PORTLAND TO NEW YORK

Oregonian Sees $6 a Ten Freight Rate and Tell of $1.

Twelve days from Portland, Ore., to New York by water upon the completion of the Panama canal is the schedale predicted by Captain A. W. Nelson of the steamer Beaver, plying between Portland and San Francisco. Moreover, he says, freight will be carried for $6 a ton instead of $28 now charged by the railroads, and he believes the canal will be in operation within two TOATS.

Captain Nelson was formerly in command of the steamer City of Pars, and he has been making trips to the canal region for the last ten years. He is considered as familiar with the canal work as any one outside of the government employ.

"The Panama canal will bring the greatest development of Pacific coast resources that I know of," said Captain Nelson. "Two years from now fumber will be shipped from Portland to New York for $5 a thousand. To ship lumber by rail to New York is an impossibility today. The charges are three and four times what the lumber is worth.

"I was told upon unimpeachable authority that in two years' time I can take the Beaver through the canal I can almost take her now. With the Gatun gates finished and the balance of the dirt and rock out of the Culebra cut the Beaver would go through with ease. Business men should get ready for the big growth that will follow on this coast.

"It is the opinion on the canal zone that charges for use of the canal will be $1 a ton, a very reasonable price, as Suez, I am told, charges $5 a ton. President Taft has recommended a charge of $1 in his message. The Panama canal, in my opinion, will make Portland a city of 500,000 quicker than all the railroads that can be built in twenty years. Mark my words, this coast is going to boom."

VACANT LOTS HEALTHFUL

European Statistics Prove Their Hygienio Value to Cities.

That vacant lots as well as parks must add to the healthfulness of a city is indicated by statistics on European capitals offered by Consul General Gaffney of Dresden, Germany. He Savs:

"The unbuilt spaces among the forests of houses in large cities are the lungs that give fresh air to the city. The importance of such unoccupied spaces is proved by statistics recently published by George Risler in a French review, in which the percentage of deaths from tuberculosis is compared with the percentage of unbuilt spaces in London, Paris and Berlin.

OUTCOME CALLED PERFECTION

California's Wizard of Herticulture Books Highest Possible Mark In Physical and Mental Blending to Form Ideal and Typical Race of Americane

Luther Burbank, California's "wisard of horticulture," is not inclined to follow the suggestion of John Jacob Astor that he take up the study of the development of larger animals and larger men. Bulk is a minor consideration with Mr. Burbank, whereas some think it the keystone of the Astor system.

The horticulturist believes mental and physical[®] perfection is the chief attraction in any scheme of animal development. He thinks that the young eastern business man and the young California woman present the highest types to be used in the evolution.

Finds Types In America.

Discussing his views, Mr. Burbank said:

"Beauty and utility are the principal considerations in any plan of animal development, whether it apply to the dumb animals or to man. My ideal of the perfect man is not far behind some of the examples of men and women whom I have seen in my travels in my own country.

"As to the male sex, I would say that the typical young eastern business man nearly comes up to all that I think a perfect man should be. And as to the female sex, I think that the California woman most nearly approaches human perfection.

"To my mind the ideal man should possess these characteristics: Splendid physique, good, healthy body, medium proportions, well formed, graceful lines, pink complexion, good teeth, supple muscles, good digestion, good heart action, clear eyes, graceful walk killing frost in autumn is from Octoand motion, sweet breath, features not too prominent, but prominent enough to give expression.

Cruel Treatment Accorded Dumb Animal.

An incident occurred here recently which excited the indignation of some of our prominent local citizens. The treatment accorded a horse belonging to A. L. Haberberg, a rural mailcarrier on Route 2, being the source of indignation. The horse became afflicted with lock-jaw and was turned over to Wm. Schroeder for proper treatment. In case the animal became worse Mr. Schroeder was to kill and bury it. Late Saturday afternoon the horse was seen tied to a post and suffering intensly from heat and thirst. Sunday morning the horse was found to be dead from the cruel neglect. Monday afternoon Mr. Haberberg was arrested on the charge of cruelty to animals and fined $10 and costs by Justice Henningsen.

Doesn't this seem a misapplication of Justice? Why should Mr. Haberberg N i of L 11, C 10, Van Dusen Add. stand consequences after he had provided for the care of his animal as

ASKS COURSE FOR MOTHERS.

Woman Physician Says Girl Students Should Learn For Future.

"Agricultural colleges teach the care of pigs and calves. Why shouldn't schools of domestic science and home economics teach the care of babies? Aren't babies as important as pigs and calves?" asks Dr. Edna D. Day of the University of Kansas. She wants a school for mothers established at the university. She was a delegate to the convention of the American Home Economics association at St. Louis recently.

Dr. Day thinks young women should be taught before marriage what to do when baby is teething, how to cure colic, how to avert forced marches at night, what to reply when baby first says "dada" and how to come through the second summer without nervous prostration. She says few girls would care to take up such a study with the candid admission of their purpose, but: suggests they could pretend that they were studying to become nurses.

Being Used Successfully at Johns Hopkins Hospital.

Lukewarm water is now being used as an anaesthetic in most of the operations for appendicitis at Johns Hopkins hospital, Baltimore.

In an operation for appendicitis, said one of the surgeons, all that is necessary is to inject lukewarm water in sufficient quantities under the skin in the vicinity of the part operated on. "We have obtained great results through the use of water and in most cases would rather use it than a drug." While the operation is in progress the patient is said to feel no pain and to be fully conscious.
