Disease Threatens to Cut Short a Noble Career

But Hood's Sarsaparilla Restores Good Health.

Little May Bentley is an accomplished elocutionist and natural born speaker of only 12 years of age. She is the only child temperance lecturer before the public. Her genius, however, did not exempt her from an attack of a disease of the blood. Her own words best tell the story: "C. I. Hood & Co., Lowell, Mass."

"I heartily join with the many thousands that are recommending Hood's Sarsaparilla. I had been troubled from infancy with gatherings in the head. I was compelled to leave school upon the doctor's advice. He thought it was the only thing to save my life, but I got HOOD'S."

Continued to Grow Worse. I was persuaded finally by a friend to try Hood's Sarsaparilla. The use of one bottle set me feverishly upon the blood and I began to improve. After the use of three bottles the gathering ceased and I am cured of my former trouble. I owe my life and will always remain a true friend to Hood's Sarsaparilla. LILLIE MAY BENTLEY, Shelbyville, Indiana. Get HOOD'S.

The Ladies Society of the Turnverein have contributed $350 towards supplying Turner Hall with an electric light plant, including power, dynamo and fixtures for the entire building and park. The Turnverein and Dramatic Section will make up the balance, about $400, and we certainly hope that the commendable project will be carried into execution at once.

The people living at Golden Gate and Ridgely are very anxious that the present legislature should appropriate money to aid them in building a bridge across the Minnesota about a mile this side of the fort. The road is one over which there is a great deal of traffic, the travel being sufficient during the summer to support two ferry-boats. In the Sleepy Eye Herald, Commissioner Raverty is reported as saying that while most of his neighbors have been burning their straw, he has saved his and fed most of his horses and cattle on it up to this time. During the mild weather he believes straw to be equally good fodder for both horses and cattle and at the same time a great saving of expense. He is feeding hay and grain to milk cows and straw to the horses and cattle that do not produce anything, and in the end he is the gainer. This is one of the many schemes to which the farmer must resort in order to overcome the low prices for the leading products of the farm.

Clerk of Court Larson has handed us the following list of births and deaths in Brown County during 1894. New Ulm, 166 births and 54 deaths; Sleepy Eye, 42 and 22; Springfield, 33 and 8; Albin, 17 and 8; Bashaw, 22 and 2; Burnstown, 15 and 3; Cottonwood, 18 and 10; Eden, 3 and 2; Home, 6 and 1; Hanska, 16 and 7; Leavenworth, 26 and 9; Linden, 24 and 8; Milford, 21 and 5; Mulligan, 10 and 2; North Star, 12 and 4; Prairieville, 12 and 2; Sigel, 17 and 6; Stark, 15 and 7; Stately, 7 and 4. Of course these reports are by no means correct, save in the cities and villages, but we give them as they are reported by the various town clerks to the state board of health.

The fame of the little, old-fashioned Teutonic borough of New Ulm, Minnesota, has hitherto rested chiefly upon its stubborn and heroic resistance to the bloody Sioux, back in 1862. Those were frontier days, however, and the valorous deeds of that time are mere memories now. To-day New Ulm is right in the centre of our modern civilization, and instead of fighting aborigines, its denizens, after the fashion of the day, wage relentless warfare against the corporations, "those great foes of the liberties of the people." And, though the New Ulmians may strike but few blows, when they do strike they hit exceeding hard. Thus, only last week, a jury of "twelve good men and true" in New Ulm awarded a verdict against the Western Union Telegraph Company of $10,000 for transmitting a message to ex-Senator Sam Peterson, of Minnesota, about two years ago, which contained merely the words: "Slippery Sam, your name is pants." It will at once strike everyone that the moderation of the jury in awarding so small a sum for so gross a libel was most praiseworthy. The query will also present itself to the thoughtful readers, wherein did the chief libel consist? Was it in the seductive, alliterative phrase "Slippery Sam," or in the shameless statement "your name is pants?" The offense in both cases is so grievous that it is difficult to say which is the worse. It is rather funny, moreover, to think of a corporation like the Western Union being mulcted $10,000 for the indiscretion of allowing itself to be made the medium for calling an honest legislator a slippery individual. The Western Union ought to know that members of legislative bodies in this country are as much above suspicion as Caesar's wife, and, above all, that their names are not "pants." The company ought to congratulate itself upon the smallness of the verdict, and henceforth notify its patrons that they will not be allowed to call anyone "pants" by telegraph, unless they first deposit $10,000 as a guarantee that the respective individual's name is actually "Pants."—Town Topics, N. Y.

