G. A. Ottomeyer is in possession of quite a relic, in the shape of a newspaper that was saved from the Elba wreck. The newspaper bears all the indications of having been thoroughly soaked, and was not discovered until some days after the unfortunate sinking of the ship. It was addressed to Mr. Stork of this city.

Dignity was dragged unceremoniously from its pedestal Sunday afternoon when Louis Mueller, the handsome and popular member of the firm of Klossner & Mueller, found himself rudely removed from a bicycle and located in a pool of water in front of Ottomeyer's store. This was unfortunate and rough to say the least, but the worst of all was that the bicycle was handled worse than its rider.

Dr. Lee of Fairfax spent Sunday here.

Ferd. Crone is transacting business in St. Paul to day.

Mrs. C. B. Liver arrived here from Omaha to-day.

Wm. F. Seiter went to St. Peter on business yesterday.

Narren-Versammlung yesterday. Four chimney sweeps in town.

The following features will be discussed: Raising of Cotton, Picking, Effects of Whitney's Invention, Various uses of Entire Plant, Effect on the Tariff Question, Special Bearing on Slavery Question and History in other countries. In addition there will be an instrumental solo by Miss Weselcke and a vocal solo by Mrs. Tupper.

The Washington entertainment at Union Hall was listened to by about three hundred people and was carried out as announced by the published programs. Otto Montgomery's comparison of Washington and Napoleon was a worthy effort, while Prof. Schaller's address on Washington as a patriot is spoken of highly by those who heard it. The piano duets by Profs. Burk and Schaller, and Helleman and Frey, the singing of the Mixed Choir under Prof. Reim's leadership and the declamation by Chas. These were also among the notable features of the evenings entertainment.

Minneapolis Journal: John Lind is going to talk silver to the Congregational Club in St. Paul Monday evening. Those who hear him will learn one reason why John wasn't elected to the senate a month ago.

M. C. Robertson leaves for Indiana this week. Wednesday evening the literary society gave him a farewell banquet and presented him with a fine silver table service as a mark of the esteem in which he was held.

The St. Peter Herald says: A sheriff's sale of real estate was held at the court house on Monday to satisfy a mortgage given by John Fischer and wife to Daniel Dingler. The tract sold contained 320 acres and was sold for $6,254.75 to the mortgagee, Daniel Dingler.

The concert given by the Epworth Society at the Methodist church Sunday evening was largely attended. Adolph Alwin had the affair in charge and gave to it a tone of success that speaks well for him as a leader. Some of the music afforded rare enjoyment to all who listened.

The Springfield Athletic Club has elected the following officers: Manager, Hugo Schleuder; assistant, Fred Zschunke; secretary, John R. Schmid; treasurer, Geo. Forster; custodian, A. H. Hoffmann. The Advance says that the boys will soon renovate their hall, put in electric lights and make the place as attractive as possible.

About two hundred people witnessed the pleasant entertainment at the Congregational Church Thursday evening, otherwise known as "Ye Old Folks Concert." Among those who participated were Mesdames Scott, Hubbard, Behnke, Newhart, Blethen, Mowery, Klossner, Critchett, Webber and McElhinny, and some of their songs and recitations were humorous indeed. The audience apparently enjoyed them immensely.

The literary at Turner Hall Sunday afternoon was unusually interesting. Chas. Toberer played one of his finest flute solos, and acquitted himself with exceptional credit. Lt. Louis Scherer read an interesting paper on the opening of the Cheyenne reservation, covering the action of the troops and the settlers in the action and reciting many humorous incidents of the great race for land. Recitations by Mrs. Steinhauser and Misses Scherer and Beinhorn from Riley and Harte were also received with applause. The debate on woman's proper sphere of action was the liveliest of the year.

Mrs. Lind accompanied her husband to St. Paul on Monday.

Mrs. J. P. Johnson of Courtland is visiting with Mrs. Mowery.

Chas. Kiekusch made a business trip to South Dakota last Friday.

Sheriff Blethen of Redwood county has returned from his search for U. S. Grant without success. When he arrived in Missouri he discovered that his bird had already broken jail there and could nowhere be found.

Springfield has at last succeeded in effecting a creamery organization on the co-operative plan. The following are the officers: President, L. E. Potter; vice-president, W. H. Thompkins; secretary, S. Peterson; treasurer, John Burns; directors, H. Van Valkenburg, J. F. Wendt and Wm. Hier.

