

HOME BAKERY ADDS SIFTER

Improvement to Equipment to Improve Quality.

Increased Bread Demand Requires Better Facilities.

The Day Electro Sifter Now Prepares Flour For Baking.

The interior of the Home Bakery is rapidly assuming the appearance of being quite a mechanically arranged institution. You turn a switch here and it starts one piece of machinery and you turn another and some other agitation sets up.

The latest addition to the apparently complete arrangement of the bakery is the J. H. Day Sifter, a mechanical arrangement for preparing the flour for the mixing. It has been determined by actual experiment that flour that is well mixed before it goes into the dough makes a better quality of bread than that baked by simply mixing in the dough, and this fact has determined Mr. Eibner in securing the new device he has just installed.

The machine is really a combination of sifter, mixer and hopper. The flour is put into the hopper and coming in contact with the revolving brushes it passes over a semi-cylindrical sieve through which it is brushed into the mixer below where it meets a spiral agitator which is continually revolving and does the mixing.

With the new machine the Home Bakery is able to turn out a larger amount of bread and in better shape and of a better quality than it has been able to do previous to the installation of the plant, and the patrons of the bakery will appreciate the effort of the proprietor to please them with the best there is to be had in the market.

Mr. Eibner is devoting his entire time to the work and as a result is accomplishing results where others would have failed, and the reputation of anything that comes from his place has been so firmly established that it sells in markets where there is no demand for other products.

INTER-STATE TO INCLUDE DAKOTA

Accident Company Will Take in Two More States.

With the beginning of the month of November the Inter-State Accident company of this city will have arranged to open up the territory of the states of North and South Dakota. This will give the company, beside Minnesota, Wisconsin and the two Dakotas in which to send their agents, and the added territory is expected to largely increase the work of the office and the volume of insurance that is written.

The quarter just closed has been one of the best in the history of the company, both in regard to renewals of policies and new business brought into the company. While there has been a much larger amount of money paid out for injuries and sickness there has been a corresponding amount of money brought into the institution so that it is in better shape than at any time during the history of the company.

As soon as the new territory is opened some man familiar with the state and the conditions of affairs there will be appointed to the position of state agent and a systematic method of covering the states with agents will be provided.

The Inter-State is holding to the reputation it has had from the start of being the most liberal of all the accident associations doing business in the state and being the largest of the state associations in point of membership. It has thrived and is most healthy at present.

AMERICAN TRAVELER IN NEW ULM

Curtis W. Lindle Visits Scene of Indian Massacre.

Curtis W. Lindle, a man who is widely known as a lecturer and a thorough student of the Indian nations and the early history of this country, was in the city Thursday and Friday for the purpose of collecting data in reference to the Indian massacre and the early settlement of this part of the state.

He is a great friend of the Indian and speaks the Sioux language fluently having lived with the Indians for the purpose of acquiring a full meaning of it so as to enable him to learn all the traditions and history of the race as far as the Indians were able to give it to him in their own tongue.

He covered the territory in the vicinity of this city thoroughly and was much impressed with the place. In reference to the monument which is erected to commemorate the event of the massacre he said that the Sioux Indians were greatly humiliated by the inscription that appears on all the monuments stating that the Sioux were engaged in the massacre when in fact it was only one tribe of the nation and all the remaining tribes were friendly to the whites. They claim that it should read "Indians" and not as it is because it reflects on all of them.

It is his purpose some day to return to this place and deliver one of his lectures, he has three: "Birds and Beasts," "American Indians" and "Custer's Last Battle." The first of these three he delivers to the Indian children in the various schools on the reservation in the Sioux tongue, and he says that the children are always glad to listen to it.

He is of the opinion that the Sioux language is more of a language than the English and that it is pure and expressive where the English has but little meaning. He also believes that the Japanese are of the same family as the Sioux and came originally from the same ancestors.

FLOUR DEMAND SURPRISING

Mills Hard Pressed to Fill Orders For Flour.

Export Business Has Never Equaled Present Demand.

Eagle Mill Taxes its Capacity to Keep up With Trade.

There is a change in the condition of the market for flour that is surprising the millers and the grain men. At this time last year the mills of the country were wondering where they were to find market for the flour they were turning out, but for the past six weeks or more the question has been solved to the satisfaction of all.

The Eagle mill, which is the largest mill outside of the cities and which has a capacity of 3500 barrels daily is working night and day and Sundays and is still unable to supply the demand for its product.

This is largely due to the fact that the people of the European countries have had to contend with a grade of flour not up to the standard of the American product for the reason that the price of wheat was so high in this country that it was impossible to mill it and sell the flour in the foreign market. Now that things have adjusted themselves and the rates of transportation and the price of grain have found a lower level the American flour is again going into the foreign market and the mills of New Ulm are sending their product to all the countries of the world.

