In this issue of the Review may be found the first installment of an Indian's story of the Sioux Massacre. It is probably the only instance where an Indian has given an account of the event, which has given New Ulm the right to celebrate its anniversary in August. The story will run in three issues of the paper.

Burg's Battery was pretty near the whole parade at Sleepy Eye and was the most attractive thing in the procession. The battery left here the night before so as to be on hand to wake the people with their morning salute. Capt. Burg and this enterprise of his was the object of many compliments. The rain made the return trip very disagreeable.

July starts in with an annual and unnecessary amount of rain. The storm Saturday evening was very damaging especially to oats, rye and barley. Previous rains had broken many fields of oats down, and the last was so driving and heavy that it could not fail to be of serious damage. Wheat is badly rusted in some fields but will probably not be seriously damaged by it.

The large crowd which attended Gentry Bros. Show Saturday afternoon was a surprise, following as it did the 4th of July. The large tent was crowded and the exhibition was satisfactory to all. It is a clean and altogether pleasing series performances from beginning to end and an exhibition of animal intelligence rarely seen. The evening performance was called off on account of the heavy rain.

On Wednesday Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Haubrich gave a very delightful party to a number of young people at their home on Broadway, in honor of Mrs. Haubrich's sister, Miss Margaret Hughes. On Monday night the same party was invited to the home of Mr. and Mrs. Jacob Haubrich, west of the city, where the young people were allowed to enjoy themselves at dancing and other amusements. Music for the evening was furnished by Louis Ambrosch and Miss Haubrich.

When the old settlers got together at Mankato Thursday night, some of whom had not seen each other for more than forty years, as they looked into each others faces the full force of the passing time was brought home to them, and yet, as some of them remarked, it seems but a very short time since the opening of this country and the subjugation of the Indian. Dr. Wellcome of Sleepy Eye was one of the most talked of characters of this section of the state and his reminiscences of those days are as clear and forceful as if the events were only of yesterday.

C. H. Hopkins added another historical trophy to his large collection of Fort Ridgely relics recently. It is a piece of the jaw bone and three teeth of one Michael Murnan who was killed at the siege of Fort Ridgely in August 1862. He was seen on the hill south of the fort by the besieged and mistaken for an Indian. A piece of artillery was trained on him and fired, shattering his head. This piece of jaw bone has been laying on the ground all these years and was found recently by an adopted son of Frank Grummons, who was searching for relics. —Farifax Standard.

In the returns from the various towns in which the Inter State has policy holders, the officers of the Association are gratified to see that with very few exceptions the lists of membership have been returned in most cases without the loss of a member. The importance of this is hardly conceivable by those not interested and yet it is plain to be seen that the policy holders recognize a safe and generous insurance and do not hesitate in paying for protection under its liberal policy. The second half of the year starts out with more than double the per cent of renewals of the second half of the first year.

Dr. Wm. F. Wurth is the name of a young man who has located in this city for the purpose of practicing his profession of healing, which is osteopathy. He is a graduate of the Des Moines school, having taken a thorough course and is therefore qualified to handle the most difficult cases in a thoroughly intelligent manner. Elsewhere in the paper may be found a professional announcement and a list of diseases which are especially amenable to osteopathic treatment. Dr. Wurth is a pleasant gentleman to meet and we hope he will find the city an agreeable and satisfactory place in which to live.

* Call on And. J. Eckstein and select a fine hammock prices from 50 cents up to $10.00.

A number of confidence men and what are known as "grafters" accompanied the Gentry Bros Show and tried to get in their work here but were foiled. One man tried to work off a gold ring on Geo. Hauenstein but George was to wary for him and when the man saw Chief of Police Klaus coming down the street he left without leaving his card. George still has the ring, which is evidently a good one and was probably stolen from some house either in this city or some other. Another case was a cripple who had both legs taken off above the knees. The man was evidently worthy of charity but he spent his money and time drinking and was therefore out of the range sympathy.

The Sleepy Eye Herald is fighting a boycott which is being maintained by the grocery men of that city, to their own detriment. There exists in that city an association of merchants, and with one or two exceptions all the merchants belong to it. One of the non-association merchants has been a liberal advertiser in the Herald and because the paper carried his ad. the other merchants have put a ban on the paper and refuse it patronage. This has been going on for some time and last week the Herald contained a whole page ad. of a Minneapolis grocery store being forced by the combine to do this. The action of the merchants will result in their own injury eventually unless they compromise, for mail order stores are only too glad to use the advertising space in country papers.

