Ives, Jens Hanson and Aug. Samuelson; District convention, Philip Dick, A. Carlson, C. Stoft, J. R. Bowen and C. R. Davis. Harrison resolutions were adopted.
Mathilda Fletcher lectures at Turner Hall to-morrow evening. Speaking of her, a leading journal says: Mathilda Fletcher is a lady of very prepossessing appearance, of fine physique and with a mental organism quite in harmony with her splendid structural development. She is possessed of a clear, musical voice, speaks with great volubility and convinces her hearers that she is both thoroughly and well furnished in matters pertaining to her subject.
An Alliance convention was held in Sleepy Eye Saturday afternoon at which thirty-one delegates, representing thirteen Alliances, were present. The St. Louis platform of the People's Party was endorsed, but a motion to instruct delegates for Ignatius Donnelly for governor was lost. The delegates to the state nominating convention are Jesse Palmer, M. C. Tauer and J. Montgomery, and to the District convention, C. Halvorsen, S. Bellig and Chas. Cutting. After the convention A. S. Edwards of Minneapolis delivered an enthusiastic address.
The death of Fred Gley Sr. occurred at his home on Broadway Sunday afternoon at about five o'clock of old age. Mr. Gley was born in Germany on the first of May, seventy-five years ago, and came to America in 1868. New Ulm was his first destination and he has resided here with his wife ever since. Four children resulted from their union but only two of these are living now. While never engaged in business he was nevertheless well known and among the people of New Ulm he was respected as a citizen of integrity. The funeral was held yesterday afternoon from the residence.

The sale of seats for the Milwaukee Theatre and Swedish Ladies' Concert is not as large as the merits of these attractions justify. It is seldom that entertainments of such a high order are afforded to New Ulm people and this time it is only through large guarantees. In order to insure success and give encouragement to more of a similar nature, every seat should be occupied.
The Republican state convention will be held in St. Paul to-morrow, the delegates from Brown County being Chas. L. Rood, John Lind, Hans Mo, F. P. James, A. G. Anderson and H. M. Ball. The district convention is being held in Mankato to-day with A. Blanchard of this city, A. Blanchard of Sleepy Eye, E. G. Koch, Oscar Erickson, J. W. B. Wellcome and Nels Christiaansen as representatives of this county.
One of the boldest attempts to rob a house was perpetrated at the home of H. Vogelphohl in Mankato on Tuesday evening of last week. Mrs. Vogelphohl and a Miss Hodapp were sleeping on the second floor and about four o'clock in the morning were startled by the entrance of two men. When the women attempted to cry out the villains applied handkerchiefs saturated with chloroform to their faces, but were nevertheless frightened away. Vogelphohl at one time lived in New Ulm.
Sunday was marked by an unusual number of deaths and among those who were brought face to face with the mystery that we call death was August Fritton, who was one of New Ulm's earliest settlers. Mr. Fritton came to this city in the early fifties and resided here during the struggling scenes leading up to and following the outbreak of the Sioux in 1862. In 1866 he was county treasurer for one term and some years after established the brewery which is now owned by Mr. Schmucker. After the sale of that establishment he led a life of retirement. He was sixty years of age, having been born in Wurtemberg on the 10th of May, 1832, and was at one time a citizen of energy and prominence. The funeral was held yesterday afternoon at one o'clock.
Company A was inspected Saturday evening by Inspector General Bunker, assisted by Capt. Knowlton of Minneapolis. Fifty-one men, including officers, responded to roll-call and the company, with uniforms and accoutrements in bright and well-kept condition presented an appearance that could not fail to call forth words of commendation. The drilling and manual practice was all executed in the hall and so much did every movement resemble clock-work, that, when coupled with the splendid appearance, the inspector was tempted to admit that it was the best company he had thus far visited in his annual tour. This speaks well for the officers and members and at the same time should be ample cause for just pride among our citizens.
There is a concern not far outside the legal limits of this city, or in plain words a habitation of ill-repute where a business is carried on that is illegitimate in the eyes of the law and respectable society and that is doing more to degrade the youth of this city, and we might safely include the older men, than any practice that is licensed in the state. Dr. Ames, who once aspired to the office of governor, was tempted to call institutions of this kind a necessary evil, but he lied. Vice, lust and filthy habits were never necessary factors in bringing about human happiness, and when they go so far, as has been the case here lately, to destroy the peace of a home and bring disgrace and unhappiness to the family circle, it is time that public opinion should warm to its duty and demand that such imported stock be compelled to seek regions where the thermometer doesn't show quite so high a degree of public contempt. New Ulm isn't quite so ready to assume metropolitan airs as to include the corruption and slums also.
Week before last Mankato was visited by representatives of four different liquor cures, all wanting to locate here. The representative of the Keeley cure wanted $100,000 for the state right, and, only about half the amount was subscribed. It was too rich for Mankato blood, and will have to seek an abiding place elsewhere. Another wanted only a thousand, but this was considered too cheap, and he, too, is wandering elsewhere. A third concluded to pin its faith to Mankato, located here, and already is enjoying a liberal patronage—the patients, of course, coming from other points. The fourth concluded to drop his formula, adopted the Phoenix and will probably locate at Austin. It looks now as if the state will soon be flooded with these institutions. The Eagle Grove company, which locates here, has done a great deal of good, it has representatives in nearly every county of Southwestern Minnesota, all of whom are living evidences of the good it can accomplish. The company rented several rooms to start with, but so rapid has been the demands upon it that all the vacant rooms in Union block have been rented and will be brought into use.—Mankato Review.
