CHARLES MICKELSON DEAD

Charles E. Mickelson, well-known creamery man of this county, died at his home in Pennock, Wednesday of last week. His death, tho probably not unexpected, as he has been suffering from an incurable disease of the spine, for some time, has cast a gloom of sorrow over a large circle of friends and came as a shock to many.

The malady from which he has suffered is known as spastic paraplegia which developed early last summer tho it did not confine him to his bed until October. The lower part of his body finally became paralyzed. He consulted specialists in Minneapolis and later was taken to a hospital in Willmar, but nothing could be done to save his life and he passed away on April 19, at his home as stated above.

The funeral took place Saturday and was conducted by Rev. N. Nilson of Willmar. Services were held at the house and at the Free church in New London. At the church services, Rev. E. M. Hanson of New London also took part. A male quartette sang and Rev. and Mrs. O. T. Ring of Willmar rendered songs at both services. The pall bearers were Rasmus Rasmussen.

The Late Charles E. Mickelson

John Johnson, Gunder Hough, Lynn Anderson, Herbert Floren and E. L. Thorpe. Honorary pall bearers at New London were Victor Olson, Alfred Lundberg, Arne Skeie, Albert Nordstedt, Mons Flesland and Chas. Bredberg. The remains were laid in the Oak Hill cemetery.

Carl Emil Mickelson was born in Egebjerg, Falsten, Denmark, on the 25th of March (1883, his parents being Hans Jorgen Mickelson and Anne Kristine Mickelson. The father died three years ago. In 1903 Charles came to Benton Harbor, Michigan, where he had an uncle living. The same year he came to Kandiyohi where for nearly a year he was employed at butter-making. The year after he went to New London and had charge of the creamery at that place for eleven years.

In 1906 he was married to Jennie Evenson which union was blessed with three children, of whom one, a boy, died in infancy. After eleven years in New London he went to farming for seven years after which he moved to Pennock and was buttermaker there until October of last year when he must quit on account of failing health. He leaves his heartbroken wife and two children, Edward and Clifford, to mourn his untimely death. He is also mourned by his mother and three brothers living in Denmark.

Vi skal sove, men ei evigt; snart en morgen bryder frem, Da vi vaagne skal til livet Og gaa frem at grav i-ken. Havet giver sine dode, Ørknen, sletter liggessa; Ja, fra fæljede som fra døde-Jordens sletter skal opstaa.

Kor: Vi skal sove, men ei evigt. Snart en morgen bryder frem, Da vi samles skal med glæde I vor faders himmelhjem.

Vi skal sove, men ei evigt I den taune, mørke grav.—Priset være Gud, som tager! Priset være Gud, som gav! I den lyse stad histoppe, Diden aldrig komme kan; Og, naar tiden kommer, kalder Gud os hjem til livets land.

MINNESOTA'S 64TH BIRTHDAY

Celebration Thursday, May 11, of Old Settler Societies to Rally in Old Capitol

Many state officials have accepted the invitation to be guests of honor at the state's birthday party to be staged by the Minnesota Territorial Pioneer Association, organized in 1897, at which time the annual meeting was set on the anniversary of the admission of Minnesota into the Union. The association's Log Cabin was built on the state fair grounds as a headquarters in 1900, but this proved inadequate, so the State Agricultural Society tendered the organization the entire use of Pioneer Portrait Hall, where the association now has a collection of 2,100 pictures of prominent founders of the state. Only families arriving prior to May 11, 1858, are eligible to membership, but many grandchildren are now active in helping compile Minnesota's history of seventy years ago. Four thousand families are enrolled.

The meetings will hold from about 10 a. m. till about 4 p. m., with a banquet dinner by ladies of the G. A. R. County, patriotic, civic and social societies instituted before Minnesota was a state will be represented. Among important matters to be brot before the convention are the securing or building of an appropriate home for the association, the advisability of Minnesota taking equal rank with the neighboring states in recognizing this work as a state department, making the library and art gallery accessible all the year round to Twin City visitors, the issuing of suitable literature and raising a fund to clear off the indebtedness. Though the members are now scattered to every state in the Union, many plan either to attend the fair Thursday, which is always Territorial Pioneer Day in Minnesota, or see their old friends and neighbors at this annual gathering. The development of the great state of Minnesota is one of the most stimulating chapters in the history of the whole north-west and reminiscences exchanged at these reunions help link the threads of history fast slipping beyond recall.

