

New Ulm Review

F. W. JOHNSON, Editor and Prop.
Wednesday, July 27, 1892.

Judge Cox is being boomed quite extensively as the Democratic candidate for Congress. The Judge is said to have a record.

The scarcity of delegates that can be connected with the name of Gov. McGill in his gubernatorial aspirations is good evidence that the people get tired of a man who always wants office.

The St. Peter Herald says nominate Dan Lawler and the kids will do the rest. Then it differs with the Democrats than with the Republicans. Among the latter, the old wheel-horses, it seems still to have a good deal to say.

When a McCleary delegate stepped up to the hotel clerk upon leaving Mankato and offered to pay his bill he was politely informed that everything was square. That accounts perhaps for the great number of McCleary delegates. The road, you know, to a man's heart is either through his pocket book or his stomach.

Prof. McCleary has demonstrated what hustling can do. Eight months ago his inexperience in politics caused his aspirations to be looked upon in the light of a joke. Sixty votes at his disposal on the first ballot places a complexion of an entirely different character upon the prim and gentlemanly looking professor.

An exchange has made a valuable suggestion in calling upon Mr. Merriam to serve as manager of the central committee in case Mr. Nelson is nominated for governor. That would enable the two to work together as they are now and perhaps remove some of that strong suspicion that seems to bother those outside the secrets of the success of the Nelson campaign.

Bro. Pease's misfortune is lamentable. Week after week he told the readers of the Anoka Union that McGill would be nominated and now that all of the delegates have been selected and McGill gets hardly a taste the anguish of our bald-headed brother must be almost unbearable. And when he considers that even his own county went back on his choice, he must couple with that unwelcome thought the other cruel fact that his influence is really no more than that of a jesters jingle.

Gov. Merriam will pass from public view before many moons says the St. Peter Herald. If our wish was always father to our thoughts and real beliefs we would say that the Herald was correct, but such is not the case. The pluck shrewdness and political finesse of Mr. Merriam and the condition of the public pulse regarding bossism doesn't indicate the immediate turning down of our young and scheming governor. If the Herald will only note the smooth sailing accorded to Mr. Nelson, it is very apt to take a similar view of the matter.

A gentleman at Mankato in nominating Mr. McCleary in the Republican district convention launched forth into an eulogy of that gentleman that reminded us somewhat of the preacher who forgot himself when he intended to discourse on the prodigal son and talked instead in eloquent terms of the fattened calf. Mr. McCleary may be a scholar and a polished gentleman, but there is no excuse whatever for saying that he has made more Republicans than you can count in a day or that while others were at the forefront of the battle fighting shoulder to shoulder the gallant professor sat calmly in his office laying the foundations of Republicanism. As long as Mr. McCleary was sure of the delegates there was no need for such spread-eagleishness as this.

Mr. Spellbrink Takes Exceptions.

Editor Review: Please permit me to make some explanatory remarks in reference to an article which appeared in the last issue of your esteemed paper which runs in substance as follows:
"The ticket nominated last Wednesday is a good one, and whether we approve of the method employed or not makes no difference. The candidates are all men whom the people can trust and the votes of all good republicans should be registered in their favor next November."

From the above anybody may draw the conclusion that the writer of said article is in doubt whether the methods employed in order to secure said nominations were just and fair, and I have since learned from different parties that the above item had special reference to the nomination of Judge of Probate, which place I was chosen to fill on the ticket by a good round majority of delegates present at said county convention.

Consequently I think it is my duty to the party and citizens of Brown county as well as to myself to state that I never was, nor thought of being a candidate before that convention for any office previous to the afternoon session of said body. It was shortly before and during the course of the said session that numerous delegates from all parts of the county urged me to consent to be a candidate.

I consented to let my name go before the convention and stated further that if chosen by a good majority I would accept.

I will further state that I am not aware, nor do I believe that any of my friends that supported me at said convention have used any unfair means in order to secure the results already published.

Under the circumstances and prevailing sentiments at said convention I considered it my duty as a good Republican and citizen to take the course I have taken, and I think that every one present, if he does not wish to make any gross misrepresentation of facts will bear me out in this.

G. A. SPELLBRINK.

The Dog as a Taxpayer.

The following communication has been handed to us for publication:

It cannot be said against the dog of Brown county that he is shirking his duty as a taxpayer.

When the assessor comes around and says to him: "I guess we will put you down for $5.00. The dog says: all right, and if there is any extra fine specimen of our kind call him $20.00 or $25.00; money is of no concern to us; all we care for is a good reputation."

