Community Gathering
The community basket social given on Thursday evening was well attended, the crowd numbering nearly 400. The door receipts were $70. There were 84 basket sales. The total proceeds of the evening amounted to $234.70, which was generally speaking, quite satisfactory. The ladies of the village had responded most generously to the appeal for help and financial returns might have been larger if there had not been some "low slackers among the men."

The music of the evening was contributed by home talent and very much appreciated. Mrs. Nordlie, a gracious and favorite soloist, favored the audience, also Miss Ward of the high school faculty who responded to an encore. The male quartet composed of Frank Covell, Benhart Nelson, Elmer Erickson and Wm. Lungstrom pleased the audience highly with several numbers, which were heartily enjoyed. Ben Nelson's fine clear voice in solo debut deserves special mention. The orchestra music was a treat to all. The speakers of the evening were E. F. Fink, J. G. Peterson and L. E. Covell, the first speaking of and for the committee who have had the plans for the erection of the auditorium in charge for the last year. He reviewed the committee's problems and answered briefly some of the few criticisms of the undertaking, closing with a tribute to the faithful contractor, Mr. Christopherson.

Mr. Peterson's speech was an Armistice Day address, reviewing very briefly the history of the world through the past few years leading up to our joyous Nov. 11 and closing with the hope that Europe also may soon find that day a more real anniversary of peace attained. Mr. Covell discussed the question of city ownership versus stock company, as regards the building just erected. The latter part of his address was a beautiful tribute to the boys who answered our country's call for the recent war, and he finally urged us all to get back to right living by following more closely the way of the lowly Nazarine. The sale of baskets followed a two hour comedy which was very much enjoyed.

OIL MEAL
Oil meal cannot be too strongly endorsed as a feed if properly fed. Some of our best feeders of dairy cattle in the county like Robert Thompson and Herman Tallakson have been feeding oil meals with very satisfactory results for years. For the average farmer feeding the common cow under ordinary conditions, he should be warned to go slow on the start not feeding more than a handful a day in connection with other feeds for each cow. This may be gradually increased but it is not wise to exceed a two pound limit for each cow per day. There is no more healthful feed than oil meal. It's general effect is to place the animal in fine condition, with a pliable skin, an oily, slick coat with a good quality of flesh. No other farm feed has such a general beneficial effect on the digestive tract as his oil meal, and the feeder should always have a quantity on hand to deal out to his stock whenever judgment directs its use. Through its palatability it stimulates the heavy consumption of other feed with which it is mixed. The bulk of our farm animals do not give the profit they should because they do not receive the proper variety of feed and enough feed.

All of our dairy cow records for production have been made on rations containing oil meal. It is for fattening steers and sheep that oil meal shows at its best. For growing calves oil meal is of great utility and has already come into general use with progressive stock men. A handful of oil meal at a feed will prove healthful to growing pigs and advertise it.

ATHLETIC ASSN. TO REORGANIZE
There will be a meeting of the men of the city held in the high school gymnasium on Monday, Nov. 21, at 7:30 p.m. for the purpose of re-organizing the athletic association for the winter sports. Through the kindness of the authorities there has been granted the use of the high school gymnasium two nights each week. This will greatly add to the advantage and many more should join this recreational organization that is open for all men of the city. Remember the date and lets get going.

Chas. T. Grace, president.
E. A. Peterson, secretary.
