HE LOOKED CRAZY.

A Peculiarity of the Goat Got the Station Master in Trouble.

A goat has often put a man at a disadvantage, but seldom so effectually as in a case recently reported by the foreign correspondent of a New York newspaper.

Station-master Marchand, at the little village of Godarville, in Belgium, has a goat which has the peculiarity of allowing only Madame Marchand to milk her.

A short time ago Madame Marchand went to market before breakfast. The station-master was in haste to begin his daily duties, and there was nothing in the house to eat. He approached the goat with a pail on his arm, and the goat, as usual began to kick and buck. In despair, he decided to masquerade as his wife, and humbug the goat into being milked.

He put on his wife's skirts, waist and bonnet, and returned to the shed. The goat was docile, and he began milking her. His preparations, however, had consumed more time than he realized, and before the pail was half-full he was astonished to hear the whistle of the first morning express, which it was his most important duty to meet.

He dropped the pail, ran to the house, exchanged his wife's bonnet for his red and blue cap of office, and with flying skirts hurried to the station platform. The sight of an individual with a full beard in flowing skirts and a station-master's cap dazed everybody on the train, and gave the porters at the station the idea that Marchand had gone crazy. A policeman was summoned, and the station-master was marched off to jail.

To the railroad authorities, who began an investigation of his conduct, Marchand explained the responsibility of the obstreperous goat for his unprecedented performance. He was punished by temporary removal from office.

A WESTERN FISH STORY.

It Discounts Its Eastern Relative In Point of Size and Veracity.

One of the party of lumbermen who had recently visited this coast was telling of the wonderful things he had seen in this and adjoining states while with the party, says the San Francisco Call.

"When we were on the way out," said he, "we made up our minds to watch the Californians, for we were led to believe from the big stories we had heard that they were given to stretching the long bow, but to their credit be it said that everything we heard was verified, even to the taking of 126,000 feet of lumber from a single tree. But they told us a story which they were unable to verify; still we believe in the view of the correctness of everything else that they told us.

"It was this: One winter according to the raconteur, there was such an unusual run of salmon in the Sacramento river that in forcing their way up stream they ran against and broke several piles that supported a railroad bridge and it sagged in the center, making it unsafe for a train to pass over it. It was near train time, and the salmon, noticing the damage they had done, got together, piled one on top of the other, raised the bridge to its proper level, and held it up until the train passed over it safely.

TWOFOLD HORROR

Flood, Fire and Explosion Combined Wreck Pennsylvania Towns.

Oil City and Titusville Stricken, With Appalling Loss of Life.

OIL CITY, Pa., June 6.—Never before in the history of Oil City and the oil country has there been such disaster, excitement and turmoil as this city is now witnessing. This morning the city and country for miles around was startled by two explosions occurring almost simultaneously. Oil creek is a raging torrent, and Center street for one square was a solid mass of humanity, and 500 or 1,000 people had gathered at the bridge on Center street, watching the muddy waters rolling by. At noon upon the opposite side of the stream, a green fluid floating on the water was noticeable. This increased rapidly in quantity and extent and at last covered almost entirely the yellow muddy waters of the creek. A smell of gas and oil was perceptible. It was barely noticed when about 200 yards up the stream a mass of flame shot heavenward. "Run," yelled a hundred voices and the people turned like stampeded cattle and started for the hills. Hardly had they started when a terrific explosion rent the air, and the entire creek and for hundreds of feet on each side seemed one seething mass of flames and smoke. The panic-stricken crowd shrieked madly in their effort to escape. Women and children were tramped under foot, and about twenty were severely bruised and had to be picked up by a few of the cooler-headed and carried out of harm's way. Oil creek, usually, is not more than a foot deep at this point, where it empties into the Allegheny river, and is about 100 yards wide.