The Silver City Enterprise of New Mexico contains the following editorial compliment to Hon. Nic Gales, formerly of this city: To Hon. Nicholas Gales and to his skilful management is due the great victory accomplished in placing Hon. J. A. Ancheta in the seat in the council to which he was elected. In the darkest hour when all others seemed to lose courage and abandon the contest, Gales stood firm and predicted a favorable result. His prediction were accomplished and it is due to him that the people of New Mexico should know what the victory means. It means the defeat of the desperate boodler gang who stole the legislature for the purpose of fastening upon the taxpayers of this territory the payment of the old fraudulent militia warrants amounting to over a million dollars; it means the defeat of drastic legislation the conspirators expected to pass over the governor's veto; it means that New Mexico is not to be turned over to be plundered by a gang of irresponsible and impetuous adventurers. All this is due to Hon. N. Gales, and it is to be hoped that the people he has saved from wrong and plunder will remember him with gratitude.

Early Sunday morning there occurred the death of Ernst Wicherski at his home in this city. The end had been expected by the family for some time, as he has been hanging weakly to life's thread for several weeks. Sick for over a year with a complication of troubles, that seemed to permit of no recovery, death to him was virtually a release from misery and pain; and thus in some measure is the grief of the relatives alleviated. Mr. Wicherski was born in the Province of Posen, Prussia, on the 22nd of October, 64 years ago. In 1856 he came to America and settled in Chicago where he remained until 1861 when he removed to New Ulm. Returning to Chicago for a spell, he soon found himself back at New Ulm, where, as far back as 1865, he engaged in the boat and shoe business, a calling he has followed ever since. About this time he married his first wife near Nicolet. She died in 1881 and two years later he was married again to his present companion and survivor. Seven children were born to them and of those five are still living. Mr. Wicherski was a man of straightforward conduct, and strict and temperate in all his habits. He lived a life of good will towards all, and as a consequence died without enemies. To do his best, was his motto and he lived up to it as near as he knew how. The funeral will be held this afternoon from the residence under the rites of the I. O. O. F. of which he had long been a member. Albert Steinhauser will deliver the address at the grave.

Last Saturday an event occurred which has created no little comment and stir in this city. This was no less than an attempt to take away the liberty of old Christian Stoll by declaring him insane. Stoll is a man, peculiar and eccentric in his way, but the belief is so strong among some of his friends that he is perfectly rational, that they have started stories as to the motives of certain parties, that look suspicious. However, as there are always two sides to every case, the Review will refrain from giving credence to either until all facts are brought to light through a thorough investigation. The facts, that are apparent, are as follows: In the morning the sheriff summoned him to the court-house, where he was confronted with a petition, signed by Louis Buenger, asking that Stoll be committed to the asylum for insane. Drs. Strickler and Fritsche examined him, without the aid of witnesses, and pronounced him insane. In their report they set forth that he is 67 years old whereas he claims to be 70; that he is a Catholic, whereas he says that he has always been a Lutheran; that he was laboring under the delusion that people were persecuting him, and that he had attempted to commit suicide and injure himself physically. No testimony was produced to substantiate these statements aside from the physician's, but upon their decision of insanity he was committed. As soon as this fact was noised about his friends interested themselves in his behalf, and among them were Col. Praeder, H. Rudolph, Geo. Jacobs, Wm. Pfander Jr., Jos. A. Eckstein, Jos. Gales, Anton Hartmuth and others. Wm. Pfander Jr. was the first to appear before the probate judge and appeal for a hearing, but he was soon aided by Attorney Jos. A. Eckstein, and just as the poor old fellow was about to be taken to the depot, the court ordered that he be detained. Bonds were then given by Hartmuth, Col. Praeder and Rudolph for his safe keeping, and Hartmuth, with whom Stoll had been stopping and who was greatly wrought up over the treatment accorded the man, took him in charge. These are the bare facts and whatever ulterior motives may have prompted the proceedings remains to be seen. This much however, seems reasonable, that if the man was insane at all, and if there was any danger to him or his associates from his being at liberty, his own friends would have been the proper ones to bring in the complaint, and that nothing should have been done at least without consulting them. Sister Superior at the hospital where he was an inmate for some time, called the attention of the physicians early in the month to his condition, but declined to make a complaint, by which he could be brought before the court.

