SPEAKS WELL OF THE JUDGE

Sunday Minneapolis Journal Contains Notice.

Hon. B. F. Webber Subject of interesting Article.

Honorable Career as Judge Covers Quarter of Century.

There is an interesting article in the Sunday edition of the Minneapolis Journal containing a cut of Judge Webber and a brief account of his life that will be read with pleasure by the many friends of Mr. Webber. The article does not cover all that it might in the career of Judge Webber but it serves to show the high esteem in which he is held by the people of this city and of the state. The article is as follows:

B. F. Webber, judge of the ninth judicial district, who, by his own volition, retires from the office at the close of his present term, will be 72 years of age on Oct. 6, and is still a well-preserved and vigorous man.

Judge Webber was born at Shapleigh, Me., and in his youth learned the trade of a carpenter while he was acquiring an education that would enable him to teach school. In following the trade he had learned, he spent several years in Massachusetts, going from that state to Blue Earth county in this state in 1863, where he taught several terms of school and took up the study of law under the direction of H. S. Wilson at Garden City and at Madelia.

Having acquired a knowledge of law sufficient to permit of his being admitted to practice by the legislature, he came to this city. Being a Yankee among Germans and the only attorney in the city, he had a monopoly of the business until John Lind arrived a few years later, and started opposition. Mr. Webber practiced law in New Ulm for ten years, during which he held the office of county attorney for eight years, or until 1882, in which year he was nominated for the office of district judge.

The convention which nominated him to the judgeship was held in Turner hall and was composed of forty-six delegates, all the counties in the district being represented. There were two other candidates, Sumner Ladd of St. Peter and Alf. Walden of Redwood Falls. Redwood county sent two delegations to the convention, and in the dissatisfaction that arose from the settlement of the question as to which should sit in the convention, one set of delegates walked out. Mr. Webber was nominated on the first ballot, getting all but nine of the votes.

The name of Mr. Webber was placed in nomination by John Lind, who was

All services were well attended and thoroughly enjoyed.

By far the most pleasing and satisfying play that has been in Turner theatre for sometime is the one that was given last night—Under Southern Skies. It is a simple, touching, romantic, southern play with just enough pathos and humor to balance. The caste is large and the parts individually and collectively are well taken. Two characters are conspicuous for the excellence of their acting, Laura Oakman as Lelia Crofton and Roy Phillips as Burleigh Mavor. The management of the theatre is gratified at the large number of people who were present, the play being better patronized than the one on Sunday evening.

"The Umpire" played to a small house in Turner theatre Sunday evening. The play was excellent, in fact in the point of humor there has been nothing better in the city, though in sense effects it was not as good as some. It pleased the audience immensely, but many were disappointed because of the high prices charged for seats. A dollar and a half is more than the average person in the city is willing to part with for entertainment and in doing so they expected to see something better than anything ever seen before, and no doubt their expectations were so high that they were disappointed. It is a remarkably realistic production and the humor in it is of a very superior order.

H. L. Beecher has received word from his brother James, that on last Monday he expected to leave on the Texas for Cuban ports and would be in touch with the trouble in that country which is calling United States battleships into the zone of war. The Texas has 236 seamen and 300 marines aboard and is one of the formidable battleships of the navy. Just what port it will sail to is not stated but it is thought that its destiny will be Havana. This change in the affairs of Mr. Beecher will be highly pleasing to him and in the event of the ship getting into action will afford a diversion from the regular routine of life that is monotonous to the ordinary man. Mr. Beecher is paymaster on the ship and considers himself lucky in drawing the present assignment.

WOODMAN ORDER SHOWS GROWTH

Class of Twenty-Five to be Admitted to Membership.

Twenty-five candidates are scheduled to ride the Modern Woodman goat in this city on Monday evening and they will be the latest addition to the already large membership that Harmony Camp No. 2097 now has. With this increased membership, providing all the candidates successfully cross the desert, the camp in this city will have a membership of 225, which gives it a prominence among the large organizations of the city that entitles it to recognition.

For sometime Deputy State Organizer Welch has been busy in the city working in the interests of the order and has been the means of getting this large class together, and it is expected that when the time for the initiation of this large class arrives a large number of members of the order from out of the city will be present. Gov. Johnson has been invited to be a guest at the banquet and at the conclusion of his address at Turner hall will go to the lodge room.

The order has taken on a great growth this year in the state, and in St. Paul alone there is to be a class of more than 2000 taken into the order sometime in November. At this time there will be a special train to that city to accommodate all who are anxious to be present, and there will be things doing in the capitol city. The Modern Woodman order in this state now has a membership of 50,600 and $25,000 in the entire jurisdiction. Over 81,000 new members have been taken in during the past seven months, which goes to show that the order is very popular with the men of the state who are anxious to protect themselves and their families against misfortune.
