

Calumet Baking Powder

A wonderful powder of rare merit and unrivaled strength.

New Ulm Review

Wednesday, March 15, 1905.

Petroleum being one of the free list does not seem to have anything to do with the price of it. There are some things that even the tariff cannot regulate.

It would not be strange if the abandoned gas and oil wells of Kansas would become the catacombs of the Standard Oil Co.

Some peculiar voting was done on the reciprocal demurrage bill, but if present indications prevail the bill will win out in the end.

President Roosevelt has again begun what he is pleased to designate as his second term, with a vast amount of unfinished business on hand.

Editor Quane of the St. Peter Herald, has adopted the Minneapolis method of spelling some words. It is a good plan, and is becoming more common every day.

The failure of the Coe Commission Co., and the many small dealers that it sucked in as it went down, ought to give S. D. Peterson's bucket shop-bill something of a boost.

It usually proves true that where any one or two certain capitalists get interested in the welfare of the farmers they have more at stake than appears on the surface.

Between the price paid the farmer for a steer and the price paid by the consumer for beef there is a large margin not explained in the Garfield report on the operations of the trust.

According to Commissioner Garfield's report, the big packing concerns are losing money. Maybe the proposed oil investigation will disclose the fact that Mr. Rockefeller is on the verge of bankruptcy.

Chloroform was discovered by Dr. Guthrie, an American, at the age of 69. He was unaware that he had passed the deadline of usefulness nine years before, according to a freak doctor of a more modern school.

If the legislature could somehow manage to cut out about one thousand of the fifteen hundred laws embraced in the new code, it might be easier for the people to be law abiding. A few simple laws well enforced are much better than many laws forgotten and obsolete.

While she was in Chicago Mrs. Follman secured the services of one of the best trimmers in the wholesale house, Miss Lottie Cole, who arrived last Sunday to begin her work in preparation for the opening season March 19th. Mrs. Follman would like to have the ladies meet her new assistant.

The trustees of the Congregational church met Monday evening and issued a call for a church meeting to be held next Monday evening, the principal business of the meeting will be to elect a minister from the number who have appeared before the congregation since the first of January. It seems to be almost a foregone conclusion that the choice will fall upon the Rev. Wheeler, who was here on Sunday the 5th.

MUCH ADO ABOUT NOTHING.

Speaking of telephone conditions in a seeming attempt to stir up a controversy the Springfield Advance says: "A very prominent business man of that city highly complimented The Advance on the truthful story published in its columns, and there are any number of citizens—representative business men in that city who are not satisfied and have said as much to the writer. However, what is done in New Ulm in no wise affects the writer, much less the local telephone conditions."

What object the Advance can have in getting so far away from home in an attempt to make trouble, we do not know. So far New Ulm has been able to take care of itself, but of course it is possible that in this matter the city does need the advice of the Advance, at least it is thankful that so much valuable advice is given free.

For the enlightenment of the Advance, we will say this: Not long ago the Review took the trouble to interview most of the business men of the city in regard to a competitive telephone system and they were unanimous in saying that they were satisfied with the present system and were opposed to the introduction of another exchange in the city, they are not opposed to the introduction of rural lines, in fact they are anxious to have them come in.

No one has doubted the truth of any of the articles published in the Advance. The statements are probably made in the best of faith, and the as-urance that they are true will be made doubly sure now that the editor has assured us all that he is telling the truth, but why the editor of the Advance should be so exercised over the matter is beyond comprehension, unless he has stock in the new telephone company at Springfield and is not getting any dividends on it, of course, if that is the case he is excusable.

The assertion in its last issue that the Review "pounced" on the Advance is far fetched, for all this talk about nothing was started by the Advance from a mistaken impression that the people of this city were not in harmony with the rural telephone companies. If the matter was better understood by the editor of the Advance he would be in a better position to make statements.

He knows the conditions at Springfield, and they are not the same as obtain here. If it is a good thing for that place and the people are being benefitted by it, it is magnanimous of them to want the same conditions to prevail universally, and we admire them for it. It may be that some day New Ulm will send a delegation of her citizens to Springfield to make a thorough study of the question, and then when they ask the advice of the editor of the Advance it will come with better grace than it does when he attempts to put his oar in where it is not really required.

THE SWELLING BUSINESS TIDE.