The Log Cabin on the state fair grounds has antique furniture and relics of many families now entirely extinct. Territorial descendants are requested to register year of arrival, location, military record, vocation and political, social and religious activities, also furnish a family portrait.

FARMERS ARE "ASSISTED" AGAIN

About a year ago Congress amended the law so as to permit the War Finance Corporation—a government owned and controlled institution—to financially "assist the farmers."

How, the corporation has used Uncle Sam's money to "perform" this task is told in a report of the first year's operations just submitted to the Senate.

It would appear that a total of $308,439,722 has been paid out or pledged. Of this $235,824,013 has gone to "banking and financing" institutions $63,650,000 to co-operative associations, and 8,965,708 to the big exporting concerns.

Thus the bankers and exporters got four dollars out of every five contributed by the government to "assist the farmers."

Secretary of the Interior Fall, Congressman Hudspeeth, and other unimpeachable witnesses have told us what the bankers did with this money. They used it in many instances to meet their own obligations, and when they loaned it to customers they charged such usurious rates and demanded such unreasonable bonuses that Secretary Fall called the matter to the attention of the President and the cabinet, but so far as the record shows nothing was done.

When it was proposed that the War Finance Corporation be charged with the work of aiding the farmers the Senate was considering a bill by Senator Norris of Nebraska, which provided that the government should deal with the farmers without the interference of bankers or other middle men.

The Norris bill would have passed if Senator Frank Kellogg, of Minnesota, had not intervened, at the suggestion of the President. With the aid of the "Old Guard," Kellogg had the entire undertaking placed in the hands of the War Finance Corporation.

The result has been just what all impartial observers predicted—the measure which was passed to relieve the farmers has been used to increase the bankers' profits.—Labor.

"ALWAYS IN TROUBLE"

of our father, J. M. R. Olson. In loving memory of our loving father who passed away (3) three years ago, April 29th, 1919.

Three years have passed with us apart. The wound has never healed. The pain has never left our hearts. Since your lips in death were sealed, Dear Father, how we loved you, And love cannot forget; May God guide our footsteps, On this lone and dreary shore, Until we shall meet to part no more. Sadly missed by your loving daughters.

FIRST LADY SHERIFF

Lyon county has the distinction of having the first and only lady sheriff in the state. Mrs. Sadie Munroe, widow of the late sheriff of this county, John Munroe, was appointed by the Board of County Commissioners to fill the vacancy occasioned by her husband's death. She is a capable woman and will fill the office of sheriff, although it is not ordinarily considered a woman's work, with credit. She has held the office now for about two weeks.—The Minnetoa Mascot.

DIES OF GUNSHOT WOUND

Shortly before noon on Monday, April 17th, Emil Holebeck was found dead near the barn on his farm. The cause of his death was the discharge of a shotgun shell that blew off the top of his head.

The unfortunate man had just been called into the house by his wife as the stove pipe was very hot and there was danger of fire.

While Mrs. Holebeck went to stop the fire he was asked to go outside and see if there was any danger of fire. When he went out he took his shotgun along and uttered the words that they might as well let everything go. A few minutes later the discharge was heard and he was found dead.

The Fergus Falls Tribune says that he owned a valuable farm and was in good financial circumstances.

POOR SPORTSMANSHIP

William Jennings Bryan says: "I confess to a great surprise at the manner in which the wets have acted. I always supposed that when we had an election in this country it settled things. I know it always did when I was a candidate. This is a law-abiding nation; We abide by the vote of the majority. I never supposed when the nation went dry that there would be any large number of people who claimed to be good citizens who would openly and flagrantly break the law. The United States went dry by a tremendous majority. There has never been a presidential election where there was so large a majority for one candidate as there was for the Prohibition Amendment.

"All the wets had to do was to obtain more than one-third of the votes of both Houses of Congress. They failed. Then all they had to do was to obtain a majority vote in only one branch of the Legislature in eleven states. We had to have 79 Houses in 36 states for ratification. In less than a year and a half we had 92 Houses out of 96. They were able to hold only four branches of state Legislatures and recently they lost even one of them.

"When did any party ever have such a tremendous majority?"