The export business of the Eagle mill for the past two months has been greater than for all the time past in point of quantity shipped and number of ports to which the flour is shipped.

It is claimed for the flour that is made of the wheat that is grown in the belt from which the mills of New Ulm draw their supply that it makes a flour that is whiter and sweeter than that made from wheat in any other section of the world and on this reputation of the brands is built and the company has found that the people of the orient will pay a little more for the American make than it will for that of any other place.

Both the mills of this city are careful of the grades they ship out and the reputation of the New Ulm flour stands with the best that is made in any of the mills of the state.

The Eagle mill was compelled to shut down for necessary repairs Sunday and lost the run of that day, but when the additional room being provided is completed and the machinery installed there will be a largely increased capacity and the orders be more readily filled.

Whatever is good for the mills of this city is good for the city itself and the Review is pleased to note the renewed activity of business in this line. It is the forerunner of a prosperous time.

SUNDAY'S ENTERTAINMENTS DRAW

Turner Theatre and Opera House Have Good Audience.

"Yon Yonson" the Swedish dialect play that has always been among the best drawing cards at any of the theatres, played here to a good house Sunday night. The play has lost none of its beauty and the humor in it is fully as enjoyable and rich as when the play was first put on the stage.

"For Her Sake" was also played on the same evening at the Opera House with Billy Marble as the star in the play. This pioneer of the stage in this state is a general favorite and he is supported this season by a strong company. A clean bright and excellent company and the play is full of merit and worthy a good patronage from any city.

It was really too bad that the two shows hit upon the same evening for their appearance in the city as there is little enough for one at any time and besides this there was a dance in the Star hall that also drew a fair number of people.

WANTS POLICY HOLDERS TO MEET

Senator Lee Approves Lawson's Plan of Reorganization.

W. E. Lee of Long Prairie, former speaker of the Minnesota house and member of the state board of control, has written Governor Johnson suggesting that he call a meeting of policyholders in the New York Life, Equitable and Mutual Life, who live in Minnesota. The suggested meeting is for the purpose of combining and turning over all proxies to a common representative, to be used in voting on a reorganization of the companies.

Mr. Lee, who is a policyholder in the Equitable, offers to send his proxy to be voted by Governor Johnson, in connection with the movement started by Thomas A. Lawson.

This seems to be the best of the many ways that have been offered to get the great life insurance companies out of the muddle they are in. While the companies are paying all the indemnities that they are called upon for and paying a large dividend to policyholders, still there seems to be a large surplus that has gone into illegitimate channels.

It is to divert this into the proper channel and assure the policyholders that they are contributing only to the proper expenses of the company, that the movement has been started. There is no danger of the policyholders losing anything because of the vast sums that have been expended. The sureties remain behind all the policies and life insurance in these companies is as safe today, or safer than it was ten years ago.

ENTERTAINMENT AND DEDICATION

Elaborate Program Precedes Address of Archbishop.

Preparations for the dedication of the new Catholic school building, which is to take place Sunday, have been practically completed. The order of Foresters has been notified to turn out in a body and all the other organizations of the church will take part in the exercises. Arch Bishop Ireland will conduct the services which will be as imposing and impressive as only such services can be when held under the direction of the Catholic church. The new school building is worthy of the best and the fact that the venerable prelate of the church is to be here will draw a large crowd for the people of the state irrespective of belief are all admirers of the great and good man.

At 10:30 in the morning there will be high mass at the Holy Trinity church and at 2 o'clock the ceremony of the dedication. In the evening beginning at 7:30 sharp there will be an entertainment in which pupils of the school will have the leading roles followed by an address by Archbishop Ireland. On Monday evening the same entertainment will be given with the exception of the first part for which a light German play will be substituted. Following is the program for Sunday.

Address of the Most Rev. Archbishop

L. C. Ives for the past forty years a resident of this county and most of that time living on his farm north of town on the Cottonwood, will leave for Vebler, S. D. to make his home with his son Albert, who lives there. His son Freeman will occupy and conduct the home place. Although well along in years. Mr. Ives is enjoying good health and his many Brown county friends hope to see him back in the spring, well and in his usual good spirits.

The sudden discovery of the fact that Friday was the anniversary of the birth of Mrs. G. B. Weiser decided a few of her friends that it was an occasion that required proper celebration and a number of them hastily planned a surprise party. There were some twenty or more ladies and they took possession of the house much to the consternation of the hostess until she was made aware of the purpose of the intrusion. A very pleasant evening was spent in various amusements.

The appearance of the Sanborn Sentinel is greatly improved since Editor McRae has installed a good press. By the old process it was often the case that the best parts of the paper were unable to read.