A tank filled with gasoline was standing on a siding. Some young men, passing noticed that the tank was leaking, and knowing its explosive nature and seeing a shifting engine approach, ran up the side of the hill, where they turned and looked down as the engine passed, witnessing a fearful sight. A mass of flames shot 100 feet into the air and with an awful tremor. The engineer and fireman were seen jumping from the cab, and it is supposed at this writing they were burned to death or killed by the force of the explosion. In an instant the flames swept madly over the entire upper part of the city, which is flooded by the oily waters of the creek. Men, women and children who were moving from their houses were caught by the deadly flames, and if not burned to death outright were drowned in the raging flood. At this writing seven ghastly bodies have been taken from the flood and are lying on the track unrecognized. At this end of the city was an iron and wooden bridge, which went down five minutes after the fire started, the huge iron structure being broken and swept away like so much kindling wood. From this bridge southward for a quarter of a mile the entire town is destroyed and the fire is still raging.

The fire department is making heroic efforts to stop the flames and risking their lives every instant, as it is not known at what time many of the immense oil tanks above here will burst and send their burning contents down upon them. Nine large tanks of the Imperial Refining company are visible from here and all are burning, and it is greatly feared that the burning oil will again come down the creek, and if it should little of the business portion of the city will remain standing. Paul & Sons' furniture house, a four-story, immense building, was swept away with $30,000 worth of stock, furniture, etc. Reinbold's hotel and livery stable were destroyed in a few minutes, and Mr. Reinbold and two others who have not been identified

WERE BURNED TO DEATH. Those three bodies have been recovered, and it is not known how many more are lost at this writing. About all the Third ward has been destroyed, and the fire is still doing its awful work in this part of the city. People are panic-stricken, and mothers are running about madly looking for their lost children. Fathers or families are searching for their children and endeavoring to get them all together in a place of safety. It is almost impossible to find words to describe this awful calamity, and at this time no one has any idea of the number of lives that have been lost. For miles up the creek on both sides everything is in ruins, and hundreds of families have been rendered homeless. The fire came so suddenly and unexpectedly that very little if any property has been saved along this stream, and the sky for miles around is still black with the smoke from burning dwelling houses and oil tanks.

Stolen Property Recovered. DUBUQUE, Iowa, Special, June 6.—Howard and Collins in jail here or blowing the same in the New Albin postoffice, are believed to be from Clinton. When overtaken by a posse, which pursued them along the Southern Minnesota railway and captured them at Clouston, Minn. They had the stolen property in their possession.

Conscience Stricken Murderer. SAN BERNARDINO, Cal., June 6.—Charles Crawford was convicted of the murder of Christian Blpt. on circumstantial evidence and sentenced to San Quentin prison for life. To-day a letter was received postmarked San Francisco, signed Charles Canus, which stated the writer who was the principal witness against Crawford, killed Bolt himself, and that it was a put up job to send Crawford to prison. After stating he is the most miserable man on earth, the writer intimates he is going to commit suicide.

DAMAGE AT CORRY.

Torrents of Water Running Through the Principal Streets.

CORRY, Pa., June 6.—The most destructive rainstorm that has ever visited this locality began yesterday afternoon. It was a heavy cloudburst, and by evening the eastern and business portion of the town was under water, the rain still falling in perfect torrents. Streets and railroad yards were like a roaring river, the water being from one to three feet deep and emptying into the flats in the eastern portion of the city. There many people were being rescued from their homes in the best way possible. There was no loss of life and few injured. The southern side of the town presents a sad appearance, but the eastern portion is still worse. The loss on stock to merchants is heavy. The loss throughout the city will reach $50,000. The storm was general throughout this locality and in the country districts the loss can hardly be estimated. The roads are impassable and everything in the path of the flood was swept away. But two of the five passenger trains reached the city last evening, and they are still here with prospects of their staying until morning. Bridges and culverts on all roads centering here have been carried away. The great stone culvert at the west end of the city was carried away and will be a heavy loss to the Erie company. It is thought that by morning passenger service will again be resumed. The storm lasted nine hours and was the most destructive ever known here.

