W. Eibner is in Chicago this week. He expects to buy his stock of toys while away. "Almenrausch und Edelweiss" will be produced on the last evening of the County Fair.

A daughter, born early Sunday morning, causes Fred Meyer's face to be wreathed in smiles. It is a fact that the Brown County Fair will be a success. Don't forget the dates Sept. 22, 23 and 24th.

The State boiler inspector collected the usual fees here last week. Of soft snaps his is surely one of them. H. L. Blethen, supt. of races, is hard at work securing good entries. Special purses are being offered.

Mrs. and Mrs. Luders of Chicago spent a portion of the week in our city as the guests of Mr. and Mrs. Albert Behnke. Miss Frida Hauenstein, accompanied by her sister, Mrs. Carl Furst and son, arrived here from Chicago Monday afternoon.

C. Filzen has been given the contract to grade and macadamize German Street from First South to Third North for $525.

Klein, the erstwhile editor of the Volksblatt, bid adieu to the management on Monday. The surroundings weren't to his likings.

The Misses Lizzie and Lena Luehrs enjoyed a visit during the week from their mother, whose home is in Oak Harbor, Ohio.

The county superintendent of schools Mr. Steinhauser, will hold a special teachers' examination in this city sometime this month.

One Jacobson was brought down from Tracy Monday afternoon and placed in the hospital. He is suffering from an attack of typhoid fever.

Mrs. Anton Mathies died suddenly in West Newton last Saturday and was buried Monday forenoon. She had been married only three months.

In the Mankato cemeteries vandals are tearing down fine tombstones at the dead of night. The insane asylum needs the principals in the work of destructions.

Otto Sommer and Johnny Graff billed Sleepy Eye and Springfield last week with County Fair posters. They made the trip to both towns on their cycles.

Prize bowling will occupy the attention of all who may choose to be interested at Turner Hall Park next Sunday. Two sheep will be given to the winners.

Wednesday was a great day for birthday anniversaries in this city, as many as five having been celebrated. Jos. Vogel and Wm. Alwin Sr. were remembered with serenades.

A traveling lady at one of the hotels Monday morning left a call for 1:30 o'clock in order to catch the train that leaves at 3:30. Oh, those awful dresses and that abominable head of hair!

Miss Thompson, trimmer at the millinery store of Mrs. Sarah Pfeifferle, returned from her Chicago visit early in the week. She will remain during the fall and winter and assist in establishing the latest styles in headwear.

In the town of Home last week there occurred the death of Miss Florence Tuttle, a sister of Mrs. E. C. Behnke, and Mrs. Capt. George of this city. The deceased had been an invalid for years and death came to her as a relief from much suffering.

The council has seen fit to lay off the cemetery keeper Ring, in order to save expenses, and the grounds are now covered with dry leaves. The first thing we know there will be a fire in that neighborhood which will do as much in the way of destruction as the vandals in Mankato.

The soiled doves, it is said, have flown hither again. Let them beware of the watchful sheriff and attorney of Nicollet county who have already established a precedent of state's prison confinement for such offenses. New Ulm or her suburbs are not in need of visitors of this character.

G. A. Ottomeyer is back from Chicago.

Casimir Ochs was in the city Monday on business. Gov. Nelson will deliver the address at the Redwood County Fair.

The fourth anniversary of the founding of the Milford Farmer's Club was celebrated on Sunday in the grove of Paul Lehmann, the Milford band furnishing music. A dance followed the picnic in the evening and quite a number of our city folks joined in the waltz and quadrille.

Sunday evening Mrs. Gottlieb Gugisberg died at her home in Sigel from the effects of a second paralytic stroke. The first one was sustained some weeks ago and the lady partially recovered. Her weakened condition, however rendered her unable to withstand a repeated attack and she died after suffering only a few minutes. She was sixty-four years of age and was one of the best-known women of Sigel.

The elocutionary entertainment by Miss Marie Collins on Friday evening was fairly well attended and doubly well appreciated. Miss Collins is a reader of much power and rare talent, and her selections, particularly the Chariot Race and the selection from the German by Geneveve Ward, were rendered in a manner that showed not only excellent training but natural ability as well. She was ably assisted by local talent, the flute solo by Toberer, the orchestra selections, the piano duet by Misses Newhart and Schuetz and the vocal solo by Miss Yates being among the features of the entertainment.

Lafayette.

John Strassburg of Springfield was here on business last week. School commenced in District 14 last Monday with F. Haenze of New Ulm in charge.

Stern Done Up.

