The Disagreement.

While the consensus of opinion regarding the decision of the jury sworn to pass judgment upon the fate of Dr. Koch, seems to have been that it would disagree, it is evident that the disagreement was not brought about so much by the evidence as by prejudice. This was emphasized by the action of John Mack who was out of the court room less than an hour when he came to the Review office and cancelled his subscription. This may have been the action of an unprejudiced man but it does not look that way.

There are two features in connection with this case, laying aside all else, that should have made an acquittal certain, the purely circumstantial evidence and the failure of the state to connect the circumstances. There was, to an unprejudiced mind, more than a reasonable doubt. This doubt belongs always to the accused. Did he get it?

State aid for good roads is nearing the stage of action in Illinois, and Minnesota will not be far behind.

Among the leading states Minnesota is backward in legislation for good roads and the convention held last week should be an incentive to the legislators to provide a better public road system in the state. There is money enough spent every year on roads, which, if properly distributed, would give the state excellent highways.

A sad fate seems to await the revolutionists in Russia unless some influence intervenes more powerful than the unfortunate peasants. If the Jews, who have some terrible wrongs to avenge, take advantage of the present trouble and furnish the sinews of war, there may by a different government in that despotic empire, but alone the poor people are fighting a losing battle, the soldiers of the Czar will soon compel them to lay down their arms.

In conducting the trial of Geo. R. Koch, accused of the murder of Dr. Gebhardt, Gen. Childs has shown himself to be a man who refuses to stoop to the tricks and subterfuges that characterize many attorneys, and in the estimation of all he has proven himself a man of honor, protesting against wrong of any kind and seemingly anxious that right only shall triumph. He is in every sense a man, and in his selection as prosecutor, the county is to be congratulated upon the good judgment of Judge Webber.

The State Federation of Labor council will soon be held at Minneapolis to consider needed labor legislation that will be asked of the present legislature. Among the more important legislative measures that will come up for consideration is a bill providing for the organization of free employment bureaus under the direction of the state in every city which has a central labor body. Duluth, St. Paul, Minneapolis, Winona, Mankato, Red Wing, St. Cloud, Little Falls, Brainerd and Stillwater will probably be included in the list. Wisconsin now has a similar law which makes provision for the operation of labor bureaus under the state's control.

The man who says that the editor of this paper left the city because he was afraid to face anything that the state had to bring in the case against G. R. Koch, lies. Three things took the writer out of the city a few hours last week: Business that had been long neglected, an attempt to identify a person who was sending threatening anonymous letters and, last but not least, a desire to see his aged parents whom the lies and distortions of facts that Mr. Liesch has sent broadcast, has brought almost to the border of distraction. The state had five witnesses for impeachment that they could use when it closed its case. Why didn't it use them? Liesch evidently judges all men by himself.

Minnesota did the best thing possible when she returned Moses Clapp to the United States senate. The state gains nothing by the constant changing of men at Washington. Those who are there are the best posted in the manipulating of forces that make for the best welfare of the state and a new man is for a long time a loss to the interests of the state he represents. Mr. Clapp has merited the substantial endorsement the state legislature has given him in the face of a very strenuous opposition.

We fail to see wherein the judiciary of this state can be benefited by a raise in the salary of the office. If there is any assurance that with a higher salary as a temptation better men will be elected to the offices, we are of the opinion that the present judiciary of the state is about as good as it is possible for the people of the state to expect and this applies to the years that have passed. If there is to be any raising of salaries we would like to see the salaries of the legislators fixed at a sum that will be an inducement for the best men to seek offices, not that this county has not a good representation, but there are counties that are not represented by the best men, by any means.

We would like to ask our brethren of the press in Redwood Falls if the wave of religion that has passed over that section of the country has made any difference in the way the people have paid their debts, especially their subscriptions. The practical test of a man's sincerity is in the way he cancels his obligations. "Pure religion and undefiled, is that which visits the widows and orphans in their affliction" and we might add, seeks to pay all just debts. Are they doing this in Redwood Falls? If they are then we would like to live in that city. If it is doing this for the people of Redwood Falls then the money that went to Mr. Sunday is a good investment that should multiply with more than compound interest.

