Mrs. August Hackbarth died at her home in this city last Thursday after a brief illness. She was in her sixty-fifth year and had lived in New Ulm since 1881. Among her immediate relatives she was revered and among her neighbors universally respected.

Stanley Brooks, the young Minneapolis Yale student who died about ten days ago in New York City, was an intimate friend of the Von Hagen family in Sleepy Eye and it is understood that he was engaged to be married to one of Mr. Von Hagen's daughters. This fact alone makes his death a particularly sad one.

The Current News Club met yesterday at the home of Miss Baasen. Miss Pfefferle acted as leader and the subjects handled were "The Spaniards," "The French Pioneers," and "The English in Virginia." Mrs. Pfefferle conducted the magazine studies and Miss Hellriegel read a paper on "The Founding and Founders of Virginia." The club will meet on Nov. 5th with Mrs. Wm. Durbahn.

Fred Bauch, the Springfield saloon-keeper who disappeared rather mysteriously about two weeks ago, has returned to his old haunts, having wandered away no farther than Watertown and tiring of his experience in less than a week. During his absence, however, his saloon business was sacrificed to satisfy his creditors and the unexpired license is now in the hands of the Hauenstein Brewing Co. of this city.

Mrs. Andrew J. Eckstein is reported to be quite ill.

Gerhard Spaeth has purchased a Ford automobile.

A daughter was born to Prof. and Mrs. Sievert last Wednesday.

The fast Madelia high school football team went down to defeat at Sleepy Eye Saturday afternoon, the Sleepy Eye players winning easily with a score of 18 to 0. Next Saturday the Sleepy Eye team will play at Redwood Falls.

A number of New Ulm people went to St. George Saturday morning to attend the funeral of Mrs. George Sackl who died on Thursday. The young woman was a popular one in the community in which she lived and her funeral was largely attended.

Preparations are now being made to celebrate on Nov. 6th the forty-fifth anniversary of the founding of Gustavus Adolphus college in St. Peter. Dr. Norelius, who was the original founder of the school, will be present at the exercises and will deliver an address.

The New Ulm Turnverein contemplates the purchase of two or three acres of land surrounding the site on which stood Adolph Seiter's log house in 1856 at the time the New Ulm Turnverein was grounded. When the purchase is effected, it is intended to erect a log house on the premises, duplicating the original building, and convert the place into a summer resort.

The "Sociological Club of New Ulm" was organized Monday evening at the home of Prof. Critchett. Prof. Jedlika was chosen as president, but the election of other officers and the adoption of a constitution was deferred until the next meeting which will be held Nov. 4th. After that the meetings will be held in some hall and will be of a character to interest the entire public.

Frank Niemann, the popular Broadway blacksmith and machinist, has experienced such a rapid increase in his business that he has found it necessary to build. Accordingly he will erect a two story brick building and will branch out in his operations so as to include wagon making as well as blacksmithing. When his plant is completed he will easily have the finest in the city.

Wm. F. Gieseke relieved word this week of a terrible misfortune that befel Mr. and Mrs. Wm. James at Rosebud, Montana, a few days ago. Mrs. James is a sister of Mr. Gieseke and it was the loss by fire of their cottage and all their belongings, including a trunk containing $600, that constituted the misfortune. Mrs. James was at home alone with the children at the time of the fire and narrowly escaped with her life. The $600 in the trunk represented all of the couple's savings.

The St. Peter papers announce the forthcoming marriage of Miss Celia Mulvehill and M. J. Tully, the ceremony to take place at Milwaukee on Wednesday, Oct. 30. Miss Mulvehill is a sister of the late Thomas Mulvehill of this city, and Mr. Tully, the groom, is at present a hardware merchant in St. Peter. For years he enjoyed wide popularity as the field agent of the Inter-State Accident Insurance company, and many there are in New Ulm who will be wishing him much joy in his matrimonial venture.

The directors of the Cobden mill held a meeting recently and decided to call a meeting of all the stockholders on Oct. 24th for the purpose of turning over the property to Theo. Lamp of Lake Benton. Mr. Lamp, it is understood, will put the mill in working order and assume all the indebtedness of the old firm.

The Los Angeles Herald of recent date contains the following relative to the Grass Valley mine in California in which so many of our New Ulm people are interested: "Work of installing an immense Cornish plunger pump in the Kenosha mine is well under way at the 300-foot level where a big station has been cut. Once the pump is ready the mine will be unwatered rapidly. It is over 400 feet deep but is already a big proposition. In fact it has just leaked out that the last round of shots fired last year, under two feet of water, disclosed a ledge over two feet wide, from which samples grabbed up in a hurry before the men were driven out by water have assayed the amazing sum of $200,000 a ton. The management has declined to sell stock since then and the entire matter has been kept very close-mouthed, but there is no denial made that an immensely rich ore chute lies at the bottom of the works."