VATICAN TREASURES. A Valuable Exhibit Proposed at the World's Fair. CHICAGO, June 6.—William J. Onahan, accompanied by World's Fair Commissioner Thomas B. Bryan and Mr. W. A. Amberg, president of the Columbus club, the leading Catholic organization of Chicago, called on Vatican General Davis in relation to the Vatican treasures which he has signified his intention to exhibit at the Columbian exposition. Mr. Onahan submitted to the director general the cablegram received from Archbishop Ireland announcing the intention of the pope to make an exhibit and desiring that provision be made for special space. Mr. Onahan said this mark of the pope's interest would assuredly have wide influence, and reach quarters where the embassies of the world's fair could scarcely be expected to extend. Mr. Bryan also spoke regarding the cordial reception met with at the Vatican as the representative of the exposition.

As soon as its nature and extent are made known steps will be taken to provide for it in the most satisfactory manner. It is thought that the exhibit will include a number of the great works of art in the Vatican collection, many manuscripts, together with some of the more valuable of the publications of the propaganda press.

DOUBLE SUICIDE. A Chicago Man Kills Himself and His Mistress. CHICAGO, June 6.—Rudolph Hacker, a cigar manufacturer, and Mrs. Louise Plum, wife of Jacob H. Plum, were found dead in bed together in the woman's house at 114 North Halstead street to-day. The gas was turned on full from two jets and the circumstances pointed to a double suicide. But subsequent developments went to show that Hacker found the woman asleep in the house, and to prevent her leaving him, which she was contemplating doing, he turned on the gas and killed her and himself. The woman had been separated from her husband for three years because of her relations with Hacker. She had recently promised to return to her home, and it is suspected that Hacker became aware of this he resolved upon the deed which ended both lives.

DEEP SNOW. Wyoming Visited by Eight Inches of the Beautiful. CHEYENNE, Wyo., June 6.—A storm, having all the earmarks of a midwinter blizzard, has raged here all day. A blinding snow is falling—the wind piling it in great drifts. The snow is now eight inches deep on a level. Traffic has been suspended all day. All freight trains have been put on sidings. The storm is general throughout the state and will cause a severe loss to cattle and sheep herds. Grass, grain and all vegetation is practically destroyed. It is feared there will be loss of life in the mountains.

Rustlers' Lot. RED LODGE, Mont., June 6.—A private letter received to-day from James Corbett, from Arland, Wyo., forty miles south of here, states that Sheriff Stow of Fremont county shot and killed a man named Dab and a boy named Gilley a few miles south of that place, but no particulars are obtainable. Cattlemen from that vicinity state Dab was a well known rustler, and it is supposed was killed while resisting arrest.

Mrs. Harrison Sleepless. WASHINGTON, June 6.—Mrs. Harrison's condition continues to improve, was the assurance given to a reporter by Dr. Gardner, her physician, to-night. Her chief trouble at this time is insomnia, superinduced by nervous prostration, and this is being gradually overcome. No arrangements have yet been made for her removal. When she is removed it will be to some inland resort where there will be no danger of a recurrence of the bronchial troubles, which would be sure to reappear were she removed to the seashore.

California's Visible Supply. SAN FRANCISCO, June 6.—The annual report of the San Francisco produce exchange shows the amount of wheat in the state June 1 was 2,000,000 cents, as against 10,000,000 cents Dec. 1, 1891. Flour, 120,000 barrels, against 140,000; barley, 915,000 cents, against 2,804,000 cents; oats, 40,000 cents, against 108,000; beans, 128,000 sacks, against 275,000; corn, 93,000 cents, against 263,000; rye, 6,000 cents, against 39,000.

An Alleged Forger Arrested. DICKINSON, N. D., Special, June 6.—C. J. D. Hines was jailed here to-day on the charge of forgery. He has been going by the name of Lowery. He came from Missouri.

Murderer Dooley Will Hang. CRESTON, Iowa, June 6.—James Dooley, the murderer of Mrs. Coons and her eight-year-old daughter at Prescott, has been sentenced to be hung June 5 of next year.

A New York Conference. The New York Blaineites held a conference yesterday afternoon which was addressed by Burleigh, Barnes and other New York gentlemen. Senators Teller and Wolcott of Colorado were afterward introduced. They compared the strength of the different candidates in the silver states. They said that neither Harrison nor Sherman could carry these states. On the other hand Blaine or Sherman could carry New York, but Harrison could not. The conclusion was that Blaine should be nominated if the Republican party wished to be successful this next fall.
