A new disease is said to have broken out among the horses in Lafayette. Those who understand such matters claim it is diphtheria and in most cases fatal. Wm. Haelskamp lost four horses through this cause last week and others are sustaining similar losses.
 It again begins to look as if New Ulm was really to have a new depot, in that an order has been issued for the laying of old steel through the yards here and of new steel on either side. This would hardly be done unless some important improvements were contemplated.

Sunday evening "The Noble Outcast" will be presented at Turner Hall by J. V. Melton assisted by local talent. The play is a good one and is being thoroughly rehearsed, so that the production will not be a disappointment. Melton has been seen in the leading role before and fills it well.
 A fire was started in a wood shed to the rear of Julius Krause's house on Sunday and destroyed one side of the shed before it was extinguished. It seems that a basket of saw-dust was standing near the shed and over this some small boy had poured oil which ignited in the heat of the afternoon.

A. Blanchard, Doc Hirsch, Doc Strickler, J. Newhart and one or two others have organized a Christian Endeavor society—that is they promise to make a christian endeavor to play cinch in this hot weather and maintain an evenness of temper even if some one bids fourteen without the low.
 From the Mankato Free Press it appears that A. F. Rabe, formerly of Nicollet, is having somewhat unpleasant family relations at present. Mrs. Rabe charges her husband with brutal treatment and he in turn accuses her of insanity. Rabe has been held for trial on the accusation of assault and Mrs. Rabe is awaiting probate examination as to the soundness of her reason.

Hon. O. B. Turrell, of Redwood Falls, candidate for the Republican nomination for congress, was in town Saturday. He claims he will go into the convention with a majority of the delegates from Redwood, Lyon, Lincoln, Brown, Pipestone, Faribault, Yellow Medicine, Chippewa, Rock, Murray, Jackson and Lac Qui Parle, and should he do this he need have little fear of the nomination.

 Ang. Essig, of Cottonwood county, and Miss Augusta Draeger, of Lafayette, were united in marriage yesterday. Both parties are quite well and favorably known here and the REVIEW takes pleasure in extending to them the fullest congratulations.

The practice of selling beer at public gatherings without a license still continues, and, as the REVIEW has said on so many occasions, it is wrong. One organization, it is claimed, sold over $350 worth on the Fourth, and under such circumstances those who pay to dispose of such beverages must suffer. Why don't the authorities do something in the matter?
 As an instance of the prevalent ignorance of some people of the contents of what they buy, a man from the country walked into Eibner's restaurant the other day and drank a glass of lemonade. Not long after he returned with a jug and wanted it filled to take home with him, a distance of ten miles. He gave as his reason that the lemonade was cooler than the water on his farm.

In the Cottonwood river on Sunday, a young man tried to exhibit a certain quality, that doesn't require naming, by running a boat into the roaring waters just below the mill dam and then standing up in the boat and rocking it from side to side. If anything should have happened to this young man during his cute performance, no one on the shore would have experienced any regret and the smart young man would only have enjoyed the reward of foolhardiness.
 Wm. McHale, operator in the depot here, experienced a very narrow escape from drowning while on a visit to his home in McGregor, Iowa, last week. In company with two other young men he was returning from Prairie du Chien in a row boat at night, and when half way across the Mississippi the boat capsized and the three occupants were thrown into the water. One of them was drowned, but McHale clung to the boat and managed to reach shore alive. The experience, he says, was not of the most delightful nature.

A meeting of the school boards of Nicollet county was held in St. Peter last week which proved to be very interesting. Various topics of educational interest, including teachers' salaries and free text books, were discussed and the following resolution, introduced by J. H. Doty, was adopted: "Resolved, that it is the sense of this meeting that the question of free text books be presented for decision to the voters at the next annual meeting and that the county superintendent be requested to issue a circular explaining the plan and purpose of the proposed system."

Several New Ulm families spent Monday on the picnic grounds near Alexander Harkin's place in West Newton.
 The delegates from this county to the Peoples' Party convention in St. Paul, left for the scene of action yesterday. The convention opens today.
 Brown county is given eleven delegates in the Democratic state convention, Redwood four and Nicollet eight. The convention will be held on August 3rd.

We wonder what the name is that is given to a diamond when the assessor comes around. Nearly everybody has one, but the returns show an assessed diamond and jewelry valuation for the entire city of only $100. Something wrong somewhere.
 On Tuesday morning a young man was found lying near the road in a Linden farm grove, apparently dead, but really only sleeping. When aroused he said he had had a horse and carriage and a lady with him when he started out, but how he got out was more than he knew. Discovering that the girl had gone with the rig, leaving him to walk fourteen miles to New Ulm, he was greatly perplexed and probably realized then for the first time that he had celebrated too much with keg juice.

The inmates of the institutions on the Nicollet county side are imposing upon public toleration just a little too much, as people, who ride along the river at night and hear the shrieks and witness the unseemly scenes of shameless women while out boat riding, can testify. It is time the wishes of the respectable people of the community be given a hearing and that those who have no respect for decency and law be called to time. New Ulm citizens need not be disgraced by strangers of ill-repute unless the authorities are willing.

The Garden Region can produce the choicest and most beautiful flowers. It is not only the finest country on earth for grain, grass and general farming, but it also excels in other products of mother earth which represent the beautiful. We were impressed with this fact the other day by seeing a very fine collection of roses which Hon. C. W. H. Heideman, of New Ulm, had raised in his garden, and had sent to Hans Knudson, of this place, who, as well as Mr. Heideman, takes great interest in garden and fruit products.—Springfield Advertiser.

The Nicollet county Republican convention was held at St. Peter last Saturday and elected Ives and Davis delegations to the state and congressional conventions. The delegates chosen are C. Amundson, J. S. Carlson, E. S. Pettijohn, L. M. Erickson, P. Dick, W. J. Bean, W. N. C. Buschard and Sven Swenson to the state convention, and C. Amundson, J. S. Carlson, J. H. Block, G. A. Blomeberg, A. Nelson, W. G. Gresham, A. Samuelson, H. C. Miller and M. G. Hanscome to the district gathering. Both Ives and Davis, were permitted to pick the delegates.

John Roberts, a farmer whose home is near Essig, is at the hospital in this city nursing a broken leg. He had been in New Ulm on the Fourth and the following day took a freight for home. The train stopped at Essig and a brakeman looked into the caboose to see if Roberts had got off. Not seeing him the train was again started and it was then that Roberts realized where he was and jumped from the rear platform. Both bones of his leg were broken in the fall and he was taken at first to Sleepy Eye and then to New Ulm. He threatens to bring suit against the company for damages.
