The new liquor law prevents the sale of liquor in any form to children either for the use of themselves or their parents or any other person.

From the Advance we learn that a son was born to Mr. and Mrs. Henry Dirks recently. Their New Ulm friends extend congratulations.

Mrs. Jacob Klossner Sr. celebrated her seventy-third birthday last Tuesday. Several of her children assisted in making the event a pleasant one.

Henry Hanschen commenced work on the upper story of the new court house last Wednesday. Schapekahn Bros. & Co. are doing the carpenter work.

A. J. Grimmer writes us from Cincinnati that he is feeling better at present than he has for years. He will be home with his niece in a couple of weeks.

Mr. Greer, the horse trainer, will make New Ulm his permanent home. He will have about a dozen outside horses under his charge here this summer.

The party of tourists who left here on the 19th sailed from New York for Hamburg on the Normannia last Thursday morning. They visited Niagara Falls on Tuesday.

Eugene Osburne, of Le Sueur, was here on Monday. He sold Mrs. Roskopf corner posts and rods for inclosing her lot in the cemetery at New Ulm.—Winthrop News.

A brickyard has been opened near Morton and already forty hands are employed. F. Aufderheide of this city and Messrs. Noach and Orth of Morton are interested in the enterprise.

W. G. Alwin was awarded one of the prizes offered by the manufacturers of Best Tonic for the best window displays advertising their goods. The prize was five cases of the best of all Tonics.

President Klossner of the council tells us that Alderman Boesch is entitled to the credit of preventing a protracted strike among the street force and not himself. We gladly make the correction.

The survivors of the Chicago Colony that settled in New Ulm in 1854 met at Schmucker's Tivoli Sunday afternoon and decided to celebrate the 40th anniversary of their arrival here on the 20th of May.

A general meeting of the Agricultural Society will be held at Turner Hall, Saturday afternoon, May 11th, at 1:30 o'clock, to decide on buildings for the society on the grounds of the Breeders' Association.

The St. Aloysius Band of this city gave a concert at Sleepy Eye on Saturday evening and one at Springfield on Sunday. The concert in each instance was followed by the presentation of three short plays.

Attorney W. G. Laumann of St. Peter was in the city Monday evening on legal business with Lind & Hagberg.

Gust. Stuebe was injured by a falling box at the stock yards on Monday. His forehead and right arm were severely bruised.

An ice-cream social will be given by the ladies of the M. E. Church at the home of Wm. Durbahn on the evening of May 15th.

The Athletic Club performed to a large audience at Union Hall Sunday evening. Portions of the entertainment possessed much merit.

A good many improvements are being made at the Behnke fish pond this spring. The place is destined to be one of the nicest resorts in the county.

The Radl contest case was commenced before Judge Landenschlager on Monday, Anton Steffen, the Sleepy Eye brewer, was present as administrator of the estate.

The Company A boys have placed a new rifle range in the Kumm ravine south of town. The one in Nicollet County was located so as to be very apt to frighten passing teams.

The grading of Minnesota Street will be commenced next week. Also the proposed work on State Street. The new council is starting improvements that the citizens of New Ulm will shortly look upon with pride.

A race has been arranged for next Sunday afternoon on the old track. The contest will be between the horses of Wm. Fenske and Geo. Graf, and will be decided in five heats. There will also be a running race.

A change was announced this week in the Empire Mill firm, as will appear from a notice in another column. Chas. L. Roos purchases the interest of E. G. Pahl who is now in California, and the firm hereafter will consist of Wm. Koch, Geo. Schmidt, and Chas. L. Roos.

Mr. and Mrs. Adolph Schilling, of New Ulm, drove to Winthrop on last Saturday to bring their sister-in-law, Mrs. C. A. Schilling and babe home. Mrs. Schilling stood the journey well, and the baby is lively company for its father.—Winthrop News.

To avert the influx of population to metropolitan centres, to keep the country homesteads echoing with joyous, youthful voices and gladdened by bright smiling faces, supply your girls and boys with good roads and Columbia bicycles. Pleasure provided prevents them seeking it elsewhere.

