Unanimous Nominations.

Three Political Organizations Again Choose John Lind for Their Leader.

Every Mention of His Name Received with Cheers and Applause.

The Rest of the Nominees Divided Between the Democrats and Populists.

As anticipated for weeks, John Lind carried the Democratic, Populist and Silver Republican conventions by storm.

The ticket nominated with him is an unusually strong one. The platforms are such as every well-minded citizen can support.

The Democratic convention was the largest of the three and numbered something like one thousand delegates.

Chairman Rosing, who by the way is an ideal leader, called the gathering to order and in doing so said: "We bid McKinley Godspeed in his every official act in the direction of the war, but we notify him and his advisers that the war must not be used for purposes of political aggrandisement. The heart beats of seventy millions of people are not to be used for the furtherance of party aims, nor the patriotism of a great people for paltry purposes."

Senator McHale of Shakopee was elected chairman of the convention by acclamation.

After the appointment of a committee on resolutions and another on conference, the body adjourned to await the action of the other conventions.

This took up more time than was expected and the delegates naturally grew restive. They were in a hurry to nominate Lind, and having done that, they were anxious to go home.

Chairman McHale in his opening address used these significant words:

"If in this state we had a Democratic governor I'll tell you what we would have besides. We would have a bank examiner whose work would be of a nature that the people would be protected. We would have a state railroad commission that would be in the interests of the people and a labor commissioner who would pay some attention to the needs of labor."

It was after six o'clock in the evening when the conference committee returned to the convention hall and announced that they were ready to report. P. B. Winston of Minneapolis was chairman of this committee and his appearance on the platform with the announcement of a satisfactory agreement was the signal for generous applause.

Mr. Winston said that all parties had agreed on Lind to head the ticket. Again there was a storm of applause.

He also said that the democrats were to have the secretary of state, the treasurer and the three justices of the supreme court; the populists to have auditor, lieutenant governor, clerk of supreme court and attorney general.

The report was adopted and the convention proceeded to nominate.

Buell of Minneapolis nominated Lind for governor. It was carried by acclamation and with a rising vote.

Heinrichs of Hennepin was put forward for secretary of state in the same manner and McKinnon of Crookston for treasurer. Both of them were on the ticket with Lind two years ago.

When it came to the nomination of justices, there was some opposition to Mitchell, a Minneapolis democrat urging that he had not been loyal to the ticket in 1896.

National Committeeman O'Brien, Chairman Rosing, Attorney McDermott, Mr. Nichols and others came to Mitchell's defense, however, with eloquent pleas for his ability, his integrity, his valuable aid to Canty in the Steenerson race and other cases. They also advocated with all their power in behalf of a non-partisan judiciary.

The result was that when the vote was taken Mitchell had but little or no opposition.

Canty and Buck were both renominated with a hurrah.

After the business of the convention was over, Hon. Chas. A. Towne of Duluth delivered a brief, but brilliant address, the convention then adjourning with peace and harmony prevailing.

The gathering of the Silver Republicans was marked by equal harmony and fully as much enthusiasm. Nearly 500 delegates were present.

THEY WILL BREAK THE MACHINE.

GOVERNOR—JOHN LIND, of Brown county.
LIEUTENANT GOVERNOR—J. M. BOWLER, of Renville county.
SECRETARY OF STATE—JULIUS J. HEINRICHS, of Hennepin county.
TREASURER—ALEX. MCKINNON, of Polk county.
AUDITOR—GEORGE N. LANPHERE, of Clay county.
CLERK OF THE SUPREME COURT—Z. H. AUSTIN, of St. Louis county.
(THOMAS CANTY, of Hennepin county.
DANIEL BUCK, of Blue Earth county.
WM. MITCHELL, of Winona county.)
Judges of the Supreme Court.

Hon. Chas. A. Towne presided as Chairman and took advantage of the occasion to make a rousing speech.

A conference committee was appointed to meet with a like committee from the Democrats and Populists and when the committee reported an agreement, John Lind was nominated by a rising vote.

This concluded the convention's important business and an adjournment was taken to the Exposition Hall to once more listen to Towne.

The Populists were the only ones who had to contend with factional feeling.

Donnelly, leader of the mid-roads, were on hand; so was Owen, head of the conservatives and fusionists. From the outset it was apparent that there would be a clash.

The first fight came over the election of a chairman. Senator Reishus was nominated by those favoring co-operation; T. J. Meighen by those who favored going it alone. The vote was lively, but the result decisive. Reishus was elected. Brown county voted 12 to 3 in favor of Reishus.

Then followed the dramatic scene between Owen and Donnelly and the open rupture in the convention.

The fusionists won however at every point, the vote on accepting the conference report in behalf of co-operation being as follows: For the report, 569; against, 396.

