ROBBINS, THE QUARTER MILER

Olympic Runner Describes the Much Discussed 400 Meter Race.

William C. Robbins, the Cambridge Y. M. C. A. quarter miler, the first of the American trio to arrive home that figured in that memorable 400 meter race at the Olympic games at London, in speaking of the event said: "Mike Murphy, the trainer, said for me to run my own race and said the same to Carpenter and Taylor before we were called to the line and added, 'May one of you, and the best man, win.'"

"I darted into the pole in the first fifty yards and carried my flight of speed all the way. Rounding the turn I was leading. When halfway round the bend I noticed a man come from the outside of the track and yell to the others behind me that it was no race. I kept going, however, and entered the stretch in the lead, with both Carpenter and Halswelle following close to me.

"Carpenter passed me on the outside and of course carried the Britisher out with him. We three raced for a good distance on even terms until Carpenter finally passed me. Halswelle also headed me for a short way, but when I saw he was tiring I set out to get second or better, and in the last fifty yards I passed him and finished second to Carpenter.

"The latter never ran a fairer race, and it was a great surprise to me when I heard Carpenter had been disqualified. I never had a better race in my life, and it was simply a race all the way. At least that is what I made it. Going to the dressing rooms after the race, Taylor told me that he was simply run off his feet and could not have given either Carpenter, Halswelle or myself a battle. He said that Halswelle also acted the same, as the Britisher's running in the last part of the race was an evidence that he had been run into the earth.

"Halswelle himself is a good fellow, and neither I nor any of us has anything to say against him. It was believed by many that he had gone stale. It was reported that Carpenter did better than 48 seconds for the distance, and, judging from what I did in my semifinal heat, which was recorded in 40 seconds, it must have been so, for I ran faster, and he beat me good."

BET ON WOODCHOPPER.

C. H. Treat and Others Wager $10,000 With Maxwell Everts.

With wagers of nearly $10,000 on deposit, Maxwell Everts, son of the late Senator Everts of Vermont and chief counsel of the Southern Pacific Railway company, will take twenty guests to Amsden, Vt., on Sept. 26 to prove that a Vermont man is the greatest woodchopper in the world and that he can chop, split and pile five cords of wood in a day.

The wagers were made at a dinner in the New Willard hotel, in Washington, a few days ago. Mr. Everts, who is interested in several big timber propositions in Vermont, was boasting of a man—Ed Mootte by name—who worked for him and who could chop, split and pile thirty cords of wood in a week.

"Nonsense," was the response he met with. He stood firm, and pretty soon offers to bet were made. Charles H. Treat, treasurer of the United States, bet $5,000 that Mootte couldn't chop and split five cords in a day. Several prominent senators also made bets, and Mr. Treat agreed to keep the money until the wager was decided. Mr. Everts got in communication with L. C. White of the Amsden Lime company, which Mr. Everts controls, and arrangements were made to take the party to Amsden to witness the feat. Sept. 26 was agreed on, and the village hotel in its entirety was reserved to care for the twenty guests Mr. Everts said he could bring in addition to the men who made the wagers.

VACATION BY PROXY.

One Man Who Couldn't Get Away Provides Outing For Six.

A novel way of taking a vacation has been invented by a New York man, as suggested by the following letter to a charitable organization: Mr. R. S. Minturn, Treasurer, Association For Improving the Condition of the Poor, 105 East Twenty-second Street, New York City: Dear Sir—As it is uncertain whether I can get any outing this summer, I will take one by "proxy," letting you act as my agent. I can at least imagine I am taking in the cool sea breezes while some one needing it more is getting the worth of the $5 enclosed for your fresh air work. Very truly yours, F. H. S.

For this proxy vacation the officers of the Association For Improving the Condition of the Poor sent the six guests for a week at Sea Breeze home, on Coney Island.

Deafness Cannot be Cured

By local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed, deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by Catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces.

We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of Deafness (caused by catarrh) that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure. Send for circulars, free. F. J. CHENEY & Co., Toledo, O. Sold by Druggists, etc. Take Hall's Family Pills for constipation.

TO CHASE Nowadays is decidedly strenuous and the man who hopes to win out must be supplied with food that is absolutely pure and fresh in every respect.—If your wife invests her money here in Teas, Coffees, Canned Goods, Vegetables, Etc., Etc., she is bound to receive the greatest amount for her money and the purest and freshest Groceries obtainable.

If you were to drop around and look over our stock you will see how we can please you.

Don't Suffer With Corns

If you are suffering with Corns—it makes no difference what kind of a corn it is, whether it is a soft corn or a hard corn, whether it is on top of the toes or between the toes or on the soles of the feet—you can be relieved of this suffering quickly and without any inconvenience to yourself and without any pain. All that is necessary for you to do is to use

Pfefferle's Reliable Corn Cure

It is, without exception, the most reliable and easiest remedy to use, and brings quicker results than any corn remedy manufactured. Pfefferle's Reliable Corn Cure is really a wonderful preparation for removing corns and bunions, also for removing warts, being easy to use and carrying no pain with it. It is fast becoming the most popular corn remedy on the American market. We advise our customers, we advise everyone suffering with corns to give Pfefferle's Reliable Corn Cure a thorough and most careful trial.