Rev. Robert Heidemann of Caledonia arrived here with his family last Wednesday evening. The church over which Mr. Heidemann has charge burned last Tuesday night together with the parsonage and other buildings about the premises, entailing a serious loss. Mrs. Heidemann is a daughter of E. G. Koch.

About thirty of the friends of Mr. and Mrs. F. W. Johnson surprised them Friday evening by taking charge of the Dakota House parlors and passing a few hours in an unusually pleasant manner. A delightful repast was served by the visitors, music and games were indulged in, and all in all it was an event that the editor and his wife will long treasure in their memory.

The Renville county grand jury never peeped into the Otto murder mystery, despite all the rumors floating around that body would surely make an investigation. If report is true the matter was not even brought before that body. This probably sets the case forever at rest and the mystery as to who killed Emmanuel Otto will remain hidden forever unless perchance a deathbed confession reveals the naked truth.—Redwood Gazette.

Rev. Father Willman paid a visit to Marshall the latter part of the week.

Henry Vedder has bought out Houck's barber shop and bathrooms, and removed the outfit on Second street to the stand just purchased, next to the State Bank.—Winthrop News.

A competitive examination for the appointment of a cadet in the United States Naval Academy at Annapolis will be held at Mankato on Monday, May 9th. New Ulm sent one young man to this school who has since won distinction and there is no reason why she should not furnish another.

The Supreme court has affirmed the decision of Judge Webber in the injunction case brought by Jos. Smith against the county officers of Renville county. This means that the officers are free to remove at once from Beaver Falls to Olivia. Attorneys Somerville of Sleepy Eye and Smith of Worthington argued the case in behalf of Olivia.

Henry Hulke was arrested at Courtland last week on a charge of committing an assault on the person of Miss Bertha Sieman while that young lady was carrying lunch to some of the farm hands. The young man failed in his aims, but that did not prevent an arrest and a hearing of the case before Justice Schlottmann. He was bound over to appear before the grand jury and is now in jail at St. Peter in lieu of bail.

A fellow, styling himself a detective, has been trying to cause considerable trouble among fishermen in this vicinity during the past week. His plan has been to threaten them with arrest, and in this way try to get them to settle with him. We know of no appointment of a game warden for this section, and without it no person, be he detective or not, has authority to deal with men who have been fishing out of season except by due process of law.

The supervisors of Town of Stark let the contract for the erection of an iron bridge at Miner's crossing over the Little Cottonwood, Tuesday, to The Gillette-Herzog Manufacturing Company, of Minneapolis. The bridge will be of iron and the span to be 54 feet, and will cost $800. The county commissioners have allowed the town $200 to help erect the bridge. A good bridge has been needed at that point for a long time and now one is assured, and the farmers will be pleased.—Sleepy Eye Herald.

Nine teams have been employed all week in grading the new race track and the work will continue in this manner for nearly a month. When completed, it can easily be said for the track that it will be the finest and fastest half-mile course in Minnesota, and the statement will certainly be a true one. The first races will come off early in September, when it is estimated that at least forty of the best horses in Minnesota, Dakota and parts of Iowa will be present. We'll have a fair this year that will be a fair.

The St. Peter Herald has caught the new depot fever and says: The prayer or demand of the New Ulm City Council was heard and that city is to have a new depot to cost from $10,000 to $15,000. The coal sheds which are doing service as depots in this city will of course be permitted to continue as such. The ancient relics have no thought of being removed and we presume they are perfectly satisfactory to our city council or the companies might be induced to move them. We had thought of writing to Depew concerning them but it is hardly proper to take advantage of an intimate friendship to ask a personal favor and we of course hope that it may be secured without this.