The sweeping improvement of the business outlook which has come since the election of Roosevelt is reflecting itself in a striking way in the stock market and in the plans of the great promoters. The latest big Wall street project which is reported is the merger of the Vanderbilt, Rockefeller and Harriman railway interests. As all the roads controlled by these personages are to come into the proposed league, providing the story turns out to be true, something like $3,000,000,000 will be represented in the new combine. This is a quarter of the entire capital represented in the railways of the United States. It is an aggregation of capital which is double the size of the steel trust, which, as floated in the boom days of three or four years ago, dazzled the world. The same day which brings the report of this big railway merger tells of the approaching consolidation among Southern iron and coal interests, of which the leading partner is the Tennessee iron and coal company. This will represent a capital of about $200,000,000, and the chief field of its operations is in the Birmingham district of Alabama, the Pittsburg of the South.

These mergers are all a part of that vast bull movement which is sweeping over the country. The temporary reaction which always comes about midway between the panics and recoveries and which struck the country not long after the Northern Pacific cyclone of 1901, had passed, and the general tendency of things will be on ward and upward for the next few years. The panic which hit the country in 1873 and 1893 will probably not bring a successor before 1913. That is the year in which the next convulsion is due under the twenty-year law of periodicity which has prevailed with considerable regularity from the beginning of the country. We have had our mid-panic term setback, and everything will be lovely according to all the precedents, for the coming seven or eight years, though wild speculation, like that which has a chance to set in now, may hasten the cataclysm. For the time, however, all sorts of big business enterprises will flourish, new corporations will be formed, old ones will be consolidated, vast masses of new stocks will be thrown upon the market and excellent chances will be offered to lose as well as to make fortunes.

THE BUSINESS MAN.

Just a word about the "Business Man." He is the main factor of every city and village. The rock upon which all enterprises rise or fall. The engine of success or the stumbling block of offense.

It is to the business man that all things come for final adjustment, from the encouragement of a public enterprise to contributions for the poor.

He is visited by the representatives from the homes for the friendless, he is waited upon by the committees for celebrations, he is the first to be seen by the book agents and the agitators of lecture courses, and there is not a Fourth of July that looms up red on the horizon of expectation that has not bled the business man for sums of money that range from $5 to $50.

If he is generous he is praised and all who go to him know that when they return he will be ready to give again. If he is not, then he is a miser; has no public spirit and people are willing to put him down as trying to do the town and give nothing in return.

To be a business man is to be the subject of attack from all sides, to be condemned for failures and seldom praised for successes, to be forgotten when his contribution is given and only remembered again if there is not sufficient money to carry the enterprise through.

He pays the taxes, supports the churches, gives to the schools, contributes to the campaign funds, and if there is anything left, supports his family.

He is the mainstay of the city and yet he gets but little credit for it. Somehow people have come to look at him as a factor to be recognized only for his usefulness, but this is not right.

Individually he is a citizen; a man, with the best interests of the city at heart and he is not discouraged if the people do ignore him at times. His welfare depends upon the success of the place in which he lives. Do not abuse him. He is the most useful member of the great family to which we all belong.

FARMERS FEDERATION.

There is a movement on foot to form a gigantic federation of farmers, calculated to embrace all the farmers of the United States to the number of at least 10,000,000.

On paper this is one of the easiest and most practical thing imaginable, but how it will work out is hard to tell. It would seem that the management of so great an organization would be too unwieldy for security. It would be a small government in itself, and the control of it in the hands of an unjust and unscrupulous man would be the most dangerous thing that could happen.

It is hardly probable that an organization will be affected, even though it is most desired and would be a good thing for all farmers. It would be a trust that could fight all the trusts, dictate the legislation of the land, make and unmake presidents, in fact control all things.

The mind that has conceived this gigantic trust may be able to carry it through. If he does he is a modern Napoleon and will probably ask for and receive a salary as president of the organization that will be equal to that of the president of the United States.

As far as is known the organizers of this federation are stock brokers of Chicago and while they may be philanthropists as broad minded as the great plan they are trying to carry through, it would be well to know them before putting too much confidence in them, for once organized if this federation is controlled for the benefit of the other trusts it will be one of the most baneful things that could happen.

MONTH AFTER MONTH

The New Ulm Journal is making the path of one Asa P. Brooks exceedingly thorny, and if there is any man in the world who deserves that kind of a path, it is Brooks.—Dawson Sentinel.