The nomination of Lind for governor, Bowler for lieutenant governor, Lamphere for auditor, Kelly for attorney general and Austin for clerk of the supreme court followed by acclamation.

An effort was made to go on record for Donnelly for United States senator but it was ruled out of order.

NOT TRUE.

Bugler Boock Writes Home Denying the Stories of Lack of Food and Other Hardships.

The following are extracts from a letter written by Regimental Bugler Albert Boock to his sister in this city. The letter was dated at Chickamauga Park on the 14th of June:

"How could I be sick? The climate here is alright for me and in fact for all the boys from Minnesota. Everybody says we are standing it better than all the rest of the troops.

"I am very proud of the Twelfth, and consider it as good as any regiment in uniform or out of uniform on earth. You will all find out that this is true, when we get a chance at the Spaniards.

"Of course, some fellows talk about poor food, wet nights and other hardships, and write long articles, full of falsehood, for their home papers. But such fellows are fools, and I don't care who denies it. They all could have guessed before enlisting that we were not going out for a picnic, banquet or anything of that sort. A soldier must learn to endure and be satisfied. A person who can't learn to do this has not the making of a soldier in him, and least of all shouldn't be permitted to misrepresent things to the people at home.

"For instance, I have read that we were starving, that the dew here is so heavy that it goes through everything, and stories of that kind. Now, honestly, it hurts me to read such things, for they are neither true nor sensible.

"News is scarce here, and I know of nothing to tell you aside from the fact that I am well, happy, and satisfied with the work that we have already done."

Mr. Boock adds that he has been appointed principal musician on the non-commissioned staff of the regiment.

The local telephone company has issued a new directory. It is got up in book form, is neatly printed, contains the indexed names of over one hundred patrons, and is, all in all, a great improvement over the old-styled blanks.

Capt. Stang, who was sent to this country by Norway to study American methods in actual war, has attached himself to the Twelfth Minnesota. This is but another evidence of the esteem in which the Bobleter regiment is held by expert observers.

MADE THEIR BOW.

Graduates of the New Ulm High School Present a Pleasant Programme and Receive Diplomas.

Union Hall was beautifully decorated last Thursday evening and filled with an audience of several hundred people.

The occasion was the commencement exercises of the graduating class of the New Ulm public schools.

The graduates were eleven in number and the programme in which all participated was varied and interesting.

The first number was a song rendered by a double quartette, consisting of Marie and Minnie Schmidt, Hilda Koch, Eva Klossner, Anna Keller, Eleanor Mullen, Emma Scheiderich and Dorothy Baarsch.

Erna Weschcke, the salutatorian of the class, followed with an essay in German which had for its title, "Ein Rueckblick auf die Schulzeit." It was a well-written paper and equally well delivered.

Then came another song by the double quartette, after which Robert Hirsch delivered his oration on "A Social Problem." It showed considerable individual thought on the part of the young graduate and was well received.

Following this Marie Schmidt and Johanna Weddendorf favored the audience with a piano duet.

A debate constituted the next number. The speakers were Joseph Everling and John Laudon and the subject of discussion, "Should the United States depart from its traditional practice of avoiding foreign alliances?" The argument of each boy was warmly applauded, but it was plain that the sympathies of the audience were with the negative side of the question.

An interesting class history, filled with many humorous but pleasant incidents at school, was given by Ernest J. Weschcke, Miss Tillie Johnson recited "Whitman's Ride" in a creditable manner, and Anna Keller and Minnie Schmidt sang "Abschied der Schwalben."

Peter Kitzberger's oration on the Germans in America was also an interesting feature of the programme.

The class prophecy and valedictory was handled by Miss Marie Schmidt and was considered by all to be one of the best numbers of the evening. Following it the class song was sung. This was composed by Miss Schmidt and was really a clever production.

A piano solo by Johanna Weddendorf and a couple of additional numbers by the double quartette completed the class programme.

An able address by Prof. Koehler of Mankato followed and then the presentation of diplomas.

The floral gifts were profuse and beautiful, the whole affair a pleasing one, gratifying to teachers and public alike.

Rev. Buzzell's topic next Sunday will be "Real Atheism."

Albert Anderson was down from Springfield on business Wednesday.

H. Bendixen and Adolph Altermatt of Springfield arrived here yesterday morning to attend court.

Rev. H. W. Johnson of this city will be the principal speaker at Courtland Park on the Fourth.

Will Hoadley, who spent the winter here attending the Dr. Martin Luther business college, has enlisted in a Minneapolis company of volunteers.

Andrew J. Eckstein was made a member of the executive committee of the State Pharmaceutical Association at its last regular meeting in St. Paul on Thursday.

Dr. Williams of Lake Crystal was elected as one of the vice presidents of the State Medical Society in St. Paul last week and Dr. Fritsche of this city as chairman of the department of obstetrics.