Suicide.

One of the saddest, strangest and most unexplainable things that have transpired for sometime in this neighborhood is the suicide of the young editor of the Arlington Enterprise, A. C. Wallin. In the morning of life and in the dawn of a business career that had all the promise of the most brilliant success, at the age of twenty-two years, he shot himself through the temple and his young life went out to meet its reward. Suicide, like murder is usually based on some motive and in this case there is no motive known. Age and its infirmities sometimes revolt at the prospects of the few years that are before it and love thwarted and broken sometimes wrecks the ambition and ends the lives of men; disease and the lurking shadow of an undiscovered crime send some men to the great beyond but in this case there appears to have been nothing of the kind and only the opposite in the life of the suicide. What must it be if a man at the age of twenty-two tires of living—not one-third of his life period covered. Is it cowardice or bravery or is it selfish, for the sorrow it leaves in its trail darkens the lives of loved ones who are innocently connected? Life's prospects may be dark, they are to most of us at times, but man was given his days to live out and they are not his to shorten as he wills and leave its purpose all unfulfilled.

Beef Trust and Meat.

The methods of the beef trust, which is keeping the price of cattle as low as the price of beef is high, are being thoroughly aired in the proceedings which the government has brought to have the trust dissolved. Attorney General Moody, in arguing the case before supreme court Monday, gave the following summary of one of the trust's little devices for keeping down the price of cattle:

"In the seventh paragraph of the petition it appears that the defendants have agreed upon this device: In pursuance of the conspiracy among themselves, their agents bid up the price of live stock at certain selected points to an abnormal point. This naturally induces the shipment from other states of live stock to the points where the price is bid up in quantities much larger than under normal conditions. Then, taking advantage of this congestion of the markets, they refrain from bidding against each other in the purchase of live stock, with the result that the producers and owners of the stock are forced to sell at ruinous prices. Thus the unlawful conspiracy to refrain from bidding against each other is made doubly profitable, and the great profits which come from the transaction in turn increase the power of the combination and tend to fasten upon the people a monopoly. The conspiracy in this case is auxiliary to the conspiracy to refrain from bidding and to the creation of a monopoly which this whole case discloses.

It is alleged in the eighth paragraph that, for the purpose of aiding in the raising, lowering, fixing and maintaining of uniform prices for fresh meat, the defendants collusively restricted and curtailed shipments of meats to various markets throughout the country. The word "collusively," fairly interpreted, means that they curtailed shipments by agreements with each other. Doubtless, such a transaction sometimes may be entirely legitimate. This condition is recognized in the degree, which exempts from its prohibition the curtailing of shipments made in good faith to prevent the congesting of the markets.

NEW ULM STONE HARDEST KNOWN

Government Chemist so Characterizes Product of Local Company.

"The hardest quartzite we have ever tested and its toughness also above the average." This is the way the bureau of chemistry of the United States department of agriculture, good roads division, characterizes the rock quarried by the New Ulm Stone company.

There is a good roads convention in St. Paul this week, and the local concern was planning on making an exhibit. There is also a convention of concrete and cement users in Minneapolis at the same time and the company wanted to be represented there. So it decided to send a sample of its product to Washington and have an analysis made and put this analysis in printed form with the exhibits.

The result has been more than was expected. The determinations made by the chemists show that the New Ulm product is the best crushed rock on the market for the making of roads and concrete work.

The percent of hardness as given by the chemist is 17.8, so far the hardest rock ever examined by the department; the percentage of wear is but 1.6, the best wearing rock ever tested by the government. The cementing value of the rock when wet is 42, which is close to the maximum.

In the report by the chemist these remarks were made: "This sample is the hardest quartzite we have ever tested, and its toughness is also above the average. Like all quartzites the cementing value is low, but by wet grinding it rose from 3 to 42. This indicates that used in road construction it should be rolled wet, using plenty of water. It should do best under a heavy traffic."

The company has sent samples to the two conventions already mentioned, and W. C. Miller, the local manager, is now in the Twin cities advertising the stone.