An interesting little story, which will turn a few Democratic politicians of St. Paul to wondering what struck them, is being gossiped about by the Minnesota colony in Washington. Louis Stern, the popular journalist and German of St. Paul, has been a candidate for a half dozen good offices, but finally settled upon a consulate in Europe—Germany preferred. There was very little doubt that he would secure Doran's O. K. and get his wish pretty soon. But now his hopes were dashed, and he will probably remain to pick up items upon the St. Paul German press indefinitely.

As the story goes, the whole trouble arose over a row in a saloon in which Stern was supposed to be a principal and also served in the character of victim. Just how badly Stern was used up is not in evidence, but the important fact is that the men who fought Stern physically are now opposing him politically.

The state department within a few days has received a protest against Stern's appointment, and among the reasons given in the fact that he had a row in a saloon. Stern in all probability does not know of the trouble that little affair will cause him, but the chances are that he will not go to Europe.

ATTEND THE COUNTY FAIR. It Will be Well Worth Your Time and Money.

Fine Exhibits, Horse Races, Bicycle Races and Band Concerts.

The annual Fair of the Brown County Agricultural Society will be held in this city on Sept. 22, 23 and 24, and there are several reasons for patronizing it: First, it will be deserving of patronage. The exhibits of stock and produce are being carefully looked after, while the mercantile display will eclipse anything shown in former years; Second, the Society needs your aid. A successful fair this year will put it on a good financial basis, and with that hope in view it looks for a large attendance from all parts of the county; Third, farmers and everybody are benefitted from an interchange of ideas as given in their various displays. One is benefitted and improved by the work of the other.

And now a word to the people of New Ulm. Do your duty by the rest of the county. If you have anything that is worth seeing, be it instructive or entertaining, then show it to your neighbor at the Fair. If the ladies have any fancy work that they pride themselves on, let them help their acquaintances and co-laborers in the art of Penelope by placing the product of their own and the needle's skill at the fair, where all can see it. And so with everything else. Let all lend a willing hand and the Fair is bound to be a success.

And to our neighbors in Sleepy Eye and Springfield, a whisper in your ear. Come down and see us. If you have anything to bring along that will add to the show don't fail to bring it; at any rate bring yourselves. Let sectional feeling, if there is any, be laid aside. Remember, that what helps one helps all.

The Agricultural Society has succeeded in having a splendid attraction for the fair days. The last opportunity to see the same. Messrs Gag & Heller have agreed to put in place their beautiful work of art, "The Panorama of the Battle of New Ulm" which can be seen by every one holding a "season ticket" without extra charge. All visitors at the fair should see the same without fail.

Farmers, if your wheat is especially good, bring it to the fair. If your stock is good, show the people what you are doing in that way. Let the people see it. You will please them and profit yourself.

Mrs. Sarah Pfeifferle has recently returned from Chicago with the nicest and most complete line of fall and winter millinery goods ever brought to New Ulm. The stock also includes a beautiful assortment of the latest fancy goods. The ladies of New Ulm cannot afford to miss such an opportunity of selection.

A Million Friends.

A friend in need is a friend indeed, and not less than one million people have found just such a friend in Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption, Coughs, and Colds. If you have never used this Great Cough Medicine, one trial will convince you that it has wonderful curative powers in all diseases of Throat, Chest and Lungs. Each bottle is guaranteed to do all that is claimed or money will be refunded. Trial bottles free at O. M. Olsen's Drug store. Large bottles 50c. and $1.00.

SCHWARTZKOPF'S OPINION.

He Offers his Corrections to the Defense of Kretsch & Berg Anent Glanders Horses.

The Professor Points out Many Respects in Which Their Article was Unjust and Unfair.

The following letter, written at St. Paul under date of Sept. 11, has been received by us in regard to the recent glanders scare.

Editor Review: A slip of the Review has been forwarded to me containing a reply of Kretsch & Berg to a former article in your paper in regard to the glanders scare in your city. Inasmuch as a charge is made against me in this article I consider it expedient to make the following statement:

Kretsch & Berg say that "my work seems to them very superficial when I declared a barn free from glanders when I had not even examined the horses in that place." Such criticism is certainly unfair. At the request of Dr. Frische I went through the three livery stables of the city to see whether there remained any suspected horses. I naturally made a more thorough examination at Kretsch & Berg's, because this was the infected place. In the other stables I partially looked over the horses in the stable, but examined everyone that was present at the time. All I wanted was to satisfy myself, whether there was glanders or not, and to be able to say so, but I did not care to go through any ceremonies to satisfy the curiosity of some bystander. There were only a few horses, which from their symptoms I recommended to the Health-Officer's further observation, as the most of the horses in the three stables appeared healthy at the time and I sincerely hope that they remain so today.

