Jos. Flor took out a warrant for the arrest of Ed. Summer on Monday and the trial came off before Judge Blanchard on a charge of assault, the fine being $10 and costs, amounting to $15 in all. It seems that Flor found Summer in his barn Monday morning with a cigar in his mouth and dragged him out, at the same time chasing him off the premises. Summer then picked up a stone and threw it at Flor, cutting a large gash in his head.

Judge Blanchard was kept quite busy Monday morning. The first case to come up before him was one in which Miss Mary Fischer of Cottonwood complained of John Lorber. It appeared from the evidence that Lorber had been paying his attention to the plaintiff, but that she refused to have anything to do with him after learning that he was subject to occasional moments of intoxication. Thereupon she threatened to kill her and take his own life. The Judge decided to place Lorber under $300 bonds to keep the peace and also compelled him to pay the costs, amounting to $13.40. He did both and was sent forth a wiser man.

REMEMBERING THE BRAVES.

Memorial Day Observed in New Ulm with Appropriate Ceremony.

Old Veterans Turn Out in Large Numbers to Pay Respect to their Comrades.

A flag over many a building yesterday morning indicated the return of the day set aside to honor the heroes of the late war. It was a bright day, and the sun shone down in smiles of warmth upon the work of sweet memory and love. The survivors of the great struggle donned their uniforms; school children brought fresh flowers, citizens laid business aside, and all went forth to the cemetery to show that they hadn't forgotten the deeds of 1862.

A large procession formed near Tur-Hall, larger than it has been for some years, and as it came down Minnesota Street, marching slowly to the sounds of solemn music, it offered a sight that awakened a feeling of sympathy for the spirit of the day in the minds of all who viewed it as it passed.

At the head was Marshal Eckstein and his assistant, Henry Seifert. The Star Band followed and then in regular order Company A, about three hundred school children, the mayor, speaker and city council, the Concordia Band, St. Joseph's Society, Hecker Post, marshaled by Col. Pfaender, and citizens in carriages. It was a line of fine appearance and showed the interest that is taken in the cause of the old soldier.

Arrived at the cemetery, appropriate singing and music by the band was listened to and then Gustav Fischer made an excellent address in German.

In the English address the people were disappointed as Attorney Robertson of Springfield, who was to deliver it, was called east on Saturday.

The Musicals.

Turner Hall was well filled with people last Friday night who were anxious to hear what was to be heard. No program of the musicals had been circulated, and everybody was therefore curious to know what was in store for them. When it was over, many compliments were heard for the talent which made the affair possible.

The piano selections of Miss Hirsch were particularly fine and so also was the solo, Norma, by Miss Lillian Klossner. The trio by the Misses Klossner, Newhart and Schuetz and the duets by the same parties were well worth the applause they received, while the recitations and songs by the little Misses Blethen and McElhinny simply "brought the house down." S. A. McElhinny in his solo selections did very well for the first time, while the K. P. quartette—well they seemed to win all the honors as well as all the cabbage heads of the evening. Time and again they were called out and we are almost sorry that we were compelled to treat them as we did. Our heart went out to them, along with the cabbage.

Miss Lou Yates sang "Over the Bridge" in a manner that caught the audience, and Miss Gina Otterholm and Mrs. McElhinny also favored the audience with entertaining vocal selections. Recitations by Misses Otterholm and Schuetz and by Mrs. Blethen were scattered through the program and received flattering attention from those present. On the whole, and everything considered, the amateurs gave an excellent entertainment, well worth the patronage it received.

THE COUNTRY DISTRICTS.

County Superintendent Steinhauser Makes A Selection of Text Books.

The Publications of the American Book Co. Are Largely Favored.

The American Book Company will evidently come in for a good share of the sale of books in this county under the new text book law. Superintendent Steinhauser has just issued a circular letter to the clerks of the various districts and in this he says: "Although it is not made obligatory upon me by the law recently enacted relating to text books to recommend a list for your adoption, nevertheless I feel assured that by so doing matters will be greatly expedited and good text books assured. In preparing a list, I have consulted and received suggestions from the best teachers in the county and feel justified in presenting this list for your consideration."

In Reading he suggests Harper's Series or Barnes New National Readers, both being published by the American Book Co. As supplementary reading matter he mentions the Normal course. For the study of arithmetic, Greenleaf's Brief and complete course and White's New Elementary and Complete text books are suggested, the latter also being the publications of the same large firm.

He recommends the books now in use in the county for the study of language, these being Maxwell's and Reed & Kellogg's. Metcalf Bright's Language Exercises, Southworth & Goddard's works. Reed's Introductory Lessons and Hyde's Lessons are also mentioned. Here also it will be seen that Maxwell's an American Book Co. publication is also favored.

The superintendent mentions no series in particular. The books are used extensively in the county now and he sees no good reason why a change should be made. Barnes' Brief History of the United States and Niles' School History, the text books now in use in many districts in the county, are suggested, both published by the firm elsewhere mentioned and in addition he advises each district to purchase one copy of each of the following works: Montgomery's Beginner's American History and also Leading Facts in American History, Johnston's History, Eggleston's History and the Electric History of the United States. The two latter are by the American Book Co. Harrington's Spelling Book by the same firm is also chosen text books and Kellogg's First Book in Physiology and Hygiene. For copy books the superintendent mentions no series in particular.

In looking over the above it would look as if the American Co. had come in for more than its share, but investigation has shown us that the favoritism is flavored with a good deal of wisdom. The company is undoubtedly the largest in the country and its publications are so various that the entire business of a country district can almost be done with them alone, an advantage which should not be overlooked. The books mentioned above are now used by the schools of New Ulm and Sleepy Eye to a great degree, and in all the large schools of the country they meet with great favor. This ought to be recommendation enough in their favor and the recommendations of the superintendent can be acted upon by the country districts with safety. Many of the books we are familiar with and can therefore speak without hesitancy.

Wagner & Saverien are now ready to attend to all bicycle repairs.

Dr. Sveriz's Prax.

We desire to say to our citizens, that for years we have been selling Dr. King's New Life Pills, Bucklen's Arnica Salve and Electric Bitters, and have never handled remedies that sell as well, or that have given such universal satisfaction. We do not hesitate to guarantee them every time, and we stand ready to refund the purchase price, if satisfactory results do not follow their use. These remedies have won their great popularity purely on their merits. O. M. Olsen, Druggist.