F. W. Hauenstein has recently been appointed watch inspector for the Northwestern road at this place. His duty is to inspect the watch of every conductor, fireman, engineer and yardman at least once a week.

FROM BOBLETER.

The Acting Brigadier General Writes Regarding the Condition of Our Boys.

In a letter addressed to Ferdinand Crone of this city, Col. Bobleter says: Company A is making a good record for itself. If the New Ulm people could now see the company out on drill their eyes would sparkle with pride. They now march and handle their rifles like veterans.

The good people of New Ulm need not worry about the men not getting enough to eat. They are now receiving full government rations and that is ample for any man if economically and properly prepared. I can say from personal observation that Company A is living as well as any company on the grounds.

It is true that when we first arrived in camp the commissary department was not prepared to furnish fresh meats and soft bread, but no just complaints can now be made.

It is no small matter to feed an army of 45,000 men and it takes time to get all the machinery in working order.

By the way, why would it not be a nice thing for a delegation of New Ulm people to accompany the regimental flag down here and present it to the regiment. We could make it the occasion for a beautiful ceremony and the additional expense would not be great.

It seems that I am destined to be away from my regiment. I have not been officially connected with it since my arrival at camp. Three times I have been in command of a division and many times at the head of a brigade. But there is no particular honor connected with these temporary commands, and I would much rather be with my regiment. Someone, however, has to assume the temporary distinction until the brigadiers get around and take hold.

The Twelfth is encamped right across the road from my headquarters, and as I eat and sleep in the camp of the Twelfth, I am able to keep in pretty close touch with them. This at least is some satisfaction.

Aug. Berndt has been relieving the Winthrop tinner the past few days.

Henry Johnson, a young Brighton farmer, died on Thursday of consumption.

The marriage of Miss Lizzie Dietrich of this city and Jos. Seifert of Stark was solemnized at the Catholic church yesterday.

Private Lester Gormied of Company A, who has been at his home on a sick furlough, has been ordered to report to his regiment at Chickamauga.

The salary of the Springfield postmaster, Mr. Schmelz, has been increased to $1,900. The Winthrop office has been relegated from the third to the fourth class.

The fact that Minnesota was the first state to furnish its quota of regiments under the first call for volunteers, causes Col. Bobleter, Van Duzee and Reeye to rank every other colonel in the volunteer service.

The barns of Fred Behnke and Wm. Schwede in the south part of town were destroyed by fire Tuesday afternoon of last week. The actual loss on the Behnke barn, over and above insurance, is estimated at $500.

Mrs. Neno of Tracy stepped on a rusty nail last week and at the same time sprained her ankle. The results were so serious that all of her children, including her son at New Ulm, were called home to attend her.

It is rumored that Sam Peterson contemplates bringing out Editor Hays of Sleepy Eye, chairman of the Brown county republican committee, for senator, in hopes of defeating Geo. W. Somerville for the nomination.—Lamberton Star.

A county league convention will be held here tomorrow in conjunction with the Republican county convention. As the league clubs in this county are by no means numerous, and the convention is a delegate affair, the attendance will not be over large.

The Board of Health desires to be informed of any instance of dead animals being placed in the Minnesota river. The fact that ice from the river is used in nearly every household makes it necessary that this should be done. The health of the city cannot be endangered for the sake of having a convenient dumping ground.

O. T. Helling of Hanska attended a conference of the United Church in St. Paul the forepart of the week.

As Rev. Eyrich was driving home from Courtland Sunday his team ran away when about a mile this side of the village. Mr. Eyrich was compelled to walk the remaining six miles.

Druggist Meyer of Sleepy Eye read a paper before the pharmacists of the state at St. Paul last week on "Our Condition." It is reported that he handled the physicians without gloves.

Miss Higgins and her pupils will give a public piano recital at Turner Hall next Tuesday evening. They will be assisted by Mr. Ambrosch, violinist, and Mrs. Spoerbase and Miss Seiter, vocalists. The entertainment will be free.

Mr. Overbaugh, a former resident of Ridgely and father-in-law of James O'Brien, died at the latter's home in Otter Tail county a few days ago. The remains were brought to St. George for burial, the deceased having been one of the earliest settlers of western Nicollet county and one of its leading citizens in his younger days.

Lt. Lind has not yet been officially notified of his nomination for governor and when seen Saturday refused to say whether or not he would accept. He says he will make no statement for publication until formally notified, but the impression among the quartermaster's comrades is that he will consent to the use of his name, allowing his friends at home to attend to the campaign while he performs his duty at the front.

Horace Newhart will leave on the 6th of July, for Vienna, Austria, there to spend a year in the study of medicine and surgery. Mr. Newhart has the Ann Arbor diploma, as good as any in the country, but the mere fact that he finished the course in less time than is usual prevents him from practicing. The law in this state requires that a man must study a certain number of years and makes no allowance for how well a man studies.