As to the remark of Kretsch & Berg that "I used the lymph (mallein) but twice in my life," it is true, but I do not see the point they wanted to make. Mallein is a recent scientific production and as there has been no glanders around here for years and very little in the State, I had no opportunity to test it any further than I did. But this makes little difference as to its value, as we have the testimony of a large number of men, excellent in their profession, who have tested it thoroughly as a help in diagnosis and even as a preventative and curative agent.

Finally I quote the following from Kretsch & Berg: "As regards the diagnosis of Drs. Donaldson and Behnke we are satisfied that it was correct since we have watered 33 horses daily for the last 4 months with the disputed animal at the same watering trough and though the longest period of incubation as given by best authorities is only 6 weeks we failed to detect a single diseased animal in our barn." It is unpleasant for me to say that if Dr. Behnke believes the horse on which we made the post-mortem examination had no glanders, he is mistaken. Nor do I blame him for such mistake; he is a young man without experience in such difficult questions and comes from a school that has neither sufficient time nor opportunity for its students to instruct them thoroughly in Pathology. I shall gladly admit that he may be just as good a general practitioner better than I am, perhaps, for we all have our shortcomings. But when it comes to questions of Pathology, I am his superior, and I know that he will acknowledge it. There is no question that the horse was diseased with glanders. It would have been much more pleasant and agreeable to me, if I found no glanders, but as it was, I could not help seeing what there was to see and to say what was the only proper thing to say. As to the best authorities quoted by Kretsch & Berg, which give the largest period of incubation of glanders as 6 weeks, I would like to know who they are. They are poor authorities at best. After artificial inoculation the disease becomes apparent within 5-10 days. But by a natural infection it takes not less than 3-6 weeks as an early time, and frequently 3-4 months and even 6 months and later, until the disease becomes apparent.

As to the scramble between the damaged horse-owners and the Health-Officer, I have nothing to say, although I heard some very hard words. I have witnessed such troubles several times and have often advocated to amend the law to make it less hard and more just. The Health Officer has not made that law, but has to execute it as it stands. I think that he has acted promptly and averted a general glanders epidemic, that would have been hurtful to New Ulm, its neighboring farming country and most likely to adjacent towns also, as we have seen before at other places.

I make these statements in the name of righteousness and hope that they will tend to smooth things over and restore peacefulness. Olaf Schwartzkopf.

SOME SLEEPY EYETEMS.

Unhoo Once More Gathers Ye Relished News Items.

Is it warm enough for you? Dr. Wellcome is slowly gaining strength. He will start for the Pacific coast at the first signs of cold weather.

Rev. F. L. Meske of New Ulm officiated at the Congregational church Sunday morning and evening.

Mr. and Mrs. Luders of Chicago, who has been visiting at the Gieseke residence for the past month, returned home Wednesday. Miss Lydia Gieseke accompanied them. She will visit the Expo before returning home.

Dr. L. A. Frische paid us a professional visit yesterday afternoon. Sugar famines are of almost daily occurrence here. The demand is enormous. Our people evidently propose to have a sweet time next winter.

Alex Matheson and wife and two of the McRae boys left for the World's Fair Saturday afternoon. M. Kiefer, wife and Michael, John Kolbe, J. J. Penning and Jos. Bruckbauer followed yesterday.

Miss Lily Golden left for Chicago today to visit the great Columbian show. Martin Schade has a careless way of pulling off his vest and laying it down anywhere when at work. He did so at the livery barn Sunday afternoon and when he picked up his raiment again, his $150.87 Howard watch was missing, someone having quietly appropriated the timepiece. Martin talked in an exceedingly Schade manner for some time, anatomizing his negligence in terms by no means measured. But the watch was gone; and no one present knew anything of its whereabouts. He found the article late in the evening, however, in the possession of a gentleman who had thoughtfully "borrowed" it for the purpose of demonstrating the necessity of a wiser precaution to our eloquently silent tailor—expressman.

E. B. Schoonmaker, popularly called "schooner," will cease garnering in the festive hen fruit, having accepted a position with the Sleepy Eye Milling Co. E. B. will succeed Mr. J. D. Jones in the grain department, and will no doubt fill the position creditably as he has all the characteristics of a first-class hustler.

The Stark Farmers' Mutual Ins. Co. held a meeting on Saturday and levied an assessment of sixty cents on $1000, to pay recent losses.

Judge Gallagher expects to get his new residence into shape for occupying this week. Hizzonner is of the opinion that building a house is hardly as much fun as is popularly supposed.

Majah Smith and wife left for Kasson last evening. Mrs. Smith will spend a month with her parents. The Majah will return to his post of duty to-day.
