Howard Klossner, the salutatorian, will speak on "Mining in Minnesota" and Miss Vera Strickler on "The Influence of the Building of the Panama Canal on American Commerce." Michael Schmidt will deliver the class prophecy and Edgar Zelle the class history.

At the high school building this week there is to be seen an exhibit of the work of the school children in the various grades that should be studied by every parent in the city. The exhibit includes specimens of penmanship, map-drawing from memory, composition work, color sketching, sewing, wood work from the mechanical training department, and various other evidences of the children's development. All are really remarkable when one considers the home life and environment of some of the children, and the teachers are to be congratulated on what they have accomplished.

The state railroad and warehouse commission will hold a meeting at the Dakota House in this city on May 23rd to hear the application of the New Ulm Stone Co. and other petitioners for an order to compel the Minneapolis & St. Louis and the Northwestern railroad companies to provide switching facilities between the two roads in this city. Under the new law, passed by the last legislature, railroads can be compelled to connect with each other even if they do not cross at grade. Of course it must first be shown that the shipping conditions warrant it.

The Richardson family are receiving more than their share of misfortune. Saturday morning Mr. Richardson, who is still confined to his bed in Mankato, received a telegram announcing the death of his mother at Winona. The elder Mrs. Richardson was eighty years of age at the time of her death and had resided in Winona for over half a century. Miss Daisy Richardson was the only one of the New Ulm family who could attend the funeral, Dr. Warner having advised against Conductor Richardson's leaving his bed and also against his wife leaving him in his present condition.

Caribou Horns.

Not one out of every ten female caribou has horns. When it does have them they are much smaller than those of the bull. The horns of the female, however, in general have many more branches than those of the bull, and they are much more regularly and finely formed. The cows carry their horns much longer than the bulls. They have been seen with their horns in the month of April. The old bulls shed their horns from the 10th to the last of November. They hardly ever carry them after the month of November. The young bulls shed theirs from the first of December until the middle of February. The younger the animal the longer he retains his horns.

Shakespeare and Scenery.

It is a peculiar fact that while Shakespeare, of all dramatists, offers the greatest opportunity for scenery, he also, of all men who ever wrote, can best do without it. In fact, I believe Shakespeare owes his greatness in part to the fact that he did not have any scenery. He had to make everything clear without it. That is why his lines appeal to the mind as well as the action of the eye. Had he known different, said Daniel Frohman in the DeLineator, Shakespeare would not have been nearly so great, because he probably never would have taken the pains. However, the converse isn't true. We are not hiding any Shakespeares behind scenery today.

My Hair is Scraggly

Do you like it? Then why be contented with it? Have to be? Oh, no! Just put on Ayer's Hair Vigor and have long, thick hair; soft, even hair. But first of all, stop your hair from coming out. Save what you have. Ayer's Hair Vigor will not disappoint you. It feeds the hair-bulbs; makes weak hair strong.