The postmaster, Wm. Brust, has given us the following items of interest, regarding the business transacted at the office during the year just ended. The receipts from envelopes, stamps, postal cards and the like were $5,299.71 and from box rent $483.45, making a total of $5,783.16. The total expenses for running the office were $2,264.26, so that the net income to the government was $3,518.90. The receipts credited to postal account show a net increase over the previous year of $200. The newspapers mailed 20,244 pounds of printed matter during the year or over ten tons. Five hundred and twenty-six registered letters and parcels were dispatched and ninety-three special delivery letters were delivered from the local office. The money order business review is interesting. The receipts were as follows: Cash on hand, $284.43; 3294 domestic orders issued, $23,202.97; fees on same, $214.62; 762 postal orders issued, $1123.63; fees on same, $22.86; 208 international money orders issued, $1,848.27; fees on same, $28.50. The total, it will be seen, amounts to $26,725.38. The disbursements were: 1261 domestic money orders paid, $12,564.25; 252 postal notes paid, $472.97; 48 international orders, $1,886.93; deposited with the Mankato office, $11,521.00; cash on hand, $280.23.

Linden and Lake Hanska. The annual meeting of the stockholders of the Linden and Lake Hanska store was held at the creamery building last Tuesday, the 22nd. The meeting was largely attended and Anton Ouren presided. A report of the year's business was read and apparently gave general satisfaction, the net profit amounting to twenty-three per cent. The largest amount traded out by any one shareholder was $341 and the least $16.

The old board of directors, Anton Ouren, Jens Bakken and Hans Ulen of Linden and John Thorgremson and Ole Systaby of Lake Hanska, were re-elected and by a large majority it was decided that the profits of the year, with the exception of the first three months, should be retained in the business, at seven per cent interest to the stockholders as capital. The profits of the first three months was divided among those holding shares. Several new shares were sold, and the total number of stockholders at present is 105. As the store has given evidence of being too small for the business transacted, it was decided that the directors should erect such additional buildings as they might deem proper.

Ellef Asleson has secured the buttermilk for the year and will pay 26 cents a barrel for the same. Ole Jorgenson, Christian Ahlness and Anton Thorgremson as the representatives of a good many shares cast a large vote at the meeting.

Such has been the history of the organization for the year just past. As was reasonable enough, there existed from the very start doubts as to the possibility of running a country store with profit, but the initial year's work proves that the farmers are not only able to run their own business but run it with success, and hereafter they will cling to their store with additional interest and self-sacrifice. The country population has always been overlooked by the cities, and as the Jews believed that nothing good could come from Nazareth—there has been a general conception in the cities that nothing could be done in the country—that ability and enterprise was as scarce on the prairie as water in the desert. Especially in Madelia were the clear heads liberal in prophecies. The store could not keep going three months! They had no capital in the country! And many more such discouraging allusions. It never occurred to the wise merchants of that great village that the farmers who were backing that country store, represented a capital large enough to purchase all the merchandise establishments of Madelia combined. They thought they would have no difficulty in destroying that little country store by competitions and so they tried to do it by cutting the price on matches, soap and baking powder! In truth a vote of confidence to the political economists in the village! The first step to economical combination is taken!

A farmers' store will soon be started in Butternut Valley, the incorporation having already taken place. Several farmers from that town were here to attend the annual meeting of the Linden and Lake Hanska share-holders. A library has been started in Ever Johnson's house near the store. Books can be had every Sunday. The contract for carrying the mail from Hanska postoffice via Linden to Madelia and back the same day, twice a week, for five years, has been awarded to P. F. Stelling of Kentucky at $189.94 a year. His term commences in July. Paul Mo is again working on Capt. George's farm in Sigel. Two men from Linden were arrested in Madelia last week on a warrant issued on complaint of Neuman and Russell charging them with larceny. They have given bail, and it is claimed they will bring suit for damages against their accusers, as they feel certain of being able to prove an alibi.

Marvelous Results.

From a letter written by Rev. J. Gunterman of Dimondale, Mich., we are permitted to make this extract: "I have no hesitation in recommending Dr. King's New Discovery, as the results were almost marvelous in the case of my wife. While I was pastor of the Baptist Church at Rives Junction she was brought down with Pneumonia succeeding La Grippe. Terrible paroxysms of coughing would last hours with little interruption and it seemed as if she could not survive them. A friend recommended Dr. King's New Discovery; it was quick in its work and highly satisfactory in results." Trial bottles free at O. M. Olsen's Drug Store. Regular size 50c. and $1.00.