Mrs. Annie Schnobrich was brought before Justice Henningsen on Monday for trial being accused of poisoning and causing the death of a valuable dog belonging to Fred Grebe. The prosecution was conducted by Attorney Olsen and R. E. O'Keefe and the defense by Hoildale & Somsen. The case went to the jury at 5 o'clock and at 1:30 the jury reported a disagreement. A large number of witnesses were produced by the prosecution and the trial lasted from 10 o'clock until five, but the evidence does not seem to have been such as would convince a jury that Mrs. Schnobrich had placed poison for the express purpose of poisoning dogs. There is no doubt but that she bought poison and used it but it has evidently not been clearly shown what her intent was. A pet dog and especially an intelligent one is usually next to the to the members of a family in the affection of its owner and whoever with malicious intent destroys the life of such an animal should be severely punished for it but the case should be clearly proven. The case has been settled and dismissed.

Today at high noon will take place the marriage of Miss Ella Fenske to D. A. Grussendorf, both of this city. The ceremony will take place at the home of bride's mother and only relatives of the two families will be present. The Rev. Wm. F. Fritze of Sleepy Eye will officiate. After the ceremony the couple will leave for Minneapolis where they will attend a few of the sessions of the National Educational Association going from there to the Pacific Coast where they will spend a few weeks. Upon their return they with Mrs. Fenske will move to Appleton which city is to be their home in the future. Both Mr. Grussendorf and his bride-to-be are well known and popular young people and that the fruition of their hopes should result in the highest happiness is the universal wish of the people of the city. Mr. Grussendorf will be greatly missed in the church in which he has taken such an active and persevering interest, in the K. of P. lodge of which he was prelate and as 1st Lieut. of Co. A, but most of all he will be missed by the scholars of the public school in whom he has always taken a kindly and effective interest. The Review joins with the large number of friends of the young people in wishing them the very best of success and happiness.

Climate and Crop Bulletin of the Weather Bureau.

The rains on the evenings of the 4th and 5th were accompanied by high winds in many places which blew down some very rank grain. In central and northern parts of state the need of rain was beginning to be felt, and there the rains of the week have been beneficial to all crops; elsewhere rain was not needed, but it has caused no injury. In the northern part of the state spring wheat, oats, barley and flax are growing well; in central and southern portions these crops are in splendid condition, except in a few localities, where on light soil the straw is short and flax rather thin.

There is some complaint of rust in southern portions and the fear of lodging. Rye is ripening. Spring wheat and oats are headings. Corn has been backward, but the recent warm weather is starting a vigorous growth; the crop has been well cultivated. Potatoes are good, and new potatoes are ready for use. A great deal of clover has been cut for hay, though the week has not been favorable for haying and in southeastern portions considerable hay has been injured or spoiled by the rains. Timothy is ready to cut.

Mankato's Big Show.

There is no discounting the fact that Mankato has had a big show during the week past. A variety of entertainment has held forth in that city that cannot be discounted.

The Bostock Ferrari people have supplied some of the most up-to-date attractions and the generous patronage that has been accorded them is a recommendation that cannot be gainsaid.

On Wednesday night Gov. Van Sant and his staff was in the city. He was the guest of the Masonic fraternity of the city and was given a royal welcome. His party was taken from the train to the Masonic hall where the ladies had prepared and excellent lunch after which an informal reception was tendered him and he together with a number of other Masons made short addresses. An excellent spirit pervaded the entire company and the governors wit and pointed stories with the more sober addresses made it a pleasant occasion.

Dr. Strickler was present from this city and Dr. Wellcome from Sleepy Eye and both were called upon to speak. Dr. Wellcome was too hoarse to talk much but Dr. Strickler was quick to see his advantage and extended an invitation from Mayor Wescheke of this city to the people of Mankato to be present at the Anniversary in this city in August. The Governor and staff at once agreed to come and the generous applause the doctor was given when he finished would seem to indicate that New Ulm may expect a large number of Mankato people to attend the celebration.

The taste in decoration that was used by those having that particular in charge, was good, and the features are worthy of imitation by this city. The arrangements of lights in particular was very striking. The scale on which the celebration was carried out was more magnificent than will be the one in this city but several features could be profitably imitated.
