior department. Minnie Blakney of Duluth is to be Quiet Hour Superintendent again and in addition has taken the Tenth Legion work.

As usual aims for the coming year are once more to emphasize the devotionals. Taking as a slogan, "Every Junior a Church Member before Graduation." Our new motto is "Forward," and we plan to go forward, especially along missionary lines taking up hand work, practical missionary education and training and strengthening them during the year. Our work on the efficiency chart is to be strengthened and the tenth legion made a special feature. Big plans, yes, and with His help we will truly "Go Forward" in the coming year as never before.

DEVOTED WORK OF FIELD SECRETARY

Miss Margaret M. Bradt Given Ovation When She Announced Resignation

By "Newspaper"
Editor Minnesota Endeavor News

The wonderful demonstration of spirit and love made by the delegates in convention session Thursday evening when Miss Margaret M. Bradt, retiring field secretary for Minnesota, made her farewell talk focused the attention upon her work the past three years.

Following several years work in the St. Paul district Miss Bradt became secretary of the state board in which capacity she served two years. When the demand came for a full time field secretary she volunteered for her Master's service.

Great problems confronted her as she started her three year ministry. The field needed help and needed it very much. It had been several years since Minnesota had had the services of a full time secretary.

Several trips were made thru the state at different times by field men loaned by other states but there was no continuity to the work. Because of this lack but little was known of many societies. The information known had been received largely by mail for many districts were unorganized and district officers in many places were minus quantities.

In the three years that Miss Bradt has travelled up and down the state visiting places, reaching people, etc., her work has been blessed of the Master for through her efforts a number of Endeavorers have publicly made their decisions for full time service in Christian work while others are carefully considering the same step.

Miss Bradt will take up work this fall as religious education director at the First Presbyterian Church, Fargo, N. D.

DR. D. POLING GAVE CLOSING ADDRESS

Last Meeting of Convention Held at Auditorium Sunday Evening

Dr. Daniel Poling, Associate President, United Society Christian Endeavor, delivered the closing address of the five day convention of the State Union at the Park Auditorium Sunday evening to a capacity audience. Dr. Poling used as his theme the admonition: "Watch Your Step," which he treated in a masterly way. By apt illustrations applied to our daily lives he deeply impressed his hearers. His three outstanding points were to Watch your Step, Go Forward and Don't Crowd. His first illustration which the speaker declared occasioned his subject was an incident which took place in New York city where at the entrance to the subway station the agent was continually calling "Watch Your Step" to the passengers to warn people of the surrounding dangers. Once inside the railway coach the next step is to move forward and at the same time not to crowd. Every step should be so planned and carefully made that the future would take care of itself. One should follow the leadership and guiding of Jesus Christ urged Dr. Poling. One's own powers are weak and cannot be relied upon in the crucial test. Be dissatisfied with existing conditions and seek to improve them wherever is possible was another point.

DELEGATES VISIT BEAUTIFUL LAKE

Green Lake and Spicer Hosts To Endeavorers Saturday Afternoon

A long and almost spectacular procession of twenty large trucks and forty or more touring cars set off on one of Minnesota's most wonderful lakes Saturday morning at eleven-thirty o'clock. The delegates and visitors numbering four hundred and the hundreds of members of the local church and citizens of Willmar enjoyed the afternoon at Spicer on the shore of beautiful Green Lake. The procession was comprised of fifty or more cars all decorated with Endeavor banners, flags and bunting. The route taken was the usual Green Lake road passing thru some of the best agricultural land in the county.

The trucks contained at an average twenty persons while two of the carriers transported even thirty-five each. Harold B. Handy of the marshal's Garage at Willmar was the marshal chaperon of the procession and had complete charge of the transportation job.

The parade entered Spicer and the village folks came out in throngs. They were prepared for the big afternoon when the State Endeavorers were to pay them a call. The Ladies Social Union of the Presbyterian church of Spicer had prepared a sumptuous dinner which was served to the delegates at Assembly Park at the foot of which lay the waters of the beautiful Green Lake.

After the repast the visitors made use of the scenery found in abundance about the village. Boating, strolling in the woods, playing of games of various kinds and whatever the ingenuity of a happy bright delegate could devise in the line of amusement. A baseball game was played between the meek married men and the self-assertive single men. Swimming contests and lawn games were indulged in. A fat man race was a feature. The afternoon was set aside for recreation after the three days of devoted interest to Convention and Endeavor matters.

At four o'clock in the afternoon the "Fall In" order was sounded and the trucks and pleasure cars filled rapidly. The trip was begun for home, where a big banquet awaited the happy delegates at the Masonic Temple.

Betty Heeter, Minneapolis, it is alleged, attempted to drown one C. C. Hamilton of Boston while out swimming the other day. The result was that she got ducked.

Ernest M. Ligon, Minnesota's field secretary-elect, says he would "almost rather sell than eat." Did you see him selling literature the other morning? That crowd almost made a demand that resembled a "young" auction.

A thrilling story was told by Dr. Poling about a personal experience which he had while climbing in the Cascade Mountains. As one of a party ascending a difficult slope in the hills, he refused to follow the guide but set off on his own hook expecting to make the ascent in shorter time than with the guide. As a result he made a misstep and fell over a cliff beneath which was a rapid flowing river. Fortunately Dr. Poling landed safely in the branches of a large tree and escaped without any serious injuries. The moral Dr. Poling said was to follow the guide.

After one has followed these indexes true Christians hope to reach the goal which is a happy reunion following death in the Faith.

Besides the addresses by Dr. Poling the following program was rendered: Praise service, J. R. Batchelor. Devotionals, Rev. McCullough. Special Music, Presbyterian Church Choir of Willmar. Report of Resolutions Committee. Installation of State Officers, Mr. Hamilton. Offering for State C. E. Work. Offertory Vocal Duet, Rev. McCullough and H. B. Handy. Vocal Solo, "Jesus is Calling," Mrs. Bailey of Foley. Benediction concluding with Mizpah.
