Rest in Peace.

All that was left over of the cigarettes and cigarette paper was duly buried and committed to mother earth beneath the green sod last Monday morning by Eugene Pfefferle. The ingenious death announcement of what some believe to be so injurious to men and boys can be seen in the show window of Pfefferle's drug store. The inscription reads: Here lies A. Coffin Nail, Died Aug. 1, 1909—Rest in Peace. This is the best announcement we have read in a long while. Incident to the digging of the trench for the purpose of laying the water main on Center Str. immediately below Hermans Heights, there was discovered a welling spring of the purest water. So bounteous was the flow that for the time being it threatened to fill the trench and greatly hamper the progress of the laying of the main. The city committee on streets, of which Alderman Buenger is the chairman, at once conceived the bright and practical idea to utilize a part of the flow for a public drinking fountain. Accordingly necessary piping was quickly ordered laid to direct the water's course to a point on the corner where Summit Ave. intersects Center street, and with a fall of about 10 ft. Here a perpendicular pipe of one inch size and extending about 4 feet above the ground is securely attached and a perpetual fountain is the result. It is the intention of the council to provide the place with a watering trough for the convenience of the public. Come all ye who are thirsty, weary and heavy laden and—have a drink.

Death of Mrs. Schaefer.

Mrs. Wilhelmina Schaefer, aged 73 years died on Sunday Aug. 1, from dropsy.

The deceased was born June 1, 1836 in Gross Radow Hinterpommern, Germany. In 1857 she came to America and arrived in Fort Ridgely June 5 the same year. The following year, on the 5th of February she was married to Christian Schaefer. Having moved to New Ulm in the early sixties she experienced all the horrors of the Indian outbreak and when the lives of all the settlers were greatly endangered she was one of the last to leave New Ulm for St. Paul in order to find a place of safety. Here she remained 2 years and then removed to New Ulm where she has lived ever since. Through the union with Christian Schaefer, her husband, who died Jan. 13, 1903 she became the mother of 5 children. Three of these, Emilie, Anna and Helen; four grandchildren and two brothers survive her. The funeral will be held Thursday afternoon from the Lutheran church.

Mrs. Schaefer was well and favorably known on account of her excellent qualities. She was a good woman and true mother and faithful wife and a kind and ever willing friend and neighbor. She had the great satisfaction during her long, lingering illness to receive a tender care and nursing from her children; a disposition of mind on their part that was exercised and prompted by a finely developed sense of filial duty and responsibility, ever ready to gladly administer and render support and assistance.

Thursday afternoon occurred the death of Peter Glasser, a pioneer resident of Ridgely township. Mr. Glasser fell down a flight of stairs and broke his neck causing his instant death.

He is survived by his aged wife, a stepdaughter, a nephew, Frank Glasser, and some relatives in Germany. The funeral was held last Saturday and the remains were buried in St. George's cemetery.

Died—Monday night, the infant baby of Mr. and Mrs. John Stippel, St. George. The funeral will be held Wednesday from the Catholic church at St. George.

The Review regrets to state that Dr. E. W. Mihleis has decided to remove from New Ulm and locate permanently at Ellsworth, Wis., his former home. By the recent death of his father it became necessary for some one of the children to be at Ellsworth and look after the estate and the doctor has resolved to assume this responsibility in connection with his dental practice at that place. The exact time of his removing to Wisconsin has not been decided upon. Mr. Mihleis has made arrangement with a competent dentist to continue the large practice which he has gained during his stay in New Ulm. Notice of this change will be made in due time.

While out riding in his auto Sunday evening Gust Albrecht had a very narrow escape from an involuntary bath in the Minnesota river. The accident occurred at the foot of 3rd North street. In the effort to make a turn in the "Y" manner and backing towards the river he lost control of his machine. It was evident that the auto would plunge over the bank into the river, but fortunately one of the hind wheels struck a boat which was on shore and this incident caused the car to turn over partly burying Mr. Albrecht. A Petry and a boy who were also in the auto were thrown out and landed on one of the boats. The boy was unhurt, but Mr. Petry carried off a sprained ankle and elbow. Mr. Albrecht who was pinned under the machine was released by Petry and Saffert. He suffered no injuries. The machine was put on its wheels and soon after honked-tonked towards Mr. Albrecht's home.