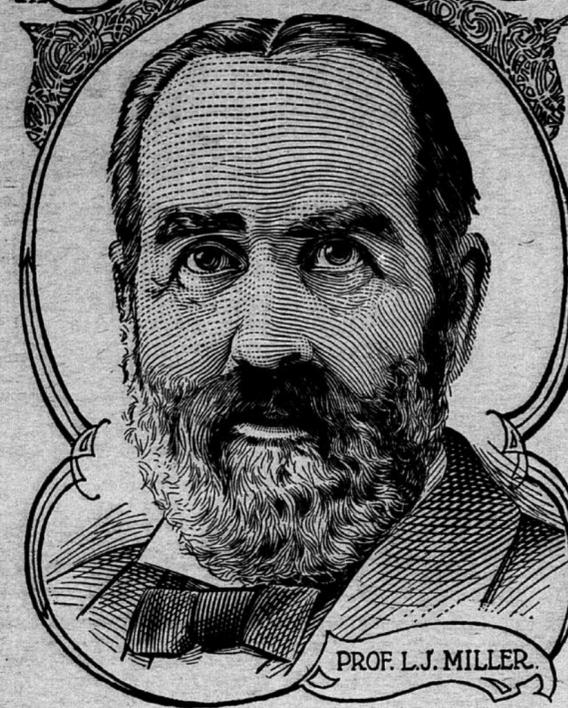

The above clipping is taken from the Brown County Journal and we are pleased to know that these men are enjoying themselves in their own peculiar way.

a cold clings to you. The cough seems to tear holes in the delicate tissues of the throat and lungs. You lose weight and you wonder if you are threatened with a disease you scarcely dare to name. Are you aware that even a stubborn and long-neglected cold is cured with Allen's Lung Balm? Do not spend more of your life in coughing and worrying.

CHEMICAL ANALYSIS

Reveals That "Pe-ru-na is Calculated to Tone up the System, Restore the Functions and Procure Health."

SO SAYS PROF. L. J. MILLER, CHEMIST.

PROF. L. J. MILLER.

Prof. L. J. Miller, late Professor of Chemistry and Botany of the High School of Ypsilanti, Mich., writes from 3327 N. Clark Street, Chicago, Ill., as follows: "As several of my friends have spoken to me of the favorable results obtained through the use of Peruna, especially in cases of catarrh, I examined it most thoroughly to learn its contents.

"I found it composed of extracts of herbs and barks of most valuable medicinal qualities combined with other ingredients, delicately balanced, calculated to tone up the system, restore the functions and procure health.

"I consider Peruna one of the most skillfully and scientifically prepared medicines, which the public can use with safety and success."—PROF. L. J. MILLER.

"Build up the System."
Hon. Joseph H. Ridgway, Secretary of the American Anti-Treat Society, writes the following letter from the Grand Central Hotel, St. Paul, Minn.:

"It is with great pleasure that I endorse Peruna as an honest medicine, competent to do all it claims. I have used it several times and know of nothing that cures so completely, and at the same time builds up the system."

Joseph Ridgway.

"I have recommended it to a number of my friends and always feel that I do them a service for I know how satisfactory the results invariably are. I only wish every family had a bottle—it would save much sickness and doctor bills."—Joseph H. Ridgway.

"Feel Better Than for Five Years."
Mr. James B. Taylor, Roberts, Ind., writes:

"I am at the present time entirely well. I can eat anything I ever could. I took five bottles of Peruna, and feel better now than I have for five years. I have doctored with other doctors off and on for fifteen years, so I can recommend your medicine very highly for stomach troubles. I take great pleasure in thanking you for your free advice and Peruna."—James B. Taylor.

"I Enjoy my Meals as I Used to."
Mr. J. W. Pritchard, Wolf Lake, Ind., writes:

"I am pleased to say that I have been cured of catarrh of the stomach by Peruna. I could hardly eat anything that agreed with me. Before I would get half through my meal my stomach would fill with gas causing me much distress and unpleasant feelings for an hour or two after each meal. But, thanks to your Peruna, I am now completely cured, and can eat anything I want to without any of the distressing symptoms. I can now enjoy my meals as I used to do, and it is all due to Dr. Hartman and his wonderful medicine, Peruna.

"It has been one year since I was cured, and I am all O. K. yet, so I know I am cured."—J. W. Pritchard.

Dyspepsia is a very common phase of summer catarrh. A remedy that will cure catarrh of one location will cure it anywhere. Peruna cures catarrh wherever located. That it is a prompt and permanent cure for catarrh of the stomach the above letters testify.

If you do not derive prompt and satisfactory results from the use of Peruna, write at once to Dr. Hartman, giving a full statement of your case and he will be pleased to give you his valuable advice gratis.