The dog don't hide away his property, conceal his money or credit, swear to a false statement to escape his just share of taxation, and then afterwards lay awake at night and cry for his sin's sake. When the board of equalization meets he takes his gun and goes out hunting or bathing. In this county he pays taxes on a valuation of $7,685 and for what? He never says: no taxes without representation. He don't care a dime who runs this country or how it is run. He don't go into court for protection on life and property, and in fact has not until just lately even been recognized by the law of this State as property.

But when his two legged brother spends his evening bawling the unjust and unfair distribution of taxation, he will sit down on his hind end, looking complacently at the full moon or keeping up a dialogue with his neighbors at a distance. If he goes to church and makes the slightest attempt to take part in the exercises he will be kicked out once, and the schools and societies treat him the same way.

Thought he was Kitzberger.

An old man named Thomas Bennepbeck, living at 293 Colbourne street, was run down by a Milwaukee short line train at Ridgewood shortly after 9 o'clock yesterday morning, and injured so that he died at St. Joseph's hospital soon after he was taken there. He was 71 years old. All that is known about the matter by his family is that he started out for a walk shortly after breakfast. The engineer of the train claims that he rang the bell and blew the whistle, but the man failed to step out of danger. He was struck on the back of the head and knocked out of the way, so that the body is not mutilated. The remains were not identified until last evening, and were supposed to be those of a man named Anton Kitzberger, of New Ulm, who has been missing since July 2, and was believed to be in St. Paul.—Minneapolis Journal of Saturday.

A Pension for a Ranger.

Representative Lind has secured favorable consideration of the bill granting a pension to Joseph Fortier, who was a private in the Renville rangers of the Minnesota militia volunteers. He is now a resident of Granite Falls. During the Indian war of 1862 he was wounded while defending Fort Ridgely. He will receive a pension as usual in such cases.

McCLEARY IS A WINNER.

Blue Earth County will Furnish the Next Republican Candidate for Congress.

Davis Went in Second in the Race and Turrell was Hardly in it.

Four Ballots were Needed, but McCleary had a Good Lead from the Start.

James T. McCleary, whose announcement as a congressional aspirant has November created such a titter, has focused the politicians and proved himself a campaign worker of more than ordinary energy and tact. By liberal use of printers' ink and the knowledge of civics which he has acquired as one of the principals in the Mankato Normal School, and we might add the other means which are usually employed in politics, for Mr. McCleary seems to have adopted himself to them as readily as a duck does to water—he brought to his support a following of 60 delegates on the first ballot.

The convention which nominated him was held in Mankato last Thursday. A. Blanchard of this city called it to order and Mr. Funk of Jackson County was chosen as chairman with Frank James of Pipestone as secretary.

Caucuses were held in the morning and it was apparent then that McCleary knew his men. His delegates cared little about the organization and seemed only anxious for a ballot. When it came they went wild.

Turrell manifested hardly any strength. Redwood voted for him on the first ballot, as did also Brown, but that was about all. Charlie Davis put up a better showing, but even he, experienced politician that he is, found himself outdone by the unassuming gentleman from Mankato.

The first ballot was as follows:
McCleary..... 60
Davis..... 39
Turrell..... 17
Miller..... 10
Dunn..... 13

The second showed a gain for both McCleary and Davis.
McCleary..... 63
Davis..... 40
Turrell..... 15
Miller..... 10
Dunn..... 12

When the third ballot was being taken H. J. Miller's name was withdrawn and the vote was announced as follows:
McCleary..... 68
Davis..... 47
Turrell..... 13
Dunn..... 11

At this juncture Dunn withdrew and his votes went to McCleary who thereby secured a majority.

The resolutions passed by the convention indorse C. K. Davis and highly commend the course in congress of Hon. John Lind.

Democratic County Politics.

The Democratic county convention will be held in Sleepy Eye next Saturday and from present appearances the officers will not go begging. There are already plenty of candidates in the field and it is not difficult to name some of the nominees in advance. For the position of representative two names seem to be most preferred—E. P. Bertrand and Wm. Skinner. The latter evidently has the lead. Over the auditorship there will be a fight. Many leading Democrats do not believe in making a nomination and as there is no one particularly anxious to make a contest against Krook it is thought the place for a Democratic name on the Australian ticket will be left vacant. For treasurer John Sturm's name is mentioned and he is also believed to be an aspirant.

Fred Pfander will most likely be nominated for register of deeds, and Francis Basen, E. P. Bertrand and Peter Geschwind will enter the contest for probate robes. Albert Steinhauer is frequently talked of for superintendent of schools, while J. C. Rothenberg will certainly have a walk-a-way in the convention for the position of coroner. J. B. Schmid is willing to accept the nomination for sheriff and Henry Scheibel is an aspirant for the same place.