Judge Webber has filed an order denying the motion for a new trial in the case of John Weber vs. the Winona & St. Peter Railroad Co., an action wherein Weber secured a verdict at the last term of court against the company for the destruction of his meadow by fire. Frank Clague is Weber's attorney.

On Monday the sale of the property of the New Ulm Creamery Co. to the Milford and Cottonwood Dairy Association was effected, the price paid being $3,700. This is certainly acquiring a good plant at a very low price, and when it is considered that Ferdinand Crone will pay $320 annually for the use of the refrigerator near the creamery, the bargain undoubtedly becomes a good one. The new owners will take possession at once and as will be seen in another column have duly organized and incorporated with a capital of $7,000. The other creameries throughout the county have been doing a thriving business and there is no reason why this one shouldn't.

Washington's Birthday was celebrated at both Turner and Union Hall this year. At Turner Hall Eckstein's orchestra played some splendid selections, none better than that in which cello and clarinet solos were prominent, and F. W. Johnson delivered an address on Washington, briefly touching upon the effect of such celebrations, Washington's character and patriotic service and the problems which confront the people of this country to-day. Peter Scherer followed with an excellent review of the life of Carl Heinzen, whose birthday also occurs on the 22nd. Hugo Fischer interested the audience with a reading and piano solos were played by Misses Scherer and Schuetz, while Mrs. Fischer and Mrs. Vogel sang two duets. About three hundred were present.

The Chautauqua Circle will meet with Miss Bertha Vogel next Tuesday evening.

Frank Clague the Redwood County attorney was in the city yesterday on legal business.

Geo. Picker was in the city Sunday. He is now employed in the mill of Youmann Bros. & Hodgkins at Winona.

Ex-Coroner Humphrey was in the city Wednesday. Mr. Humphrey is 80 years old, but as spry as many a man at 50.

Miss Mead, teacher in the public schools, was called to Mankato last week by a telegram announcing the illness of her grandfather. He died the latter part of the week, so that Miss Mead remained till the funeral.

Monday night concluded the whist season and the prizes for the winter's playing were awarded. Mr. Henry and Miss Pfeifferle received the rewards of honor for best playing, while Mr. Zimmermann and Mrs. Henry secured the booby prizes.

Jersey Justice in York.

It has been quite the fashion to laugh at everything in and about New Jersey except "Jersey justice." That is so quick and sure that it commands the respect of law-keepers and law-breakers alike. But for a hundred years Jersey has had its whipping posts, to which were triced up the male brutes who whipped their wives, and there received their punishment in true Jersey justice style with a cat-o'-nine-tails laid on their bare backs. And sentimentalism and members of societies for the prevention of cruelty to animals have protested against what they were pleased to term this survival of barbarism in the sunlight of nineteenth century civilization.

But New Jersey has held fast to her whipping post, much to the joy of wives with brutal husbands, and to the decrease of that cowardly offense, while beaten and mauled wives across the bay in New York city have groaned and wailed and lamented that they had not the shelter of Jersey justice. And now New York is thinking seriously of setting up whipping posts and buying cat-o'-nine-tails and practicing her police in giving the cat its sharp swish and stinging cut, and all for the punishment of the cowardly brutes who maul their wives, and for the protection of the poor, defenseless creatures. A bill has been agreed on by the senate judiciary committee of that state making a dose of the cat a permissive penalty for these offenses, extending the protection to children also. And, most notable, Eldridge T. Gerry, he of the humanities, urged its passage.—Globe.

Lincoln's Religious Views.

In an interview in the Chicago Tribune giving reminiscences of Abraham Lincoln, Col. Amos C. Babcock, formerly chairman of the Illinois Republican state committee, says: "As to my impressions of Lincoln's character, I wish to be clearly understood as believing him to be the greatest man that ever lived. His greatness seemed to consist in his wisdom, moderation, patience, endurance and tact in a position of the most fearful danger, difficulty and responsibility. But I cannot agree with some of the popular impressions about him. The ministers claim him for a Christian, but without any good reason. About the time of his election to the presidency I heard him and Bob Ingersoll discussing the subject of religion together in Gov. Yates' office in the old capitol at Springfield, and while it was a discussion, there was no dispute, for the two men were exactly agreed. Lincoln was an absolute agnostic. During the war he sometimes talked religiously, but it was mere statercraft. He knew that everything depended on his having the support of the religious people, and accordingly he adopted their phraseology to flatter them and to attach them to him; but he was for all that an utter disbeliever in the Christian religion.
