The coming of Wests Minstrels to this city on the 28th of the present month will be of interest to the people of the city. The minstrels are not of the colored variety but the company is made up of white men who take the part of negroes, and it is well known that a white man can do a better negro act than the real black man can. Wests minstrels are known the world over and are among the very best on the road, numbering some fifty artists in different lines, among them being singers of more than ordinary ability. After a long rest from attractions of any kind a good audience is expected upon this date.

An illustration of how easily it would be to help home industries arises in the consumption of cigars. There are a very large number of users of cigars in the city, some of whom smoke from three to a dozen cigars a day. If each one of the men who smoke would use one more of the home cigars in preference to the foreign cigar, business would be better for the home factories, more men would have to be employed and more money would return to this city, and if the entire consumption of all of the smokers was of the home brands there would be a vast difference in the business of cigar making in this city. This is an illustration that applies to all local businesses.

Rev. Im. F. Albrecht of Fairfax, son of Rev. C. J. Albrecht of this city was honored by his church a short time ago by a call to a professorship in a Lutheran college at New Orleans. The call came as a surprise to the young man, who has only been out of school for a few years. He was wanted to instruct in English, German, Latin, Greek and Hebrew, being proficient in all of these. He took the matter up with his congregation last week and upon their recommendation decided to reject the offer and will remain with his charge at Fairfax. Andrew Amann has lately made some decided improvements in his washing machine, the "Eagle" which has been on the market for sometime and has also made additions to his plant for turning these machines out. There is a ready sale for the machine and those who now have them in use say that they are better than most of the high-priced machines that are on the market. Joseph Groebner has been given the agency for the sale of the machine and Mr. Amann expects to push his invention as rapidly as possible.

Arrangements are being considered for holding the annual old settlers' picnic which has become a feature of the entertainments that are provided by the members of the Turnverein. The matter has been neglected and was only taken up this week, the intention being to have the picnic on the 19th of the present month, if it is possible to get ready for it by that time. These picnics are greatly enjoyed by the old settlers of the county and it will be too bad if it fails to materialize this year.

The Christian Mother society of the Catholic church had their regular meeting Sunday after high mass and the annual election of officers. Engelbert and Louis Schilling jr. The society is the largest ladies society in the community numbering about 250 members. They meet regularly every first Sunday in the month.

The management of Turner hall park as well as a great many of the visitors to the concerts that are given there Sunday evenings, complain of the unnecessary noise that is made by the children and youths who are very numerous on those occasions. On recent occasions it has been so bad that the music of the band was almost drowned and those who appreciate the excellent music were unable to enjoy it because of the thoughtlessness of these young people. There is serious talk on the part of the management of barring out children of a certain age unless there is more care exercised in the way they conduct themselves. People who pay to enjoy the concert are entitled to consideration and should not be prevented from enjoying the music without such useless annoyance.