The Turner Hall Literary Society passed out of existence Sunday evening with unusually pleasant obituary exercises. A nice supper was served at which Albert Steinhauser acted as toastmaster and responses were made by Chas. L. Roos and A. J. Alwin, after which a brief but entertaining program was enjoyed by a goodly number of people. Eckstein's orchestra furnished music, Miss Helen George recited from Riley, Mr. Johnson gave Bill Nye's letter on ornithology, Miss Scherer read an essay, Hugo Fischer rendered a humorous dialect recitation, a mixed quartette, consisting of Messrs. Alwin and Koch and Mrs. McKittrich and Miss Dunkel sang "Row, Boatman Row," and Albert Steinhauser read a valedictory in a humorous vein. The members then went home with delightful recollections of a season's good work.

The affections are like lightning; you can not tell where they will strike till they have fallen.—Lacordaire.

Mich in Little.

He that does good to another does good also to himself.—Seneca.

There is no grievance that is a fit object for redress by mob law.—Lincoln.

You can work out a good character faster than calumny can destroy it.—Nolt.

Education is a debt due from the present to future generations.—George Peabody.

There is a wide difference between true courage and a mere contempt of life.—Cato.

That which renders life burdensome to us generally arises from the abuse of it.—Rousseau.

Were we eloquent as angels, yet we should please some people more by listening than by talking.—Colton.

Trust him little who praises all; him less who censures all; and him least who is indifferent to all.—Lavater.

Avoid him who, for mere curiosity, asks three questions running about a thing that can not interest him.—Lavater.

However rich or elevated we may be a nameless something is always wanting to our imperfect fortune.—Horace.

There is no beautifier of complexion, or form, or behavior, like the wish to scatter joy and not pain around us.—Anon.

Ambition is so powerful a passion in the human breast that however high we reach we are never satisfied.—Machiavelli.

Adversity is a severe instructor, set over us by one who knows us better than we do ourselves, as he loves us better, too.—Burke.

Small crimes always precede great ones. Never have we seen timid innocence pass suddenly to extreme licentiousness.—Racine.

Men spend their lives in the service of their passions, instead of employing their passions in the service of their life.—Steele.

The true test of civilization is, not the census, nor the size of cities, nor the crops, but the kind of men that the country turns out.—Emerson.

To be free-minded and cheerfully disposed at hours of meals, and of sleep, and of exercise, is one of the best precepts of long-lasting.—Bacon.

An unjust acquisition is like a barbed arrow, which must be drawn backward with horrible anguish, or else will be your destruction.—Jeremy Taylor.

I have unlearned contempt. It is a sin that is engendered earliest in the soul and doth beset it like a poison worm, feeding on all its beauty.—N. P. Willis.

No accidents are so unlucky but that the wise may draw advantage from them; nor are there any so lucky but that the foolish may turn them to their own prejudice.—Rochefoucauld.

There is something among men more capable of shaking despotic power than lightning, whirlwind, or earthquake; that is, the threatened indignation of the whole civilized world.—Daniel Webster.

It is certainly a very important lesson to learn how to enjoy ordinary things, and to be able to relish your being, without the transport of some passion, or the gratification of some appetite.—Steele.

It is a sad thing to begin life with a low conception of it. It may not be possible for a young man to measure life but it is possible to say, I am resolved to put life to its noblest and best use.—T. T. Munger.

I never yet heard man or woman much abused but that I was inclined to thank the better of them, and to transfer the suspicion or dislike to the one who found pleasure in pointing out the defects of another.—Jane Porter.

Bicycles Cranks.

The Bicycle Club had the old race track scraped and rolled to give the boys a chance to train preparatory for the great race meet on July 4th.

Winthrop's Club Run was extended to Sunday and Clear Lake, the weather was fine, so was the ride.

The Friday evening runs are getting popular. Last week there were 13 of the boys in line, this week there will no doubt be 16 or 20.

Weather and wind permitting, the Friday evening of this week will be extended to Sleepy Eye.

The big four will bike to St. Peter Sunday. Everybody invited to accompany them. Start prompt at 9 A. M., at the Post Office.

Lient. Buschers is the latest acquisition to the "Men on wheels."

Regular Club meeting to-morrow at 8 P. M. No doubt a date will be set them for our first race meet this season.
