The team of Andrew Groebner of Cottonwood while being driven home from town by their owner early Saturday evening broke into a runaway along Minnesota street and dumped their driver into a heap of snow near the roadside. Then the horses continued on their way home and on arriving there without a driver naturally gave rise to alarm. Parties in New Ulm were reached by telephone and a search for Mr. Groebner was instituted which lasted until way in the night. Finally the excitement was allayed by Mr. Groebner himself. Between two and three o'clock he walked into town and explained that after being dumped on the roadside he picked himself up in a dazed condition and started, as he supposed, to walk home. Instead of that he went in the opposite direction and did not discover his mistake until he had almost reached Klossner.

DRUG AND ROB MANKATO MAN

Son of Blue Earth County Legislator Falls Victim to Minneapolis Thugs.

Powerful Opiates Administered to Him While Visiting Their Lodging House.

John A. Jorgensen, a traveling representative for the Parke-Davis Drug Co. who has frequently visited New Ulm and who also happens to be a son of Representative Hans Jorgenson of Mankato, reported to the Minneapolis police Saturday morning that he had been drugged and robbed by three men in a lodging house on Hennepin avenue the night before. He says he was robbed of $45, a diamond ring, a watch and stick-pin. The jewelry is valued at $200.

Detectives Mortinson and Wirtensohn arrested Frank Pasko and Julius Dugan, both young men, in whose possession, the police say, some of Jorgenson's belongings were found. The third man escaped.

Jorgenson says that he met the three men at the Majestic hotel Friday afternoon. They seemed to be amiable sort of fellows, well dressed and courteous, and they invited him to their room on Hennepin avenue. Here a couple of bottles of beer were opened and the police believe a strong opiate was administered to Jorgenson.

That was the last Jorgenson knew of his surroundings and he did not awaken until 11 o'clock Saturday morning.

He then immediately reported to the police. Pasko and Dugan were arrested in another room in the lodging house, having escaped, they admitted, out of the room in which the victim lay by way of a rear window, returning to the hotel at 3 o'clock and securing another room. The police are looking for the third man, whom they believe was the ringleader in the affair.

Jorgenson was able to give a minute description of all the men.

Fred Henry Meierding, a resident of this vicinity for nearly forty years, died at his home in this city, one which he had but recently completed, shortly after three o'clock Monday afternoon. Death was due to a complication of troubles, to which old age contributed considerably. The deceased was born in Hanover, Germany, on the 12th of February, 1842. He married Mary Sandau in Germany in 1867 and in March, 1869, emigrated to America, his wife following him in July of the same year. The first two years of his residence in this country were spent in New York after which he moved westward and located near Redstone, a few miles below New Ulm. Since then his home has alternated between Redstone, New Ulm and Morgan. A year ago he sold his Redstone farm and built a fine home in New Ulm, intending to spend his declining years in peace and contentment. But sickness soon overtook him and his health for several months prior to his death was far from the best. Of the fifteen children that he raised, ten survive him. These are Herman, Louis and Henry who reside near Morgan, William who is a physician in New York, Irving and Esther who are at home, Mrs. Mary Lawrence of Sigel, Mrs. Georgina of Bingham Lake, Mrs. Rebecca Kollmeyer of St. Louis and Mrs. Martha Cordes of New Ulm. The funeral will be held from the German Methodist church tomorrow afternoon at two o'clock.