Dr. John Baasen, who for the past few years has been located at Eau Claire, Wis., and who has been in this city for the past two weeks visiting his relatives, leaves this week for the pacific coast where he will engage in the practice of dentistry. In leaving Eau Claire Dr. Baasen left a good practice and in coming to this city stories followed him to the effect that he was coming here to locate, but such is not the fact. While here he received a letter from a friend in the city he has left to the effect that detectives have been there looking up his record and trying to connect him with the murder of Dr. Gebhardt, nothing came of the matter as he was in Milwaukee at that time. He was a classmate and roommate of Dr. Koch and has been a constant visitor at the jail since the latter's incarceration.

Death of John Berg.

The funeral of John Berg was held from the Catholic church Friday and the bereaved sons and daughters have the heartfelt sympathy of the community in this double sorrow that has come upon them. Less than two weeks ago they laid their mother to rest and now follows the husband and father. Having been united in life through many years of changing fortunes they are again united in the land of the unknown. They were both types of the best citizens and fulfilled their duties to their family to the best of their ability and to the honor of themselves and the community in which they live. The world would be better off if there were more such people as Mr. and Mrs. Berg, and their death is a loss to the city, as it is a deep bereavement to the relatives of the family.

A DANDY FOR BURNS.

Dr. Bergin, Pans., Ills., writes: "I have used Ballard's Snow Liniment; always recommended it to my friends; as I am confident there is no better made. 'It is a dandy for burns.' Those who live on farms are especially liable to many accidental cuts, burns, bruises, which heal rapidly when Ballard's Snow Liniment is applied. It should always be kept in the house for cases of emergency." 25c, 50c, $1.00 bottle. Sold by Eugene A. Pfeiffer.

Catarrh of the Head Which Affected Hearing Cured by Pe-ru-na.

Mr. J. Emile Tanguay, No. 333 John St., Quebec, is Secretary of the Jacques Curling Club of Quebec, one of the leading sporting clubs in the city. Its members are composed of young men of the best families. He writes:

"Last winter I caught a severe cold which developed into a severe case of catarrh of the head, affecting my hearing especially. My eyes ran, my system seemed to be generally clogged up. I was advised by a club friend to try Pe-ru-na, and did so at once. To my delight I found a change set in for the better within three days, and in eight days I was entirely well."—J. Emile Tanguay.

Mr. Adolph Koehler, President of the North Side Turnerschaft, writes from Clark and Leland Ave., Chicago, Ill.:

"It is with pleasure that I endorse Peruna as a first-class medicine especially for catarrhal affections of the throat and lungs. I have used it with much benefit and several of my friends have been cured of catarrh entirely where Peruna was used."—Adolph Koehler.

"Nothing Better Than Pe-ru-na for Catarrhal Troubles," Says Congressman C. P. Dorr.

C. P. Dorr, Hotel Johnson, Washington, D. C., Ex-Congressman from West Virginia, writes:

"I can cheerfully recommend Peruna to anyone who wants a safe and permanent cure for catarrh. For throat, lung and catarrhal trouble there is nothing better than Peruna."—C. P. Dorr.

Colds Lead to Chronic Catarrh.

A common cold is acute catarrh, which quickly becomes chronic catarrh if allowed to remain.

Every cold snap leaves in its trail thousands of cases of catarrh, many of whom for want of an effective remedy, will suffer from this disease the rest of their lives.

Is there anything that can be done to prevent all this?

In the first place, Peruna used at the proper time will prevent taking cold. In the second place, Peruna will cure a cold in from two to five days.

Again, Peruna will cure catarrh quickly in the first stages, and finally Peruna will also cure chronic catarrh, if used properly and persistently.

Peruna kept in the house and properly used will therefore not only act as a safeguard against the ailments which result from sudden cold waves, but will also prove a sure remedy for this class of ailments.

If you do not derive prompt and satisfactory results from the use of Peruna, write at once to Dr. Hartman, giving full statement of your case and he will be pleased to give you his valuable advice gratis.

Peruna can be purchased at any first-class drug store for $1.00 per bottle. Address Dr. Hartman, President of The Hartman Sanitarium, Columbus, O.
