City Council Special Meeting.

Library Appropriation Laid Over for Future Action.

Nagel & Co. to lay Sample Section of Cement Street Crossing.

Among the more important transactions of the city council at its adjourned meeting Saturday evening was the acceptance of a proposition from F. Nagel & Co. to put down a sample cement streetcrossing at German and First North streets without cost to the city.

Permission was also granted to the Hauenstein Brewing company to construct a wall on the sidewalk line of 16th S. street opposite the brewery, said wall being necessary in the extensive improvements now being made at that place.

The petition of Dr. O. C. Strickler and others for the appropriation of $300 for the public library was presented and a motion to reject the same was lost. The result of this disposition being to leave the proposition still before the council to be definitely acted upon at the next meeting when it is hoped that the new members of the council may receive sufficient enlightenment upon the matter to insure the granting of the petition.

Building permits were granted to F. H. Retzlaff, Franz Hogen and H. H. Beussmann.

Plans and specifications for the grading, graveling and boulevarding of Washington street from 4th North to 8th North streets, State street from 7th to 8th North and the grading and graveling 8th North from Washington to State, were accepted and referred to the committee on streets.

The committee on streets, by its chairman, H. Nagel, presented an ordinance amending ordinance number 20, prohibiting the construction of wooden sidewalks on certain streets, which was adopted by a unanimous vote.

Bills amounting to $205.95 were allowed and the council adjourned to April 23 at the usual hour.

Lutheran School Teachers Convene.

The conference of German Lutheran parochial school teachers was in session here Wednesday, Thursday and until noon to-day, says the Sleepy Eye Herald of last Friday. The session has been one of more than usual interest and has brought out a great many valuable points. Its object like conventions of similar nature is to derive benefit from the exchange of opinion. The attendance was good, representatives being present from all the principle schools in this section of the state. This meeting was intended to be held at Good Thunder but owing to the prevalence of small-pox it was sent here. Sleepy Eye welcomes all such gatherings, especially those of this nature.

The work of the conference commenced Wednesday when it was called to order and opened with prayer by the president, M. Kirsch, of Faribault. After the preliminary business was transacted the election of officers took and resulted as follows:

President, M. Kirsch, Faribault; Vice president, G. Laggarts, Mankato; secretary, H. Schroer, Gibbon.

A number of interesting papers were read followed by discussions that brought out their good and bad points. "How to Check Irregular Attendance of Scholars," was the subject of a paper by Prof. O. Montgomery of New Ulm. "Characters and its Development by Education" by Prof. G. Laggarts.

On Thursday Prof. J. W. Jaeger of Sleepy Eye with several others gave some practical lessons in County government, etc. This was one of the most interesting features and was a thoroughly practical demonstration. In the evening the body attended Divine service at St. Johns church, Rev. Aug. F. Zich officiating.

The total number of teachers present was 45, New Ulm being represented by Prof. Otto Montgomery and Messrs. W. Blauert and W. Muessing.

Would Purify By Fire.

Attempt to Burn the C. & N. W. Stockyards Sunday Night.

Evidently a Case of Incendiarism and for the Fifth Time.

Sunday night a fifth attempt was made to burn the C. & N. W. stock yards. An alarm was turned in at about 1:30 o'clock which was promptly responded to by the fire department and the blaze was extinguished before it had an opportunity to spread, the scale house being the only portion of the plant destroyed. While the loss to the company will probably not exceed $100 the principle involved is as important and broad as though the property destroyed had been valued at thousands. There is no excuse for the firebug at any time or under any circumstances. The safety of private property is involved, and while the residents of that locality adjacent to the stockyards may or may not have a just grievance there can be no possible palliation of the offense. That the origin of the fire was incendiary there is no room for doubt and if the perpetrator shall be discovered he will be dealt with to the limit of the law.

The Review has made considerable inquiry in relation to the affair and is satisfied that there is very little to be urged in extenuation of the act. Some years ago it was charged that the location of the yards at this particular point contaminated the water supply of the city, but we are informed by the agent of the company that when this complaint was brought to their notice the yards were at once raised two feet above the street level and a system of sewers put in which entirely obviated the difficulty complained of. It is claimed, however, by the residents of the locality that stock, and especially hogs, are kept confined in the pens for days at a time, far beyond the limit fixed by law, and that in consequence filth accumulates and in spite of any and all efforts on the part of the railway company becomes extremely obnoxious. Whether this be the fact or not really cuts no figure in the present instance. The unassailable proposition is that no one has the right to destroy property and to endanger adjacent property in an attempt to right either a real or fancied wrong. We are assured by the railroad company that every available means are used to keep the yards in a clean and sanitary condition and we have yet to learn that any complaint has, this season at least, been made to the health officer that this has not been done. The scale house will be at once rebuilt and the yards put in shape for the reception of stock as usual.

The program of the concert to be given by the Second Regiment Band at the opera house Saturday evening is a varied one and comprises not only the latest music in brass and string but is also enlivened by comedy work and vocal selections of the highest grade. You will miss it if you do not attend.

Next Monday morning there will be an art exhibit opened at the high school building consisting of an elaborate display of statuary, pictures, etc., by the Pay Art Co., of Sioux Falls, S. D. This exhibition has been given at Mankato with marked success and will be seen at St. Peter on Saturday of this week. An admission of 10 cents will be charged and the proceeds will be devoted to the purchase of pictures for the school.

The Retail Liquor Dealers Association of this city held its annual outing at St. George Monday, leaving here at 9:30 accompanied by a band and a large number of friends outside the association. The festivities at St. George were of a varied nature and everyone who attended certainly enjoyed themselves. No business was transacted, the meeting being solely for pleasure, although several speeches were made by members of the association for which they were very properly fined. An exhibition fire drill was given by the St. George fire department and several amusing athletic contests were pulled off. It was, taken altogether, a fine, large day and the highball dispensers and their friends who were so fortunate as to be of the party had a good time.

While the legislature made a good record in declining to raid the state treasury for the reporters on the daily papers for a lump of $150 each, it was not as careful concerning its own employees, and they were voted additional sums ranging from $50 to $150 each, the total amounting to some $4,000. This money did not belong to the members and was not theirs to give away as they saw fit. The various employees all enjoyed good salaries during the winter, considerably larger than the most of them could earn in private lines, and they were eager to get the places at the salary attached with no thought of a substantial gift at the close. The labors of the said employees are not onerous, so there is no excuse in that quarter. The scheme of so giving is a pernicious one, and is just as bad and unworthy as would have been a move on the part of the members to have voted themselves an extra hundred dollars or so.—Mankato Free Press.

Beneficial Results of Vaccination.

The Chicago Record-Herald has been making some inquiry into the effect of vaccination as a preventative of small pox, and finds that in the recent epidemic in that city it was entirely in favor of vaccination. The summary of its findings is as follows:

Out of the total 171 cases of small-pox found in Chicago between Nov. 30, 1900, and April 10, 1901—the period of the present epidemic—140 had never been vaccinated. Of the remaining 31 cases, 29 were adults showing faint, poor or irregular scars, claimed to be evidence of attempted vaccination in infancy or early childhood—the most recent being twenty-three years old. Only 2 out of the 171 cases exhibited typical scars of successful vaccination. Of these 1 was thirty-five years old—"vaccinated when a child;" revaccination attempted three years ago, without result; vaccine lymph probably inert. The other was forty years old, also successfully vaccinated in childhood but never revaccinated. These are the only two cases out of the total 171 upon whom vaccination was ever successfully attempted, and the most recent of these was more than thirty years ago.
